The Patience 1751

250th Commemorative Trarbach Family Medallion

In Silver and Bronze

Passengers whose names are higlighted are linked to a researcher on our Patience Family Links page. Click on the name to view the links.

While there was no complete listing of passengers who were on board the Patience, we do have a record of those males of sixteen years of age and older who took the oath of allegiance upon disembarking. Stassburger and Hinke in Pennsylvania German Pioneers, Vol. I & II have transcribed that record as follows:

[List 164 C] At the Court House at Philadelphia, Monday, the 9th September 1751.

Present: The Worshipful, the Mayor

The Foreigners whose Names are underwritten, imported in the Ship Patience, Captain Hugh Steel, from Rotterdam and last from Cowes in England, did this day take and subscribe the usual Qualifications No. 109. Whole Freights 255.8 Roman Catholiks.

* This Bernese colony has been discussed at length by Mr. G. Kurtz, the State archivist of Bern, in Lists of Swiss Emigrants in the Eighteenth Century to the American Colonies, edited by Prof. A. B. Faust, Vol. II, Washington, 1925, pp. 20–24.

† There is a duplicate Captain's list, with the names anglicized, which we omit as of no special importance. The list which we present is written in fine German script.

Dear Sister + family:-

Well, I am home again - what there is left of me. I guess they have got me patched up again for awhile. I hope I don't have to go back to the hospital this winter. Costs too much - was there 17 days + my bill was $125. Don't know what the Dr. bill will as there was three different Drs. working on my case - 2 from Suttons Bay + one from T.C. I am a lot better than when I went in but pretty thin + weak. Got down to 84#. but am back up to 93 now. My diet is very restricted + also very expensive + hard to get. Have to have fresh meat twice a day + special bread - powdered milk with the sodium taken out - Costs $3 a pound + a pound lasts a little over a week.

I have a woman here who thinks she is a pretty good nurse but I can't see it. She wants $25 a week + she sure is not worth it. But, what are we going to do - we can't keep house alone the shape we are in + it is either pay it or else. The work she is doing is not work over a dollar a day but of course you can't get any help now for that.

I had part of your flowers down at the hospital - they kept good.
I also had a nice plant that Lucile gave me. I had a lot of company while at the hospital -
Hazel Smith was down every day.
Bill is not a bit well - failing all the time - he will not do any hunting this year - sold his gun.
I hope some of the boys get a deer.
Carl, Ethel & Ken will be up this week end.

Yes, I was glad of the chance to get baptized - Rev. Wirth Tennant did it.
Dr. says I can't do any work this winter, so the time will go slow.
Can't do much reading, & no sewing.
Have to lie down a couple of times a day.

We are having quite a taste of winter - cold & several inches of snow.
I dread to see it come.

I suppose Lurah is proud of her little girl. Am glad it lived & is doing O.K.

Well, I have done quite a stroke of writing - don't know how much of it you can read it or not.
Write often as I can read your letters when written with a pen.

Love - Ivy.

Dear Sister Maude and Family

I rec'd your welcome a long time hence and am really ashamed of my self for not writing before, but it just seems that I dont get time to do anything any more.

It is just drill all day, then when night comes there is generally something we have got to attend, or if not we are so tired that we are glad to go to bed, For the last 3 weeks we have taken 2 hikes each week by night and 4 hrs for each hike, we cover from 12 to 15 miles on these hikes, besides we always take an indurance hike every Sat morning, we cover from 16 to 20 miles on these hikes.

I have got so toughened from so much drilling and so many hikes that I can hike all day and half of the night before giving out. And marching in ranks is much harder and more tiresome than walking alone. And on these hikes we have to carry a rifle sidearms and blanket ~~roll~~ role. about 20 lbs. This sure is a real Army Camp now, with the Cannons, machine guns and rifle ranges all being used, it sound like a real war. Besides the grinades, balms and trench mortars, and the air is full of all kinds of Air craft, dropping balms down at objects. I'll say we will be seasoned vets, by the time we get to G. And Russias conduct of late and the Italians being driven back so much lately are going to have a lot to do, with getting us over there sooner too.

Your youngsters will soon be grown ups. It don't take but a few years after they start to school.

I have rec'd several nice Thanksgiving boxes of eats so far from my girls and many more on the way, Ma, Hazel and Glen sent me a box, it is on the way yet it left G.C. wed and here it is mon evening and it is not here yet. I rec'd a box from a girl in Owosso that I never seen before that had 89¢ postage on it, believe me there was every things in this box.

I would like to go home for Xmas, but I guess the chance is slim.

I must close for we have to drill all day tomorrow and hike tomorrow night. so must get some sleep. Write soon to Your Bro.

If the boys in the training camps are anxious to get home, how about the boys that have been over here for over a year? Dear Sister Maud and family

I rec'd your letter of Feb. 6 last night and was indeed glad to hear from you. I have I think rec'd one letter from you before this one, and I don't remember if I answered it or not, but I will do as you asked for once and ans this one at once.

Yes we have become quite accustomed to the Dutch people now, and some girls of course.

The Dutch people are far more preferable than the French.

There are some very queer things happen over here, the people are so good to us here it is hard to think of them as enemies, but, we are compelled to consider them as such, also to treat them so, to a certain extent.

They even took the beds away from the people for the soldiers to sleep on, I do not think this right, as the people have to work hard and long hours, and need their rest.

Speaking of winter, people in this country do not know what cold weather is, we have had a few cold days, and very little snow just flurries.

You asked what the A.P.O. meant, that is the number of the Div Post office and is necessary on the letters.

The latest dope now is that our Div is the first Div to go home in May. This army life is getting old to me now, but. I sure have had

Dear Sister Maude & Family.

I rec'd your welcome letter today and was glad to hear from you. your letter was forwarded to me from Grayling.

~~We~~ The 32nd Regiment left Grayling Sun night. (Sept 17.) for the regular army Camp at waco Texas. So here is where I hang my hat for god only knows how long, probably until we leave for France. if we go at all.

We were on the road for 5 days & 5 nights, I sure got enough ride for once.

We have a real camp here.

It is a government Camp and there are about 300,000 soldiers here at present and more coming all the time.

Every thing is certainly fine, it could not be made any more convenient or home like than it is.

We passed through Mich one corner of Ind; through Ills, Kans, Mo, Okla and into Texas 200 miles,

We came through some very large and pretty towns but the prettiest and most up-todate town that I ever saw is Dallas Texas it is just like Paradise. It is about 75 miles from here.

We came by way of Chgo, to St Louis.

We also crossed the Miss. and Mo.-rivers.

All together it was a very nice trip, And you should have seen the welcomes and the Eats that was given to us along the route.

Pioneer Life of William & Emma Brugh

Emma L. McBride was born in DeKalb Co. Indiana, year 1854 and William Brugh came to Indiana from Ohio with his parents who settled in DeKalb Co.

William and Emma were married in a town called Benton, now known as Hudson, Indiana.

They were married March 30th, 1873. Emma was 17 years old. William was 28 years old.

William was afflicted with asthma and ague and his health condition grew quite serious and his Dr. advised him to go to Northern Michigan where the climate would be better for him.

By this time they had three children, Nellie, Glen and Maude, who was a baby six weeks old. The year was 1882, month November. This was a very interesting trip.

They chartered a freight car and went by railroad.

In the freight car they had all their possesions. Farm tools, livestock and food enough to last all through the winter.

The food was a barrel of pork, barrel of saurkraut, barrel of flour and sugar (each), large container of lard and all kinds of staple groceries. Also bags of potatoes, canned goods and dried fruit.

The two cows furnished milk and butter and eggs came from the chickens. Emma later on baked all the bread, pies and cakes.

Arriving at Cedar Run (10 miles east of Traverse City) they found a log cabin and barn which they rented for the winter.

Two of William's brothers came along on the trip. This was Allen and Alfred Brugh. There was plenty of wood for fuel in the heating and cook stoves so the men were kept busy cutting wood and caring for the livestock.

Allen came back to Indiana in the spring. Alfred worked a few months at the Hannah & Lay Store and returned to Indiana also.

I forgot to mention that Emma and the three children rode in the passenger car during the trip north so they were quite comfortable.

When spring came the Brughs started out to find a house and some land for a home.

They purchased 60 acres of land west of Cedar Run (5 miles) at a little village called Oviatt. (Oviatt is a "ghost" town November 1973)

Here was a small house and barn but the land was nearly all covered with timber of all kinds.

William bought a team of oxen to help clear the land so it could be farmed.

Emma had a small inheritance which they used to pay for their new home. The amount was $500.00.

While they lived at their Oviatt home four more children were born making a family of seven. The names were as follows. Nellie Brugh High - Maude Brugh Putt - Glen Brugh - Ivy Brugh (Ivy) Pettengill - Ray Brugh - Hazel Brugh Smith - Daisy Brugh Getts.

Pioneer Life at Oviatt, Michigan

Oviatt was a small village at "Four Corners". There were just a few pioneer families. A church, Grocery store, school, Post Office, blacksmith ship and grist mill.

The first Postmaster there was a man named Oviatt. The railroad came to Cedar Run from Traverse City. The mail came that far by R.R. and carried to Oviatt by horse back (later on a horse and buggy or sleigh) Also if one wanted to catch the train to Traverse City they could ride with the mail carrier.

(I have made that same trip many times.)

The house at the Brugh home was an "upright" with two rooms downstairs and two rooms upstairs and there was a "lean-to" at the back which was used as a kitchen at one end and dining space at the other end.

For heating there was a cook stove in the kitchen and a heating stove in the living room. Fuel to burn was no problem. There was plenty of wood to use.

There was no well for water but Emma & William soon had one. They drove down a well with their own hands and the other necessary tools. This water was used for cooking and drinking.

Rain and snow water ran off the house roof into home made eave spouts then down into barrels which was later on replaced by a cistern. This water was used for laundry and cleaning purposes. Also for bathing.

There was all kinds of wild game and fish to be had for meat. Also wild berries to gather in the summer and put up in cans for winter use.

William worked hard to get the land cleared of timber so they could raise crops on the land and have feed for their livestock.

A large garden furnished plenty of vegetables and William raised pigs for meat. Emma raised the chickens for meat and eggs.

A shopping trip was made to Traverse City about four times a year with horses and wagon in summer and horses and sleigh in winter.

The trip took all of a long day (fifteen miles each way) leaving early in the morning and getting home late at night, it was a very exciting trip.

The wagon or sleigh had a bed of straw in the back with blankets spread over the straw. This was where the children rode and they loved it.

Emma always had a dinner backet packed and they ate in the wagon.
basket

There was no parking problem. You just drove up behind a stor and tied the horses. I think probably there was something to feed the horses also.

Restaurant meals were too expensive and unheard of for pioneers.

The straw bed was nice for the children to sleep on during the long trip home.

Emma bought muslin and "outing flannel" by the bolt and sewed it into underclothing, bedding and all kinds of items needed in the house.

Prints and better materials were used for dresses and shirts and coats. Stockings and mittens were all hand knit from yarn.

Emma was a very good seamstress, cook and also knew a lot of her family if they were sick.

about taking care of

The nearest doctor was seven miles away so a supply of medications were kept on hand at all times.

The Dr. wasn't called unless someone was very ill. There was no telephone service and some one would ride or drive a horse to go get the Dr. to come.

Emma also went to the neighbors home to help care for the sick

Nearly all the worn out clothing was saved and this was "recycled" into home make carpet.

The old cloth was cut into strips and sewed together either by hand or on Emma's old Domestic sewing machine. Then the long strips were rolled into neat tight balls. The childred helped do some of this work.

Emma knew just about how many balls of "carpet rags" it would take to make the carpet she needed for her living room.

A neighbor (Eunice Altman) living near Cedar Run had a loom to weave carpet on and she furnished the warp and charged by the yard for weaving the carpet.

The carpet strips were 27" wide and had to be sewed together to fit the size of the room. (Any rags left over were made into throw rugs with fringe at the ends.)

The wood floor was scrubbed clean and a layer of straw spread down. Then the carpet was layed over the straw and tacked down all around the edge.

When the carpet got too dirty it was taken up, ripped apart and washed, by hand, then sewed back together and put down again with fresh, clean straw underneath.

Straw was also used in "straw ticks" on the beds and this was a yearly project. The "tick" was emptied, washed and clean straw put in. Kimball

There was a Kinball organ in the living room and all of the five Brugh girls had music lessons.

There was a lot of hard work but also some happy times to remember.

William was busy all the time too. He worked in the woods in the cold winters. Quite a lot of the times he would be alone in the woods and this was when he broke his leg.

He was trimming limbs off the fallen trees with an ax. Someho a limb swung around and knocked him down. He was pinned under the limb and his leg was braken at the ankle.

He was lucky enough to reach the ax and chopped the limb in two so he could free himself.

Then he crawled on his hands and knees and into the sleigh to drive home. (about four miles)

When he picked up the lines to drive, one of the lines was wrapped around the wagon tongue so he had to crawl out of the sleigh, get the line straightened out, then back in the sleigh and drove to the home of the nearest neighbor who took him to Maple City to the Dr. (Fraleick)

The Dr. set the braken bone and the neighbor brought him home.

William had to lay for weeks waiting for the bone to "knit".

Part of the time a weight was tied on his foot so the bone would be straight. The "weight" was one of Emma's "flat irons".

He was very lucky to have a team of gentle horses when all thi happened.

One of the main crops raised on the land after it was cleared was potatoes.

William dug the potatoes with a potato hook and the children picked them up. For this they were paid two cents a bushel.

Four pails made a bushel. Each one had a tally hole and for each pail full, they put in one potato at the end of the day they counted the tallies to see how many bushels they had picked.

The young people at Oviatt found ways to entertain themselves.

In nice weather they got together under the trees and sang songs such as "Annie Roonie" and others.

In winter there was sledding and skating.

Nearly everyone went to church and there were programs, picnics, box socials and at Christmas time a large tree in the church decorated with popcorn (on string) and other home made decorations.

The Brugh children hung their stockings up on Christmas eve and there was always gifts in them on Christmas Day.

William had a "sugar camp" in the woods.

The maple trees were tapped and sap was gathered in wooden pails, later on replaced with tin pails. The sap was boiled down in a large container and the fire had to be watched and kept burnin all night and day. The fireplace was made of brick.

When the syrup was just the right thickness it was stored in the out door underground cellar for use when needed. This was really delicious on pancakes, biscuits and all kinds of good things.

Emma and William talked and dreamed a lot about the people and relatives back in Indiana. But they never cared to go back except for short visits. The Michigan climate was better for William's health and now it was their home. Three of the Brugh daughters Nellie, Maude and Daisy "drifted" back to Indiana and married and lived there.

The Brughs Leave Oviatt

In 1906 William decided he would like to take his family closer into Traverse City where life would be easier and more interesting.

By this time the four oldest children had married and gone from home so there were just the three youngest ones living at home and still in grade school.

They found and rented a small farm two miles west of Traverse City where they lived for two years.

But William wasn't quite satisfied there and one lucky day he got a chance to move on a beautiful place out on the Peninsula. It was two miles out on the West Bay road. There was a big ramblin house and barn and they all loved it there. A part of that farm is now known as Franklin Woods.

Here they raised vegetables and fruit to sell and also sold dairy produce to the little resort called Edgewood.

They lived here for eight years and had sold their Oviatt home

The farm work was getting more difficult for both William and Emma so they bought a home out on East Front St. and here they live the remainder of their lives.

They both lived to be 81 years old and are buried at Oakwood Cemetary and there are two very tall evergreen trees, one on each side of the lot.

William Brugh and Emma McBride

William and Emma Brugh, after their marriage on March 30, 1873, lived on the farm of Catherine Brugh at Hudson, Indiana, for a period of 9 years, where William had spent the previous 17 years farming for his mother. To them there were born th children; Nellie, Jan. 2, 1875; Glen, Nov. 24, 1879; and Maude, Sept. 22, 1882. Emma ver the years told her children many things about these years and how hard they all worked to care for the people who lived in that home. She said Catherine Brugh was good Christian woman who daily read her German Bible. She was a loving mother, but a strict disciplinarian. William developed a combination of ague and asthma, largely caused from the swamp lands of Indiana. His doctor recommended to him that he move North into the hardwood lands and more sandy soils. Migration was popular in those days and the spirit of adventure high. William was 37 years old and Emma 26 when th made the decision to come north, Nellie was 7, Glen 2 and Maude 10 weeks old.

In the Fall of 1882, they with another family named Zonker (ask Davy if this name correct chartered a railroad car, packed their furniture, food, household things in one end; in the other end of the car they stored farm tools, live stock, etc, and the men rode in the car to feed and take care of the live stock. The women and children came by passenger train. Alfred Brugh, a brother came with them but returned to Indiana after a winter in northern Michigan. He worked for Hannah, Lay and Company in their office that wint transferring their book keeping records into a new set up. Some of those records ar in the museum at Traverse City this day. They all landed at Traverse City, and hauled themselves and equipment west to Cedar Run, where they secured a log house to live in until spring would come so they could locate a house to buy with farm to sustain the family. In March of 1883 they found 60 acres of land in Almira township, Benzie County, just 5 miles west of Cedar Run, in a small village called Oviat Only 4 acres of this land was cleared but it had a house and barn and spelled the prospect of a home. There was a post office, general store, a church, blacksmith shop, a school 1 mile north and another 1 mile south and a Gleaners Farmers organiza tion had a building, the top story of which was used for social gatherings. There were neighbors close by who all helped each other in time of need. The women "born" he babies for each other, there being no doctor near, and the men exchanged "days works" with each other when needed. The land was heavily wooded and soon there was the cutting of trees and hauling them to Traverse City, then transported to far away markets. There was maple, beech, oak, elm, ash, basswood, pine, hemlock, spru cedar, walnut, hickory nut and many other woods used in building and manufacturing i the fast developing cities, for ships, railroads, etc. This great demand speeded up the violation of the mighty forests. Also the early settlers must have cleared land on which to grow food and grain and for pasture land. William bought a team of oxen, Tom and Jerry to help with clearing the land. Emma had an inheritance of $500.00 from the estate of her father David A. McBride which was used to purchase this land for their future home.

Finally the land was planted to wheat, oats, hay, potatoes, beans, orchards, gardens and pasture for cattle, horses and pigs. Every farmers wife had her garden poultry and dairy products, much of it to sell to buy back the things they needed. Meanwhile there were several years that food was hard to come by. It took time to r: it. They scouted the country side for fish, deer, small animals, and wild berries Grandmother McBride Harms and Grandmother Brugh sent them dried fruits and nuts and vegetables from Indiana, most of it coming in cloth bags, tightly tied and tagged. This was a real treat each time a bag arrived. William saved four acres of woodla to be used for fuel for the long, cold winters and for cooking in the kitchen stove In the Fall great fires were built under iron kettles in which were made apple-butter, corn was cooked for drying and water heated for the butchering of winter me INSERT from Pg 3 ← Also water heated for the laundering of heavy clothing, bedding etc. There were "sugar maples" in the wood lot that were tapped in the Spring for maple syrup and sugar. They tell a story about the 1894 opening of the sugar bush and the several things that happened on that day, March 4th. First, William discarded the old wooden buckets he had used for collecting sap, and went to nearby Lake Ann to buy new tin buckets. While there he bought a fine clock which they were still using at time of their deaths. At the barn there was a new baby colt named Lucy which was given to Glen for his own horse. At the house there was a new baby girl, named Hazel. Also that day Glen planted two willow sprouts at the end of the out door cellar and which grew into very tall trees in later years. At the sugar camp they built a tent of cedar boughs which was used to rest and keep warm during the long weary hours of evaporating sap. The fire was kept going 24 hours a day under the long metal pans that rested on a brick "Arch". Sap was brought from the trees on horse drawn sled in barrels and the barrels set on a rise of brick to facilitate dripping the sap into the pans for boiling. Emma cooked food and brought out to the watchers. We boiled eggs in a small pan of sap. At a certain stage as the sap thi ened into syrup it was taken to the house for "finishing off" into sugar which was made into little cakes, taken to Traverse City or Lake Ann, and could be sold for cash or traded for white sugar, pound for pound. Also we boiled syrup to the "taffy" stage which was swirled around on pans of snow and scooped off with forks to eat with the utmost enjoyment. At the end of the season, about three weeks, the equipment was cleaned, the tin buckets greased with lard to prevent rusting and stored until next

A great place of adventure was the outdoor, underground cellar. It was built with grout walls and a peaked, boarded ceiling which was covered with 2 to 3 feet c earth and walls and ceiling were whitewashed. It was kept immaculately clean. Rows of shelves were on each side and a path between. There were three rooms, one for pickles in barrells, sauerkraut in barrels, canned fruit, jellies and jams. In another was salt pork in barrels, smoked meat hanging from the ceiling, jars of minc meat, sausage, etc. The milk cellar held crocks of milk with the cream rising, jars of butter, cottage cheese, lard in jars, sausages cooked and packed in jars with la poured over them . In the vegetable bins were apples, potatoes, cabbages, carrott squashes, etc. Our salads in those days consisted of all kinds of pickles. There were always things to take to the Traverse City market to sell for cash or trade.

In the barn there would be baby colts, calves, pigs, chickens. William would come to the house to announce new arrivals and an expedition was immediately organi to view the animal offspring. The barn was always stocked with hay in the mows, an corn and oats in bins. A great place for children to play.

In the house projects were always under way; carpet rags to be sewn and woven into rugs and carpets, clothing to be sewn, mittens, sox and stockings to be knitted quilts to be pieced and put together, straw ticks to be filled annyally, fruits and vegetables to be canned, preserved and dried.

William was a part of the political community from time to time, serving on jury at the county seat several times, acting as township treasurer an elective job. He also was pathmaster - something to do with maintainence of roads. Then people worked out their road tax instead of paying it in money. Emma too served in the community by responding to calls where there was sickness or death or both, and especially to help "born" a new baby.

Meantime, four more children came into this farm home; Ivy P. in 1884, Raymond A. in 1891, Hazel I. in 1894 and Daisy F. in 1897. Daisy was a premature baby - born in January. It was three months before she was dressed. Emma made what is no known as an incubator, out of a rocking chair, pillows, blankets and fruit jars filled with warm water placed around the baby to keep her warm. Emma sat up at night before the fire rubbing life into the little arms and legs. That baby still lives.

By the end of 1890's Nellie, the eldest who had been teaching school and was preparing to be married to a local young man found her hopes dashed when the young man, Frank Post, developed tuberculosis and died. That spring Grandmother McBride Harms came to visit from Indiana. She proposed to take Nellie back to Indiana wit her to build up her spirits. There Nellie met Purd High a year later and married him. Glen, who had grown to young manhood married lovely Ella Brooks and left the home. Maude who went to Indiana to visit Nellie and assist with the birth of a ne baby there, met Frank Putt and came back home for a few years. Their romance flour however by correspondence and a visit to Oviatt by Frank, and time found her too living in Indiana married to Frank. Ivy married a local young man, Harry Petting the only one of the family to have a wedding at home, and her wedding is well reme bered with the relatives from both families attending and all the neighbors who ca to partake of the solemnity and the fun and the good things to eat.

That left only Ray, Hazel and Daisy at home. Because of an injury William received in the woods, a broken leg, he was not able to follow the horses any more so he had to make other plans to earn a living. Emma too, had dreams of giving these last three children more advantages. Times were changing. Their world was growing larger. The time had come to make another move. William found a small farm planted to fruit, 2 miles from Traverse City. In 1906 this was our new home. The old home at Oviatt was sold leaving us only memories of conquering the land and sending four children as adults into the world to make their own homes and families. The small fruit farm did not produce what William felt it should, s he searched for a larger farm which he found 2 miles out of Traverse City on the peninsula. This too was largely fruit, and to it he added a small diary. By now, the three children at home were able to help themselves. There had been some musical training, some high school and some buisness college training. Ray went to the city to work and from there into World War 1 and when he returned he was married. Hazel worked as secretary-typist in Traverse City for several years and then married. Daisy went to Indiana to visit her sisters there, met and married Clarence Getts.

This left William and Emma alone. William did some selling and Emma did some home nursing. Both worked to nearly the end of their time. William died on November 6, 1926 and Emma died December 11, 1935. In looking back we children remembered that our parents talked much about their homes and families in Indiana. They were lonely for their own people, but kept them alive in memory often of their young lives and times. It took real courage to step out of their young lives and into the wilds of northern Michigan, raise a family and provide a good life here for all. They never looked backward except in memory.

Their daughter, Rachel Samantha Shatto, B. 8/10/1834 in Deerfield Township, Portage County, Ohio; married 10/5/1851, to David A. McBride, who was born 7/23/1832 at Ravenna, Portage County, Ohio. David A. McBride and wife Rachel had two daughters, Emma Lavina, B. 1/30/1856 and Letitia, no date birth, and died when a small child. There are enlarged, framed photographs of the family, taken just before David left to serve in the Civil War. I think Daisy has them. David served in the Civil War in Company G. 54th Regiment, Indiana Volunteers. He was enroute with the Northern army to the South, when he died on the Steamer die Vernon of a camp fever on the Tennessee River on December 1, 1863 and was buried ashore in a marked grave. When Spring came, Rachel McBride sent her brother to Tennessee to bring back the remains which were buried in Cedar Lake cemetery, Indiana. Rachel remarried to Frederick Harms , who lived only a few years and died leaving her again alone. In her later years she lived with her daughter, Nellie and died 11/15/1912 at Auburn, Indiana and is buried in Cedar Lake cemetery.

William Brugh, born 1/11/1845 in Seneca County, Ohio. His parents, George and Catherine Clemens Brugh lived on a farm just outside of Hudson, Indiana. George was born 1/31/1814, died 9/20/1856 at age 42, and Catherine Clemens born 1/16/1815, died 6/?/1899, aged 84. She lived for 43 years after the death of George. Their last child was 1 mo. 11 days old when George died. Several of their children died in infancy - two of them died the same week of their fathers death. Catherine and the older children carried on the farm, eventually the older children drifted off into their own enterprises, and William who was 11 when his father died stayed on with his mother on the farm for 26 years, until 1882 when he came to Michigan to live. The Brugh children, as follows:

William and Emma Brugh, after their marriage on March 30, 1873, lived on the farm of Catherine Brugh at Hudson, Indiana, for a period of 9 years, where William had spent the previous 17 years farming for his mother. To them there were born three children; Nellie, Jan. 2, 1875; Glen, Nov. 24, 1879; and Maude, Sept. 22, 1882. Emma over the years told her children many things about these years and how hard they all worked to care for the people who lived in that home. She said Catherine Brugh was a good Christian woman who daily read her German Bible. She was a loving mother, but a strict disciplinarian. William developed a combination of ague and asthma, largely caused from the swamp lands of Indiana. His doctor recommended to him that he move North into the hardwood lands and more sandy soils. Migration was popular in those days and the spirit of adventure high. William was 37 years old and Emma 26 when they made the decision to come north, Nellie was 7, Glen 2 and Maude 10 weeks old.

In the Fall of 1882, they with another family named (ask Emily if this name correct Zonker chartered a railroad car, packed their furniture, food, household things in one end; in the other end of the car they stored farm tools, live stock, etc, and the men rode in the car to feed and take care of the live stock. The women and children came by passenger train. Alfred Brugh, a brother came with them but returned to Indiana after a winter in northern Michigan. He worked for Hannah, Lay and Company in their office that winter, transferring their book keeping records into a new set up. Some of those records are in the museum at Traverse City this day. They all landed at Traverse City, and hauled themselves and equipment west to Cedar Run, where they secured a log house to live in until spring would come so they could locate a house to buy with farm to sustain the family. In March of 1883 they found 60 acres of land in Almira township, Benzie County, just 5 miles west of Cedar Run, in a small village called Oviatt. Only 4 acres of this land was cleared but it had a house and barn and spelled the prospect of a home. There was a post office, general store, a church, blacksmith shop, a school 1 mile north and another 1 mile south and a Gleaners Farmers organization had a building, the top story of which was used for social gatherings. There were neighbors close by who all helped each other in time of need. The women "born" the babies for each other, there being no doctor near, and the men exchanged "days works" with each other when needed. The land was heavily wooded and soon there was the cutting of trees and hauling them to Traverse City, then transported to far away markets. There was maple, beech, oak, elm, ash, basswood, pine, hemlock, spruce, cedar, walnut, hickory nut and many other woods used in building and manufacturing in the fast developing cities, for ships, railroads, etc. This great demand speeded up the violation of the mighty forests. Also the early settlers must have cleared land on which to grow food and grain and for pasture land. William bought a team of oxen, Tom and Jerry to help with clearing the land. Emma had an inheritance of $500.00 from the estate of her father David A. McBride which was used to purchase this land for their future home.

Emily - [illegible] Zonker in your [illegible]

Finally the land was planted to wheat, oats, hay, potatoes, beans, orchards, gardens and pasture for cattle, horses and pigs. Every farmers wife had her garden poultry and dairy products, much of it to sell to buy back the things they needed. Meanwhile there were several years that food was hard to come by. It took time to raise it. They scouted the country side for fish, deer, small animals, and wild berries. Grandmother McBride Harms and Grandmother Brugh sent them dried fruits and nuts and vegetables from Indiana, most of it coming in cloth bags, tightly tied and tagged. This was a real treat each time a bag arrived. William saved four acres of woodland to be used for fuel for the long, cold winters and for cooking in the kitchen stove. In the Fall great fires were built under iron kettles in which were made apple-butter, corn was cooked for drying and water heated for the butchering of winter meats. Also water heated for the laundering of heavy clothing, bedding &c. There were "sugar maples" in the wood lot that were tapped in the Spring for maple syrup and sugar. They tell a story about the 1894 opening of the sugar bush and the several things that happened on that day, March 4th. First, William discarded the old wooden buckets he had used for collecting sap, and went to nearby Lake Ann to buy new tin buckets. While there he bought a fine clock which they were still using at time of their deaths. At the barn there was a new baby colt named Lucy which was given to Glen for his own horse. At the house there was a new baby girl, named Hazel. Also that day Glen planted two ~~willow~~ Poplar sprouts at the end of the outdoor cellar and which grew into very tall trees in later years. At the sugar camp they built a tent of cedar boughs which was used to rest and keep warm during the long weary hours of evaporating sap. The fire was kept going 24 hours a day under the long metal pans that rested on a brick "Arch" . Sap was brought from the trees on a horse drawn sled in barrels and the barrels set on a rise of brick to facilitate dripping the sap into the pans for boiling. Emma cooked food and brought out to the watchers. We boiled eggs in a small pan of sap. At a certain stage as the sap thickened into syrup it was taken to the house for "finishing off" into sugar which was made into little cakes, taken to Traverse City or Lake Ann, and could be sold for cash or traded for white sugar, pound for pound. Also we boiled syrup to the "taffy" stage which was swirled around on pans of snow and scooped off with forks to eat with the utmost enjoyment. At the end of the season, about three weeks, the equipment was cleaned, the tin buckets greased with lard to prevent rusting and stored until next year

A great place of adventure was the outdoor, underground cellar. It was built with grout walls and a peaked, boarded ceiling which was covered with 2 to 3 feet of earth and walls and ceiling were whitewashed. It was kept immaculately clean. Rows of shelves were on each side and a path between. There were three rooms, one for pickles in barrells, sauerkraut in barrels, canned fruit, jellies and jams. In another was salt pork in barrels, smoked meat hanging from the ceiling, jars of mincemeat, sausage, etc. The milk cellar held crocks of milk with the cream rising, jars of butter, cottage cheese, lard in jars, sausages cooked and packed in jars with lard poured over them . In the vegetable bins were apples, potatoes, cabbages, carrotts, squashes, etc. Our salads in those days consisted of all kinds of pickles. There were always things to take to the Traverse City market to sell for cash or trade.

In the barn there would be baby colts, calves, pigs, chickens. William would come to the house to announce new arrivals and an expedition was immediately organized to view the animal offspring. The barn was always stocked with hay in the mows, and corn and oats in bins. A great place for children to play.

In the house projects were always under way; carpet rags to be sewn and woven into rugs and carpets, clothing to be sewn, mittens, sox and stockings to be knitted, quilts to be pieced and put together, straw ticks to be filled annually, fruits and vegetables to be canned, preserved and dried.

William was a part of the political community from time to time, serving on jury at the county seat several times, acting as township treasurer an elective job. He also was pathmaster - something to do with maintainence of roads. Then people worked out their road tax instead of paying it in money. Emma too served in the community by responding to calls where there was sickness or death or both, and especially to help "born" a new baby.

Meantime, four more children came into this farm home; Ivy P. in 1884, Raymond A. in 1891, Hazel I. in 1894 and Daisy F. in 1897. Daisy was a premature baby - born in January. It was three months before she was dressed. Emma made what is now known as an incubator, out of a rocking chair, pillows, blankets and fruit jars filled with warm water placed around the baby to keep her warm. Emma sat up at night before the fire rubbing life into the little arms and legs. That baby still lives.

By the end of 1890's Nellie, the oldest who had been teaching school and was preparing to be married to a local young man found her hopes dashed when the young man, Frank Post, developed tuberculosis and died. That spring Grandmother McBride Harms came to visit from Indiana. She proposed to take Nellie back to Indiana with her to build up her spirits. There Nellie met Purd High a year later and married him. Glen, who had grown to young manhood married lovely Ella Brooks and left the home. Maude who went to Indiana to visit Nellie and assist with the birth of a new baby there, met Frank Putt and came back home for a few years. Their romance flourished however by correspondance and a visit to Oviatt by Frank, and time found her too living in Indiana married to Frank. Ivy married a local young man, Harry Pettingill, the only one of the family to have a wedding at home, and her wedding is well remembered with the relatives from both families attending and all the neighbors who came to partake of the solemnity and the fun and the good things to eat.

That left only Ray, Hazel and Daisy at home. Because of an injury William received in the woods, a broken leg, he was not able to follow the horses any more so he had to make other plans to earn a living. Emma too, had dreams of giving these last three children more advantages. Times were changing. Their world was growing larger. The time had come to make another move. William found a small farm planted to fruit, 2 miles from Traverse City. In 1906 this was our new home. The old home at Oviatt was sold leaving us only memories of conquering the land and sending four children as adults into the world to make their own homes and families. The small fruit farm did not produce what William felt it should, so he searched for a larger farm which he found 2 miles out of Traverse City on the peninsula. This too was largely fruit, and to it he added a small diary. By now, the three children at home were able to help themselves. There had been some musical training, some high school and some buisness college training. Ray went to the city to work and from there into World War 1 and when he returned he was married. Hazel worked as secretary-typist in Traverse City for several years and then married. Daisy went to Indiana to visit her sisters there, met and married Clarence Getts.

This left William and Emma alone. William did some selling and Emma did some home nursing. Both worked to nearly the end of their time. William died on November 6, 1926 and Emma died December 11, 1935. In looking bawk we children remembered that our parents talked much about their homes and families in Indiana. They were lonely for their own people, but kept them alive in memory often of their young lives and times. It took real courage to step out of their young lives and into the wilds of northern Michigan, raise a family and provide a good life here for all. They never looked backward except in memory.

Soft soap was also made in this big iron kettle with wood ashes in a barrel and water drained through to make the lye. Fat was tried out from pork scraps at butchering time in the Fall, and mixed with the lye, boiled in the kettle. They made enough to last a year.

Pioneer Life of William & Emma Brugh

Emma L. McBride was born in DeKalb Co. Indiana year 1854 and William Brugh came to Indiana from Ohio with his parents who settled in DeKalb Co.

William and Emma were married in a town called Benton now known as Hudson Indiana

They were married March 30th 1873. Emma was 17 yrs old William was 28 yrs old.

William was afflicted with asthma and ague and his health condition grew quite serious and his Dr advised him to go to Northern Michigan where the climate would be better for him.

By this time they had three children. Nellie, Glen and Maude, who was a baby six weeks old. The year was 1882. Month Nov.

This was a very interesting trip.

They chartered a freight car and went by Railroad.

In the frieght car they had all their possesions. Farm tools, live stock and food enough to last all through the winter.

The food was a barrel of pork, barrel of saurkraut Barrel of flour and sugar (each) large container of lard and all kinds of staple groceries. also bags of potatoes, canned goods and dried fruit.

The two cows furnished milk and butter and eggs came from the chickens. Emma (Later on) baked all the bread, pies & cakes.

: Arriving at Cedar Run (10 miles east of Traverse City) they found a log cabin and barn which they rented for the winter.

Two of William's brothers came along on the trip. This was Allen and Alfred Brugh. There was plenty of wood for fuel in the heating and cook stoves so the men were kept busy cutting wood and caring for the live stock.

Allen came back to Indiana in the spring. Alfred worked a few months at the Hannah & Lay Store and returned to Indiana also.

I forgot to mention that Emma and the three children rode in the passenger car during the trip north so they were quite comfortable.

When spring came the Brughs started out to find a house and some land for a home.

They purchased 60 acres of land west of Cedar Run (5 mi) at a little village called Oviatt. (Oviatt is a "ghost" town now '73)

Here was a small house & barn but the land was nearly all covered with timber of all kinds.

William bought a team of oxen to help clear the land so it could be farmed.

Emma had a small inheritance which they used to pay for their new home. The amount was $500,00

While they lived at their Oviatt home four more children were born making a family of seven. The names were as follows.
ettie Brugh High — Maude Brugh Putt — Glen Brugh — Joy Brugh Pettengill ay Brugh — Hazel Brugh Smith — Daisy Brugh Getts.

Pioneer Life at Oviatt, Michigan

Oviatt was a small village at "Four Corners". There were just a few pioneer families. a church, Grocery store School, Post Office, Blacksmith shop and Grist mill.

The first Postmaster there was a man named Oviatt. The Railroad came to Cedar Run from Traverse City. The mail came that far by R.R. and carried to Oviatt by "horse back" (later on a horse and buggy or sleigh) also if one wanted to catch the train to Traverse City they could ride with the mail carrier.

(I have made that same trips many times.)

The house at the Brugh home was an "upright" with two rooms downstairs and two rooms upstairs and there was a "lean to" at the back which was used as a kitchen at one end and dining space at the other end.

For heating there was a cook stove in the kitchen and a heating stove in the living room. Fuel to burn was no problem. There was plenty of wood to use.

There was no well for water but Emma & William soon had one. They drove down a well with their own hands and the other necessary tools. This water was used for cooking and drinking.

Rain and snow water ran off the house roof into home made cane spouts then down into barrels which was later on replaced by a cistern. This water was used for laundry and cleaning purposes. also for bathing

There was all kinds of wild game and fish to be had for meat. also wild berries to gather in the summer and put up in cans for winter use.

William worked hard to get the land cleared of timber so they could raise crops on the land and have feed for their livestock.

a large garden furnished plenty of vegetables and William raised pigs for meat. Emma raised the chickens for meat and eggs.

a shopping trip was made to Traverse City about four times a year with horses and wagon in summer and horses and sleigh in winter

The trip took all of a long day (Fifteen miles each way) leaving early in the morning and getting home late at night, it was a very exciting trip.

The wagon or sleigh had a bed of straw in the back with blankets spread over the straw. This was where the children rode and they loved it.

Emma always had a dinner basket packed and they ate in the wagon.

There was no parking problem. You just drove up behind a store and tied the horses. I think probably there was something to feed the horses also..

Resturant meals were too expensive and unheard of for pioneers.

The straw bed was nice for the children to sleep on during the long trip home.

5. Emma bought muslin and "outing flannel" by the bolt and sewed it into under clothing, bedding and all kinds of items needed in the house.

Prints and better materials were use for dresses and shirts and coats. Stockings and mittens were all hand knit from yarn.

Emma was a very good seamstress, cook and also knew a lot about taking care of her family if they were sick.

The nearest Doctor was seven miles away so a supply of medications were kept on hand at all times.

The Dr wasnt called unless someone was very ill. There was no telephone service and some one would ride or drive a horse to go and get the Dr to come.

Emma also went to the neighbors home to help care for the sick.

nearly all the worn out clothing was saved and this was "recycled" into home made carpet.

The old cloth was cut into strips and sewed together either by hand or on Emma's old Domestic sewing machine Then the long strips were rolled into neat tight balls The children helped do some of this work.

Emma knew just about how many balls of "carpets rags" it would take to make the carpet she needed for her living room.

a neighbor (Eunice Altman) living near Cedar Run had a loom to weave carpet on and she furnished the "ways" and charged by the yard for weaving the carpet.

The carpet strips were 27" wide and had to be sewed together to fit the size of the room. (any rags left over were made into throw rugs with fringe at the ends.

The wood floor was scrubbed clean and a layer of straw spread down. Then the carpet was layed over the straw and tacked down all around the edge.

When the carpet got too dirty it was taken up, ripped apart and washed, by hand, then sewed back together and put down again with fresh, clean, straw underneath.

Straw was also used in "straw ticks" on the beds and this was a yearly project. The "tick" was emptyed, washed and clean straw put in.

There was a Kimball Organ in the living room and all of the five Brugh girls had music lessons.

There was a lot of hard work but also some happy times to remember.

William was busy all the time too. He worked in the woods in the cold winters. Quite a lot of the times he would be alone in the woods and this was when he broke his leg.

He was trimming limbs off the fallen trees with an ax. Somehow a limb swung around and knocked him down. He was pinned under the limb and his leg was broken at the ankle.

He was lucky enough to reach the ax and chopped the limb in two so he could free himself.

Then he crawled on his hands and knees and in to the sleigh to drive home. (about four miles.)

when he picked up the lines to drive, one of the lines was wrapped around the wagon tongue so he had to crawl out of the sleigh, get the line straightened out, then back in the sleigh and drove to the home of the nearest neighbor who took him to maple City to the Dr. (Fralick)

The Dr set the broken bone and the neighbor brought him home.

william had to lay for weeks waiting for the bone to "knit"

Part of the time a weight was tied on his foot so the bone would be straight. The "weight" was one of Emma's "flat irons"

He was very lucky to have a team of gentle horses when all this happened.

One of the main crops raised on the land after it was cleared was potatoes.

william dug the potatoes with a potato hook and the children picked them up. For this they were paid two cents a bushel. Four pails made a bushel. Each one had a "tally hole" and for each pail full, they put in one potato at the end of the day they counted the tallies to see how many bushels the had picked.

The young people at Ovriatt found ways to entertain themselves.
In nice weather they got together under the trees and sang songs such as "Annie Roonie" and others.
In winter there was sledding and skating.
Nearly everyone went to church and there were programs, picnics, box socials and at Christmas time a large tree in the church decorated with popcorn (on string) and other home made decorations.
The Brugh children hung their stockings up on Christmas eve and there was always gifts in them on Christmas Day.
William had a "Sugar Camp" in the woods.
The maple trees were tapped and sap was gathered in wooden pails; later on replaced with tin pails. The sap was boiled down in a large container and the fire had to be watched and kept burning all night and day.
The fireplace was made of brick.
When the syrup was just the right thickness it was stored in the out door underground cellar for use when needed.
This was really delicious on pancakes biscuits and all kinds of good things.
Emma and William talked and dreamed a lot about the people and relatives back in Indiana. But they never cared to go back except for short visits. The Michigan climate was better for Williams health and now it was their home
Three of the Brugh daughters Nellie, Maude and Daisy
"drifted" back to Indiana and married and lived there.

The Brughs Reane Oviatt

In 1906 William decided he would like to take his family closer in to Traverse City where life would be easier and more interesting.

By this time the four oldest children had married and gone from home so there were just the three youngest ones living at home and still in grade school.

They found and rented a small farm two miles west of Traverse City where they lived for two years.

But William wasnt quite satisfied there and one lucky day he got a chance to move on a beautiful place out on the Peninsula. It was two miles out on the West Bay road. There was a big rambling house and barn and they all loved it there. a part of that farm is now known as Franklin woods.

Here they raised vegetables & fruit to sell and also sold Diary produce to the little resort called Edgewood

They lived here for eight years and had sold their Oviatt home.

The farm work was getting more difficult for both William and Emma so they bought a home out on East Front St and here they lived the remainder of their lives. They both lived to be 81 yrs old and are buried at Oakwood Cemetery and there are two very tall evergreen trees, one on each side of the lot.

GRACE Winchester, an Oviatt native, continues to share her gift of music with others. Although the years have taken their toll on her sight and hearing, the 98-year-old has maintained a repertoire that would put a person half her age to shame.

On county line

Oviatt once bustling 4-corner 'village'

By Amy Hubbell
Of The Enterprise staff

Only a few faded photographs remain of the small village where Grace Winchester was born nearly a century ago.

But memories of Oviatt remain very vivid in the mind of the county native born on Oct. 31, 1893, in the-then village which bordered Leelanau and Benzie counties.

Mrs. Winchester, 98, now lives with a daughter, Ellen Murphy, in Traverse City. Her husband, William, diedin the 1970s.

Oviatt, a crossroads settlement at the intersection of Co. Rd. 669 and Pettengill Rd., also known as the County Line Rd. and Oviatt Rd., was established in 1878 by H.C. Pettengill and served as the home of farmers and some lumber families. Mrs. Winchester's family had come to Leelanau County from Carraraugus County, N.Y.

Both her parents were school teachers. Her father, William Wilson, taught in the Leland area for about 30 years and her mother Anna (King) Wilson, taught in the Empire area.

The Wilsons had one of three stores in the village, located on the northwest corner of the county line road and Co. Rd. 669. The Pettengill store, which sat on the southwest side of the road in Benzie County, also served as the Oviatt post office. It was owned by H. C. and Maria Pettengill.

A third store, operated by the Nessen family, was about a mile west of the four corners on the Leelanau County side of the road.

"We sold everything from kerosene to crackers in a barrel and sugar in 25-pound sacks," Mrs. Winchester, a spry nonagenarian said. "Pettengills sold mostly tobacco and candy."

Wilson's store served as a meeting place in the village, where many travelers stopped at the "half-way point" on their way between Empire and Traverse City.

William and Anna and daughters Grace and Maude ran the first telephone switchboard for the village in 1906.

"We didn't keep the switchboard too long; it interfered with us waiting on the customers," Mrs. Winchester said.

Dear Laura:

It is a rainy day so a good one to do letter writing. 1 I'm enclosing some clippings. I can't remember who sent them to me. I can remember Oviatt when it looked pretty much like that. I knew Maude and Grace Wilson when I was very young/Uncle Harry used to escort Edith and Ethel to the dances! The Pettingill house that is mentioned was a lovely house. Ed Pettingill owned it, after old P. died he remained a bachelor until fairly late when he married Jim Riggs widowed Mother, who was Edith P. husband's mother. When Edith died Jim lived there with their children, when he died it was sold to a retired police man from Chicago, it is well maintained. I've made a sketch of Oviatt as I remember it on a seperate sheet. As far as I knew all the Brugh kids went to the Armstrong School & Uncle Wes Brooks told me Aunt Maude taught there. Aunt Hazel, Daisy & Uncle Ray went to school on the Peninsula in T.C. late & they "graduated" from the 8th grade. Aunt Hazel & Daisy went on to business College in T.C. That was during the time my Mother died & us 5 kids went to live with grandma until Dad married

Dorothy Fischer of Maple City. He lived in town & worked for the Tele. Co. Although I was only 3 & 4 years I can remember those years quite well! About the Church where Aunt Daisy was baptized, it was in T.C. Church of Christ. She & Aunt Hazel both went there. After my husband died and I went to T.C. each summer Dale & I spent hours talking, he could remember so much & loved to talk about it. I left T.C. when I married 1929 & as my husband loved to travel but not to visit I caught up on a lot, thanks to Dale & Aunt Hazel.

I sent the material you sent me on the Grays to Bill Gray in Mackinaw City Mich. as he is the one doing the research, he is still teaching there & they have a summer gift shop there Busy! Busy! I've never met Sandra but met her Mother while visiting Walter.

I'm sorry about Pauline I know how hard it is to lose your sister. I'm the last of my Mothers kids Donald of Dorothy & Stan of Mabel. Neither Donald or Stan are well. Donald's wife has Alzeimers, and the Dr says she is ready to go to a nursing home, he has to watch her constantly. It is very hard on him. I still have two Brooke cousins left. Dorothy at 90 & Violet (lives in Flint) at 94. We correspond often.

I feel good, had my physical last week & thyroid was low so am on medication. Went to glaucoma Dr last week & that reading was up so am on different drops. I keep my flower beds in good shape & my house work done. My roses are so pretty this year. Pauline & I went to the Sanford Zoo yesterday. She has a lot of problems but keeps on going, she is more social than I am, bowls three times a week, plays cards or bingo five times a week, belongs to a womans club into crafts. I just enjoy a few good friends & doing my own thing.

I think the rain has stopped so guess Ill work outside a bit. It sure looks nice & fresh.

I hope you are feeling well. It would be wonderful if all this material could be in one book. Wonder how many Brughs there is.

Love, Bernice.

P. House	Pig Pen. Church
Farming	Wilson store & dances.

Following the church road about 1½ or 2 miles the school was on that corner (Armstrong) up the road was the Brooks Farm, still owned by Dorothy Brooks Fritz, a son & his family live in the big house she built a three bed room there & lives alone at 90. She is really what in my mind was a good example of old pioneer stock. Going out the road past the school after Uncle Harry died, Aunt Loy married Bill Sattler they had a store there to.
Walter lived there with Myrtle his wife

Trinity Reformed Church Salem Center Ind.

Written by Mrs Wade H. Dodge R.R. Pleasant Lake, Ind. 4677

Trinity Reformed Church was organized September 9, 1854 by Rev. John George Kissell an exploring Missionary of St. Joseph Classis, Synod of the German Reformed Church of the United States of America.

Reformed churches had their base in Switzerland and spread to Holland and Germany as Reformed Churches, to England and Scotland as Presbyterian, to France as Huguenot and others in Bohemia and Hungary used national names. As these churches moved overseas to America they formed into four groups; two from Holland became the Reformed Church in America and the Christian Reformed Church, one from the German Palatine became the Reformed Church in the United States (later to be the Evangelical & Reformed Church), the fourth from Hungary became the Free Magyar Reformed Church in America. All were Calvinistic and conservative, basing their doctrine on the Heidelberg Catechism, the Belgic Confession, Canons of the Synod of Dart and a modified Presbyterian form of government.

Trinity originally held it's meetings at the Mt. Zion Church near Golden Lake, then in 1885 built a church on the Noll property east of Salem Center. After 1944 when the charge was without a full time minister, and due to the moving of several Trinity families, this little country church closed it's Sunday School in 1948. The Ladies Aid Society had kept the church in repair until vandalism a few years ago of broken windows, etc., made it necessary to sell the church.

It is recorded in 1882 that Catherine Brugh paid $5.00 for the building of Trinity Church and Leander Brugh paid $5.00 at this time. Also at that time it is recorded that Allen Brugh was paid $13.15 for stone mason work for this building.

Respectifully submitted by Mrs. Wade H. Dodge, President of the existing Trinity Ladies Guild as of September 9, 1974.

It was Cathern's granddaughter Goodie Klink decision to bury her in Circle Cem. Hudso Ind. after Cathern's death June 26, 1899, Perhaps because it was closer for the family to visit. That is the reason George is buried at Salem Center and his wife Cathern at Hudson.

Steuben Co. Hist. 1885 p.738

Leander Brugh is the eldest of twelve children of George Brugh, who with his family settled in Steuben County in 1847. George Brugh was born in Pennsylvania in 1814 and when a boy moved to Columbiana County, and thence to Seneca County, where he married Catherine Clemens, also a native of Pennsylvania. In the fall of 1847 he came to Steuben County with a brother-in-law, William Clemens, who returned to Ohio. He was killed in the Ashtabula bridge disaster, on the Lake Shore Railroad, in December, 1877. Mr. Brugh bought eighty acres of landon section 16, Pleasant Township. He returned to Ohio and the following spring moved with his family to this county and located on his land.

They came with teams and were accompanied by several other families, none of whom settled in Steuben County except his younger brother, William ~~Clemens~~, who settled in Angola, where he lived a number of years, then moved to Salem Township and thence ten years later to Fulton County, Ind. Mr. Brugh erected a log house on his land and remained in Pleasant Township till 1852, when he moved to Salem Township and settled on section 2, where he remained tillhis death in 1856. His wife is living in Hudson. Leander Brugh was born in Seneca County, Ohio, in 1839, and has been a resident of Steuben County since 1848. He has always engaged in agricultural pursuits and has lived on his present farm since 1865. The part of Hudson that is in Salem Township is a part of his original farm. He platted and was the proprietor of that part of the village. He is one of the well-known, public-spirited citizens of Steuben County, and the success of Hudosn is due, to a large extent, to his enterprise. In the summer of 1878 he built his fine brick residence, which is a model of neatness and architectural beauty. Mr. Brugh was married in 1862 to Susan Smith, a daughter of Daniel Smith. They have had five children - Ginevra, Ortha, Byron (deceased), Avery and Hurma, the eldest of whom is married to Sumner Bixler, a practical druggist of Angola.

The following roster of children of William and Louisa Klink Brugh is somewhat different from yours. It was given to me by Mrs Wilbur Klink who is researching Klink family history.

Copy verbatim on this form the information you find in the various records or books as you do your research. (You will find differences in records.) Make a separate sheet for each search or each name or family on your line found in a search. Then, after information has been extracted from all sources, you may easily make comparisons of statements, judge value of each, and record correct data on a permanent form such as A1, F1, F3 or F6. See The Sixth Edition THE HOW BOOK FOR GENEALOGISTS for additional suggestions regarding the use of this sheet.

settlement), William McIntosh, wife, and family, Alexander Smith, father of William McIntosh's wife, Daniel Smith and wife, and Duncan Frazer, with wife and three children, shipped from Greenock, Scotland, in 1804, for Baltimore, Maryland, purposing to locate in the Scotch settlement, now in Madison township. Instead of conveying the ship to Baltimore, as he had agreed, the captain landed at Charleston, S. C., and at that time the city was plague-stricken with the yellow fever. The Scotch emigrants speedily embarked in a ship for Baltimore, but had not proceeded far before their vessel was wrecked. Happily, the passengers were cast ashore, and of their number lost but one by the disaster. Their next attempt to reach Ohio was more successful, and, although their journey was a tedious one and hazardous, they arrived at the settlement without further diminution of numbers, and entered promptly upon the active duties of pioneers.

Many interesting stories are extant concerning the unhappy experiences and trials of the pioneers of Madison upon the eve of their embarkation at Scotland for America, and how they were pursued and persecuted by those who sought to impress them into the English naval service. Many were indeed captured while making ready to sail, and even on shipboard, and forced to serve in the navy until England and France were at peace again. Alexander Chisholm was thus taken from on board the ship upon which he proposed to sail for America, and, despite the efforts of himself and his friends, who sought to conceal him from the pursuit of the press-gang, he was compelled to see the ship sail without him, and to defer his promised departure two years.

A story is told of an exciting Indian alarm raised by William McIntosh in 1812 or 1813. McIntosh, who was somewhat deaf, thought, while visiting some friends in the northern part of the township, he heard some talk about an expected Indian raid, and, hurrying home as fast as he could, he soon spread in the neighborhood the news that the savages were close at hand, and might be looked for at any moment. The settlers, already worried by the war then in progress, were quick to take the alarm, and, devising immediate measures to conceal what valuables they possessed, collected in numbers at certain houses and prepared to make a defense against the savage attack. Some went even so far as to leave the township for the river settlements; but, as it happened, the scare was a needless one, since the Indians never appeared, but the anxiety and fear for twenty-four hours were somewhat harassing, until it was learned that McIntosh had mistaken a casual reference to Indian misdeeds elsewhere for certain expectation of trouble in that neighborhood. The narration of this circumstance shows, however, how the settlers of those days must have been oppressed by a sense of insecurity, and how they were constantly apprehensive of danger.

The Indians never troubled the settlers much, except as beggarly, idle, and dissolute neighbors, always ready to steal rather than work, and quarrelsome when drunk. The tragedy in which White Eyes was slain by young Carpenter occurred in this township.*

Madison sent several volunteers into the war of 1812, among them being Daniel McCoy, Jesse Williams, James McKenzie, Samuel Martin, Duncan McDonald, and Angus McDonald. It may be noted that Angus McBane, who settled in that part of St. Clair now called Liverpool, about 1801, was the pioneer who led the way to the Scotch settlement, for it was his excellent report to his friends in Scotland that led to the emigration at once of a number of Scotch families, the first three to follow him being those of George Ogilvie, Alexander McIntosh, and William Forsyth.

Roads were not common even as late as 1811. Horse-paths were plentiful, and, necessarily, horseback was a popular mode of travel. The early settlers cared more for clearing their farms and cultivating the ground than they did for roads, and so did not exert themselves on behalf of highways, for the construction of which, indeed, they probably thought they could at best illy afford any financial assistance.

The first physician in Madison was Dr. D. Marquis, who practiced in the neighborhood of West Point, where he lived. The physicians who succeeded him were Drs. McDowel, Hart, J. J. Ikard, Ball, Sage, and Williams.

Previous to 1810 the settlers in Madison had no grist-mill at home, and were compelled to go to Beaver's Mills and other places to mill. In the year named, John Guthrie built a grist-mill on Brush Run, and in the latter part of the same year Henry Brough put up a grist-mill on the west fork of Beaver Creek, near West Point.

In 1811, William Crawford built a grist- and saw-mill below Williamsport. David Hanna put up a carding-machine on the creek north of the Georgetown road, and not long after that James Cocker put up a similar machine lower down on the same stream. William McLane built a bridge across the creek in 1815, near Bough's mill, at what is now West Point. Aaron Brooks built a grist-mill on the west fork of Beaver at an early date, and in 1837 sold to Mr. Hamilton, after whom the property passed to parties who proposed to bore for oil there, but abandoned the project and sold the mill to Wellsville people, by whom it was removed to the latter place and made to do duty as a steam-mill.

John Smith kept an early tavern on the old Georgetown road, near the place now occupied by the "township-line" school-house, and about the same time a Mr. Morrison kept a tavern at West Beaver.

The first election for justice of the peace and constable was held at the house of Jacob Vonfossan, on section 23, in 1811, when Richard Gilson was chosen justice of the peace, and Jacob Vonfossan, Jr., constable.

James McKenzie, already alluded to, came over from Scotland in the ship "Curlew" in 1801, and landed at Baltimore. With him were the families of John McIntosh, Alexander Cameron, Alexander Chisholm, John A. McBane, and Alexander McIntosh.

It was from the "Curlew" that Alexander Cameron and Alexander Chisholm were taken with nine others (all Scotchmen destined for America) by the English press-gang and forced to serve in the English navy. Chisholm was released at the end of two years by reason of illness,

Subject: MARR & BROOKS (BRUG/BRUCH/BROUGH)

Resent-From: PANORTHA-L@rootsweb.com

My Northampton County names are MARR & BROOKS.

Lawrence MARR - born 1700, Renfrew Scotland, arrived in Upper Mt. Bethel Twp, Northampton Co., PA in the early 1700's. Family legend has him fleeing Scotland after participating in a rebellion against the English King. Had nine sons and three daughters. One son, Lawrence Jr., was accused of treason during the Revolutionary War and almost hung. John(3) Marr, son of William(2), was b. abt 1770, he married Barbara Brooks and a son John(4) was born in 1800. Three or four of the brothers of the second generation along with their families and grown children emigrated in 1800 to Markham Twp., York Co., Ontario. Would like to find more information on the Marr family in general and the names and families of the women they married.

Also seeking information on the family of Michael BROOKS (also spelled BRUG, BROUGH and BRUCH on various assessment rolls) who lived in Upper Mt. Bethel Twp., Northampton Co, PA at the time of the 1790 census. This is an attempt to link him with Barbara BROOKS, b. PA, c 1783 and Mary BROOKS b. PA, c. 1778.

At this time, we have the following members of Michael BROOKS' family:
Michael BROOKS / BRUCH / BRUG
Maria Elizabeth (wife)
Anna Maria BRUG (b. c. 1768)
Johann Georg BRUCH (b. c. 1773)
Peter (b. c. 1780) (may have been chr. 25 Mar 1780, Jordan Reform Church, Lehigh Co.)
George Wendal BRUG (b. c. 1784)
Michael BRUCH (b. 5 Sep 1787, chr. 24 Feb 1788, Hecktown)
Jacob BRUCH (b. 12 May 1791, chr. 13 May 1792, Hecktown)

In 1790, Michael BROOKS had in his household 3 males over 16, 4 males under 16, and 6 females, so there are most likely children missing from this list. By 1800, the head count for the family was down to 2 males (10-16), 1 male (45+) and no females.

In 1803, the Berczy census of Markham Township, York Co., Ontario, showed a Peter BROOCK, age 23 (or b. abt 1780) identified as 'wife's brother', living in the household of John MARR and his wife Barbara BROOKS MARR in Markham. When John MARR and and other family members moved to Markham in 1800 from Upper Mount Bethel Twp, it appears that his wife Barbara remained behind in Pennsylvania until after the birth of their first child, John, in Nov. 1800. She then came to Canada in the company of her brother Peter and her sister Mary who married John MARR's brother, Joseph. Her brother Jacob may have come at that time (he would have only been 8 or 9) or later, but he was in York Co. by 1815 when he married Elizabeth JONES of Whitby Township. Years later a newspaper article on Elizabeth mentioned that her husband was from Northampton Co., PA.

What my cousins and I would like to find is information either linking Barbara and Mary to the family or anything that would definitely disprove the relationship. We have the circumstantial evidence cited above, plus Jacob BROOKS named two of his daughters Barbara and Mary Jane which at least suggests that there might have been a Barbara and a Mary among his close relatives. Any help or clues would be greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Doyle T. DeVoe
Kendallville Indiana 46755

Dear Mrs. DeVoe:

On a recent trip to the Seneca County Ohio Library I came across your name as being interested in some background information on the surname of Brugh. I am currently doing some research on the same name. I am the son of Betty Brugh and was born in Logansport Indiana. My grandfather was John Jefferson Brugh born 1893 in Thornhope Indiana. His father Jefferson Brugh was born 1849 in Fulton County Indiana His father Charles Brugh was born 1816 in Pennsylvania. Charles was the son of Michael and Elizabeth Brugh born 1787/1784. It appears that Michael moved from Pennsylvania to Seneca County Ohio approximately 1834. Elizabeth died 1845 and Michael and his sons John, Charles, Joseph and Francis moved to Fulton County Indiana somewhere around the 1850-1851 time frame.

That is a brief description of the information I have currently acquired. If you have any information on the Brugh family I would certainly be interested in hearing what you have acquired. I am especially interested as to the origin of the family in Pennsylvania and any background information would be of great interest to me. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely

Mrs. Lurah J. DeVoe

Kendallville, Indiana 46755

Dear Lurah:

It was a real pleasure to receive your letter of June 14, 1987. I am terribly sorry for the delay in responding to you, but your letter did develop some very good leads for me in my research and I wanted to check them out prior to responding to you. From the information I have put together it would appear we do come from the same linage and I think your missing link is Michael Brugh. I spent considerable time at the National Archives Branch here in Seattle checking out various census records going back to 1820. Your lead on Columbiana County Ohio was my starting point. The 1820 census indicates no Brugh family lived there at that time which confirms what we know about the various births in Pennsylvania prior to 1820.

I then checked the 1830 census for Columbiana County Ohio (page 435) and found one Michael Brugh as head of household with one male child under 5, one male child age 5-10, two male children age 10-15, one male child age 15-20 and his age 40-50. There was one female child age 15-20 and one female age 40-50. In addition to Michael was a Simon with three children under age 5, his age 20-30 and one female age 20-30 and finally there was a John age 20-30 with one female age 20-30.

I then checked the 1840 census for Seneca County Ohio (page 174) and again found one Michael Brugh as head of household with one male child age 5-10, one male child age 10-15, one male child age 15-20, two males age 20-30 and his age 50-60. There was one female age 50-60. In addition to Michael was a George With one male child under age 5, and his age 20-30. There was one female under age 5 and one female age 20-30. In addition to George there was also a John with two male children under age 5, two male children age 5-10 and his age 20-30. There was two females age 5-10 and one female age 20-30. I will give some explanation later on as to what appears to be a brother Simon as seen in the Columbiana 1830 Census.

2nd Letter ∠
July 18, 198

I then checked the 1850 census for Fulton County Indiana (pages 655 and 661) and the census for Steuben County Indiana (page 383) and found the following. In Fulton county we find one Michael Brugh age 67 occupation "cooper" born in Pennsylvania. Living with him is one Joseph age 27 occupation "BLACKSMITH" a female named Catharine age 27 one male named William aged 5 and one male named Jeremiah Worman. In separate location was a John Brugh aged 39 and occupation of farmer. Living with him is one male Lu-aen age 16 occupation laborer female Matilda age 14 female Huldah age 12 male Martin age 10 male Richard age 8 female Elizabeth age 6 and male William age 4. Also found was my great-great grandfather Charles Brugh age 32 occupation farmer and his wife Sarah (maiden name Worman) age 25 and their children Joseph age 5 Mary A age 3 Fredrick age 2 and my great grandfather Jefferson age 5 months. In addition to this the census also shows one Henry Worman age 19 and one Moses Worman age 16 living with them. I assume they are brothers to Sarah and also brother to Jeremiah which the census shows lives with Michael. The Steuben County census shows one William Brugh age 23 His wife Louisa age 23 and their three children William W age 3 Caroline age 2 and Mary age 1.

What we do not have is George and Francis. I did not get an opportunity to run a check on the 1850 census for Seneca County Ohio or Huron County Ohio but assume if I did so I would have found them in Ohio prior to the Indiana 1850 Census. What I have not been able to put together so far is the brother Samuel. Your information that you forwarded is the first mention of this name and I can not fit it in at this time.

In your letter you wanted to know what I had found out in Ohio. Probably the best way to answer that is to define the purpose of my trip to Ohio. First Michael's final resting place is without a spouse so I derived the premise that she either died in Ohio or Pennsylvania and her remains would be found back East. A second problem that I wanted to overcome was finding the maiden name of my great-great grandmother and finally I was hoping to find some clue as to Michaels origin in Pennsylvania in some records in Seneca Ohio. On Michaels land deed transaction it was witnessed by one George Brugh. I also recall see real estate transaction with one Simon Brugh around the time frame of 1831 which is probably the same Simon from Columbiana County. In checking out marriage records I found my great-great grandmothers maiden name was Worman. I drove around the County for two days checking out various cemeteries and finally located the grave of Michael's wife Elizabeth. Her tombstone reads ELIZABETH Wife of Michael Brugh Died DM 12 1845 61yrs 2mo 23days. Her grave is located in what is known as the Thompson Cemetery off of state highway 18. This location is in the extreme northeast corner of the county which may explain the various relationships which developed in Huron County.

2nd Letter 3,
July 18, 1987

Probably one of the most important finds during my trip was your name in the Seneca County Library. In your letter you indicated that you have additional information on the Brugh name. I am most interested in getting copies of this data if at all possible. You mention a book written by a Phobe Brugh. Do you know its title and location? Is it possible to get copies of Harry Brugh's letters? Do you think it possible that Francis and George could be twins? There still remains many unanswered questions for me one of the largest being where did the Brugh family come from in Pennsylvania? I am sure the information you currently posses would be of great help to me in putting this research into proper perspective. I look forward to hearing from you and will gladly reimburse you for any out of pocket expenses you may incur in running copies of the data you posses. If I have any data that you think would be of help to you please let me know. When completed I do plan on publishing my works and will make sure you get a copy of the finished document. again sorry for the delay but I think we both have a better understanding of the Brugh background now even though it is still incomplete.

Sincerely,

Thomas L. Hoffman

SCHEDULE I.—Free Inhabitants in [illegible] in the County of [illegible] of [illegible] enumerated by me, on the [illegible] day of [illegible] 1850. [illegible]

Abraham, Stephen and Ella M. Abraham, like others of his brothers and sisters, was reared on the farm. He has always lived on the old home place and followed farming. In 1878 he married Mary E., daughter of George and Catharine Dellenger, of Pulaski County. Mrs. Bruce was born in Ohio, but when young was brought to Pulaski County by her parents. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce has been blessed by the birth of two children, viz., Arthur C., and another that died in infancy. Politically Mr. Bruce is a republican and both he and his wife are members of the Evangelical church.

"Pictorial History of America, The Fulton County Edition" by Elia Peattie - published in 1896

BENJAMIN BRUCE, an ex-treasurer of Fulton County, was born in this county Oct. 12, 1845. In Sept. 8, 1798, Jacob Bruce was born in the state of Pennsylvania. He death occurred in Fulton County Jan. 13, 1872. Jacob was a son of John Bruce, born in Scotland. John Bruce, after coming to America, settled at Philadelphia, where he plied his trade, that of a tinner, grew prosperous and lived many years. He had several sons and daughters, of whom the following came to Fulton County, and here died. The first to come was Stephen Bruce, who came in 1837, and settled at the southeast corner of what is now called Bruce lake, in Union township. The lake received its name in his honor, but was called Kewanna by the Indians, in honor of one of their chiefs. In 1840 the above named Jacob Bruce came to the county and settled in the southwest corner of Aubbeenaubbee township. His sister and her husband, George Ultz, came to the county still later. In Pennsylvania Jacob Bruce married Hettie, a daughter of Christophal Wentzel, the father of Edward Wentzel, of whom mention is made elsewhere in this volume. Hetie Bruce, nee Wentzel, was born in Pennsylvania, Sept. 9, 1809. She died in this county, Sept. 11, 1871. She bore her husband the following offspring: Louisa, deceased; Edward, deceased; Mary, deceased; Benjamin, the subject of this mention; Elizabeth, Caroline, deceased; and Elizabeth. The father of these children became an extensive farmer and was for many years one of the substantial and leading citizens of the county. On his old homestead the subject of this sketch now resides. He and his good wife were life-long members of the Evangelical church, and brought their family up in that church. Benjamin Bruce has always resided in Aubbeenaubbee township, and devoted his life to successful farming. In politics he has adhered to the principles of the democratic party. In 1890 he was elected treasurer of the county, an office he acceptably filled for one term, refusing to make a second race for the office. Oct. 1, 1868, Mr. Bruce married Mary J., daughter of William and Malinda (Lee) Moon, pioneer settlers in the county. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce have had four children, viz.: Jacob, who lived to the age of nineteen years; Willie, who died one year old; Nellie, the one surviving child, and Hettie, who died aged nine years. Mr. Bruce has lived an industrious, moral and honest life, and has won the esteem of many friends.

"Pictorial History of America, The Fulton County Edition" by Elia Peattie - published in 1896

GEORGE W. BRUGH was born in Aubbeenaubbee township May 19, 1856. His father, Joseph Brugh, was born in Seneca County, Ohio, Sept. 28, 1822. He removed from Ohio to Steuben County, then to Fulton County, in which he settled on a farm adjoining the present farm of George W. Here his death occurred March 29, 1874. When he came to this county he came by wagon, and owned a span of horses, a wagon, and possessed byt $2.50. He grew prosperous, and at the time of his death owned a good farm of 160 acres. His widow now resides with her son, James B. Brugh, whose personal sketch is given elsewhere in this work. Joseph Brugh became the father of ten children, viz.: George W., James B., Arabella, Albert M., Edward, Lillie, Elmer, Nannie, deceased; Lucy, deceased, and Laura. All the living children are residents of Fulton County. George W., the immediate subject of this personal sketch, remained at the parental home until he reached the age of twenty-three years. Oct. 30, 1879, he married Francis E. Hunter, daughter of Lane and Julia Hunter. This marriage has been blessed by the birth of three children, viz.: Virle, deceased; Harry O., and Oscar R., deceased. Mr. Brugh and his wife are members of the Methodist church, and in politics he has adhered to democracy. Though he began life as a poor man, Mr. Brugh has been very successful as a tiller of the soil and stockraiser.

"Pictorial History of America, The Fulton County Edition" by Elia Peattie - published in 1896

JAMES B. BRUGH, a son of Joseph Brugh and a brother of George W. Brugh, who is mentioned above, was born in Aubbeenaubbee township, Fulton County, on April 24, 1857. He remained under the parental roof until he was twenty years of age, and worked on the farm with his father and brothers. He began life for himself at the above age, as a partner with his brother, George W., at farming. Subsequently the partnership was dissolved and since Mr. Brugh has farmed alone. He has prospered and now owns an excellent farm of 160 acres. His aged mother resides with him, as has been noted in the sketch of George, his brother. Mr. Brugh has always been a stanch democrat, politically. He is a member of the fraternal order known as the Knights of Maccabee. He is a representative citizen, industrious and persevering, and has won the reputation of being such in the estimation of all who know him.

NOAH BRUMBAUGH, a representative farmer and citizen of Fulton County, is a native of Fairfield County, Ohio, and was born March 16, 1834. His parents were Isaac and Catherine (Zerkle) Brumbaugh. The father was born in West Virginia in 1803, and died at the home of the subject of this sketch, in this county, in 1884. He was a son of David Brumbaugh, who was of German parentage. Mr. Brumbaugh's mother was born in Old Virginia. She bore her husband twelve children, of whom five are now living. The home of the family was in Fairfield County, Ohio. The father was a farmer by occupation and was a highly respected citizen. Noah Brumbaugh's youth was spent on the farm and farming has been his main pursuit. In youth his educational advantages were very poor, but through the avenues of books and papers he has become well informed on many subjects of general interest, and no man stands a warmer friend of education than does Mr. Brumbaugh. He remained under the parental roof until he was nineteen years old. Learning the carriage-maker's trade, he followed the same for about eight years, with the exception of the time he has been a tiller of the soil. At farming he has been very successful. He came to Fulton County in 1864, and located on his present farm near Kewanna. Mr. Brumbaugh and Maria Apt were united in marriage in 1862, in Fairfield County, Ohio, where she was born. Unto the union the following children have been born: Cora, once a teacher, now wife of William Mason, of Kewanna; Prof. Jesse F., graduate of De Pauw university, now principal of Brown's Valley, Minn., schools; Orpha Many, graduate of De Pauw university, now teaching; Nevada, teacher; David, and Gertrude. Mr. and Mrs. Brumbaugh are members of the Methodist Episcopal church, and enjoy the esteem of a wide circle of friends.

Hi, Jack.. Sorry to be so late in replying - I moved some messages to answer to the wrong folder by mistake and just found them this evening. The name and dates sure seem to match.

I have very little yet on the Bruch/Brug/Booch line as I've yet to connect it firmly with my Barbara Brooks. Here's the sum total of what I received from a cousin who is also trying to prove the connection:

Information on Barbara's brother Peter and speculation on her parents from Stephen Wood (emails 20 Oct & 21 Oct 1998)

PETER BROOKS, born ca. 1780 [possibly christened 25 March 1780 in Jordan Reformed Church, S. Whitehall Township, Lehigh Co., PA]; died 15 January 1830 in Ontario. Married SARAH TITUS? [Stul?, Hull?]. 25 October 1805 in St. James Church, York [now Toronto], York County, Ontario. (married by banns) --- Sarah Titus?, born ca. 1787 in or near Hardwick, New Jersey, daughter of John Titus (?), married secondly to Henry Pliny Cutler 23 August, 1830 in the Home District, Ontario. She was still alive when the 1861 census of Markham was taken.

Peter's will mentions that he was late of the Township of Markham, Blacksmith; gave land to Peter Brooks, son of Jacob Brooks, gave Sophia "the child I have raised" a feather bed & bedding, 1 cow and 5 pounds in other household furniture when she gets married or arrives at the age of 18 years; gives the rest of his property to his wife Sarah Brooks. Executors were Jacob Brooks and Peter's wife Sarah. Will dated 11 Jan. 1830. Will witnessed by Jacob Brooks, Sarah (x) Brooks, John DeHart, and George Ward. [Peter was age 23 in the 1803 Berczy census of Markham Settlers.]

As far as is known, Peter had no children of his own.

I just have a few spare minutes to post this so will keep it brief, but I also descend from the York County Brooks family.

I don't know whether or not you have seen the Berczy list in the back of the book "Markham 1793 - 1900" edited by Isabel Champion and published by the Markham Historical Society in 1979 [ISBN 0-9690900-0-5] but page 329 lists the John Maar (sic) family, with Barbara's brother Peter Broock (sic) (age 23).

It appears that Barbara Brooks Marr Wurts (c1783 - c1861/71), her sister Mary Brooks Marr (c1778 - 1816), her brother Peter Brooks (c1780 - 1830) and brother Jacob Brooks (c1791 - 1865) all came to Ontario. I descend from Jacob Brooks who married Elizabeth Jones in 1815.

We are trying to prove that they belong to the following family, it looks promising:

Michael Bruch / Brug married Maria Elizabeth __________ .

Anna Maria Brug c1768
Johann Georg Bruch c1773
Peter c1780
George Wendal Brug c1784
Michael Bruch c1788
Jacob Bruch c1792

One of Jacob's descendants had heard that the Brook spelling was originally Brough, which fits in with the above, and some of the names and dates match what we know. Unfortunately, baptisms for Mary and Barbara have not been located, which would have helped confirm things much more.

A newspaper article on Elizabeth Jones mentions that her husband was from Northampton County, PA which is where these baptisms were taken from. Michael and Jacob's were from the Reformed Lutheran Congregation, Nazareth, now Dryland Church, Hecktown. Peter's was from the Jordan Reformed Church, S. Whitehall Township, Lehigh County, PA. The others I recently found in a book entitled Penna. Births, Northampton Co. 1733 - 1800. I don't know what churches they match up to yet.

Much of this earlier work was done by the late Alma Beesley and my (our) distant cousin Cheryl Kahlke in New York.

I believe much of Alma's notes went to the Markham Museum. There is also mention of a Marr book too, perhaps also at the Museum and bible.

Information on Jacob Brooks (above), again from Stephen Wood, 10 Nov 1998

Just a quick note to pass along a little more info on the Brooks line.

Jacob Brooks, born ca. 1790 in Northampton County, PA, died 9 May 1865 in Markham Township, York Co., Ontario aged 75 years and 3 days, buried Christian Burial Ground, Quantztown, (5th line), Markham Township.

Elizabeth Jones was born in Whitby Township, Ontario County, Ontario 12 Dec., 1796, the daughter of William and Mercy Jones. She died Aug. 8, 1889 in Markham Village, aged 92 years, 7 mo, and 26 days, and was interred with her husband.

Jacob was a Cooper and also held a contract for the mail. They resided in Scarborough Township, York County, Ontario, and raised six sons and seven daughters.

Children:

RACHEL b ca. 1817 Canada, died 14 April, 1859 age 42 years, 7 mos., 14 days, married Christopher Heise(y) 7 March, 1837.

PETER b. ca. 1818 Canada, died 24 Feb. 1881, marrried Elizabeth Shank 4 June 1844.

[?? HIAL W. ??] b. ca. 1823 Scarborough, Ontario, died 29 July 1885 aged 62 years, 4 mos., married Margaret (Holden??).  This is the only child we cannot positively prove, although he witnessed John Jacob's and Mary Ann's marriages. ***

SUSANNAH [b & d unknown], married William Harrison 21 Feb. 1849.

SOPHIA b. ca. 1828 Markham Twp., Ontario, died [unknown], married 1) William Inglis 3 Nov., 1847 and 2) John Lucas

MARY ANN b. ca. [unknown], died [alive 1889], married Thomas Dawson 29 Oct. 1843.

GEORGE b. ca. 1834 Scarborough Twp., Ontario, died 18 Nov. 1909, married 1) Jane Bell 1 Jan., 1858 and 2) Mrs. Ellen Ferguson.

BARBARA b. ca. 1837 Ontario, died [unknown], married Henry Dearborn.

SARAH JANE b. 3 Nov. 1839 Ontario, died 24 Apr. 1935, married Thomas F. Wootten 27 Oct., 1870.

---- Looking over my notes again, I see that Mary Ann and Susannah should probably switch as far as order of birth goes, based on the marriage dates. We know that Sophia was the fourth daughter.

Dear Melinda,

I cannot thank you enough for all of the great information that you sent me last week. It surpassed all responses to genealogical societies in Pennsylvania,and Ohio. In the 44 years that I have been seeking the elusive Michael/Michel, I never once extended my search beyond those states.

Jim Brugh, an attorney in Logansport, sent me a recording of Fulton County cemetaries and I soon determined that the Michel buried in Leiters-Ford IOOF Cemetary is my great-great-great grandfather. The spelling on his headstone is Michel and I believe that is right.

The tracing that I have done, including your information, now comes to almost 1,000 people including blood relation and those associated by marriage and adpotion. I am in the process of making a chart of this lineage and will send you a copy when finished. In the meantime, you may want to know the following:

1. Hermanus Bruch/Brugh, so far, is not connected to the 1,000 mentioned above. Any tie-in, and there could be, would go back to Germany,(actually Prussia).

2. Michel was born a Bruch but evolved to Brugh before or shortly moving to Ohio. He was born September 5, 1787 in Upper Bethel Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania to Michael and Maria Elizabeth Bruch. Michel and his wife had eight children (the seven you have recorded) and a girl between the ages of 15 and 22 in Ohio in 1830 on the census.

3. Michael Bruch was born circa 1742 and was christened at Katholisch, Duempelfeld, Rheinland, Preussen (Germany). He was one of six children of Petri and Anna Maria Bruch.

   I believe that Michael came to Colonial America in 1751 on the ship "Patience" along with a brother, Johannes. They could not speak or read and write English so signed ships papers with a (X). Whoever did the actual interpretation and writing recorded the surname as Bloch.

4. I am not certain about the origins of Maria Elizabeth, she could have German origins but may have been here before Michael. Supposedly, they had thirteen children but I have found records of six for sure with a possible two more.

5. Michael was a soldier in the Revolutionary War, listed on a roll dated 1783 (the year the war ended).

I hope this information will be useful to you. In addition, to the chart which is in progress, I hope to write a book of sorts with all the stories etc. that I have accumulated since 1956.

Thanks again for the extensive information on the Indiana portion of the family.

Sincerely,

Larry

Larry B. Brough

Dear Mr. Brough,

On Monday of this week, my husband and I drove over to Fulton County, Indiana. It turned out to be a longer drive than we had expected, but we had time to visit the Fulton County Historical Society and the Leiters Ford Cemetery. I found your letter of July 24, 2000, and was, first of all, very pleased to know Simon's place in the family. I had come across his name when looking at census reports and in a land transaction in Ohio, but there didn't seem to be anything further to tie him to my ancester, George.

My aunt Lurah spent years trying to find a connection between our family and Hermanus Bruch, and I have already told her that they do not seem to connect (on this side of the ocean, at least). It helps to have your verification of that.

I sent a copy of your letter to Joanne Wagner, with whom I have been corresponding by email. We both were very excited about the information you included about Michael. It appears that you know a great deal more about the Bruch family than anyone else we have talked to. If you publish, I would very much like to purchase a copy.

Since the Fulton County Historical Society could have sent you very little information about George, I am enclosing a report on him down to my grandchildren, as well as a photo of Michel's stone. I will be happy to answer any questions that I can about the family. I would prefer that if you are publishing an extended genealogy, that you do not include my children and grandchildren. There seems to be a division of opinion in the genealogical community about privacy and security, but perhaps it is best to be on the safe side.

My great grandfather, William Brugh, moved to Traverse City, Michigan, because he suffered so dreadfully from hay fever in Indiana. Three of his daughters, including my grandmother, met their spouses while visiting family in Indiana.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Cripe

PENNSYLVANIA BIRTHS

Northampton County

1733 - 1800

JOHN T. HUMPHREY

GATEWAY PRESS, INC.
Baltimore 1991

While most of the births are for children of German parentage, Scotch-Irish and English surnames do appear in these records. It should be noted that information for this book was obtained only from churches in Northampton County. Many families, particularly in the early years of settlement before there were established churches and congregations in the area, took their infants to more established areas such as Tohickon in Bucks County or Goshenhoppen in Montgomery County for baptism. There is also evidence pastors of the earlier congregations while passing through the frontier areas baptized infants and later recorded those baptisms in their respective church records, often some distance from where the infant was born and where their families lived. Family historians researching early Northampton County families should consult church records for adjoining counties, especially for children who were born in the mid-eighteenth century.

Birth records used in this book were copied from English translations of the original German records translated by several eminent scholars including Rev. William J. Hinke, who also worked on the now famous lists of Pennsylvania German Pioneers.

Names and dates were copied verbatim from the English transcriptions–no attempt was made to correct obvious spelling errors, or variant spellings of the same surname. The surname Bartholomew, for example, was found with seven variant spellings and that family name was included here with each of its variant spellings. There are variant spellings for most of the surnames in this book.

Initial entries in many of these church records often list the date of baptism only, i.e., the date of birth was not entered. In no instance was the date of baptism substituted for the date of birth. Where a date of birth was not recorded, a circa date was included based on the year the child was baptized. In several situations dates of birth were incomplete, i.e., the day, month or year was missing. Where those situations occur the available information was copied. If the day and/or month the infant was born was recorded, for example, and the year was missing, that date was entered here as, 12 Mar ca71. A determination for the missing year was obtained from the date of baptism that in most cases occurred within several months of the date of birth.

Incomplete information in these records was not limited to dates. Names of infants as well as parents were missing in a number of records. Where that information was lacking I noted its absence in a number of records with the entry "not given."

The format used for each birth record should be fairly obvious. The initial name listed is child's first name. The names following the date of birth are the names of the father and mother. The number identifies the church record where that birth record was found. A name in parenthesis following the mother's name is her maiden name.

In several instances a question mark appears in the text. Those question marks were not placed there by me but were in the typed translations of the original text and were placed there by the individual who made the transcription from the original text. They undoubtedly mean that translator had some difficulty in either reading or translating that particular name.

Most of the birth information was copied from church records. A translation or copy of the Bethlehem Moravian Church record was not found. The births listed here for that church, which are incomplete, were obtained from other reliable sources, namely the Moravian graveyards at Bethlehem, Nazareth and Schoeneck, and the Bethlehem Moravian marriage record.

Lastly, a few births were copied from Daniel Schumacher's personal record, which has been published. A number of baptisms for infants born and/or baptized in Easton and Lehigh Township were recorded in his personal record.

AN

OF THOSE SUBSCRIBERS

TO THE OATHS OF ALLEGIANCE,

NORTHAMPTON COUNTY, PA.

1777-1784

(Also Oaths of Office 1789-1804)

Prepared by:

Gaylord Griffiths

INTRODUCTION

Among the papers housed at the Northampton County Records and Archives Center at Easton, Pa., is a 61 page list of those white male inhabitants of Northampton County over eighteen years of age who suscribed to the Oath of Allegiance to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania between the years of 1777 and 1784. The list contains 4172 names.

Swearing allegiance to the State was made necessary by a provision in a general militia law passed by the Legislature on June 13, 1777. The act* stated "that all white male inhabitants of the State, except of the counties of Bedford and Westmoreland, above the age of eighteen years shall, before the 1st day of the ensuing July, and in the excepted counties before the 1st day of August, take and suscribe before some justice of the peace an oath in the following form:

> 'I, ____ ____, do swear (or affirm) that I renounce and refuse all allegiance to George the Third, king of Great Britain, his heirs and successors; and that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as a free and independent State, and that I will not at any time do or cause to be done any matter or thing that will be prejudicial to the freedom and independence thereof, as declared by Congress and also, that I will discover and make known to some one justice of the peace of said State all treasons or traitorous conspiracies which I now know or hereafter shall know to be formed against this or any of the United States of America.' "

Severe penalties were imposed by law on all who neglected or refused to take the oath. Once branded a traitor, the person not taking the oath was liable to have his property and estate confiscated. (For information on people who forfeited estates in the various counties of Pennsylvania, see the Pennsylvania Archives, 6th Series, Volumes 12 and 13.) The commissioners for Northampton County appointed on October 21, 1777 to seize the personal effects of traitors were Conrad Krider, Paul Balliet, Daniel Depuy, Jacob Kechlein, and Robert Levers. (See Pennsylvania Archives, 2nd Series, Volume 3, page 617.)

Upon swearing or affirming to the Oath, the suscriber received a certificate, which he was compelled to show on demand as a proof of his loyalty. Any person not having such a certificate was liable to be arrested as a spy if he should leave the city or county of his residence.

After the alphabetized list of Oaths of Allegiance which follow, one will find a list of of those people who took a Oath of Office in Northampton County from the years 1789 to 1804. The list is found on pages 85 to 90. An index to those oaths of office has been included at the end of the Oaths.

Photocopies of the original lists of both the Oath of Allegiance and Oaths of Office can be found in the Lehigh County Historical Society as well as the Marx Room of the Easton Public Library. In addition, a type-written copy, true to the spelling and form of presentation can be found in the Marx Room. The type-written copy, entitled "Oaths of Allegiance of Northampton Co, Pa. 1777-1784 Also Oaths of Office 1789-1804 From Original Lists of John Arndt, Recorder of Deeds, 1777-1800", was prepared in 1932 under the direction of Henry F. Marx.

This book is an attempt to present "old information" in an alphabetized manner, thus making searching the information a little easier. In preparing the book, this author has made every attempt to be true to the spelling of the names on the original list. Most of the names in the hand-written manuscript were easily deciphered. However, for those names where some question arose as to spelling, the author double-checked his interpretation of the name against the list of names prepared by Henry F. Marx in 1932. In cases of disagreement (and there weren't many), the name as transcribed by Marx is listed first, followed by the author's interpretation in parentheses. Because most of the justices of the peace who administered the Oath were Scotch-Irish and unfamiliar with the German language, a lot of names were recorded phonetically, that is "the way they heard them". For example, the name Biesecker was in one instance recorded as "Peasecker". Likewise the same could be said for German-speaking justices who recorded English names. For this reason, the researcher is encouraged to be inventive in searching for his or her family surname.

In closing the author would like to point out that in most cases in the list no mention is made as to where in Northampton County the suscriber to the Oath lived. (Northampton County from the time period 1777 to 1784 encompassed what is today all of Lehigh, Northampton, Carbon, Monroe, Wayne and Pike counties and part of present day Schuylkill county.* James Vanaken, does, however, divide his list into two-page 59, numbers 1 to 67 on the original list, those who lived in Upper Smithfield Twp.

page 59, numbers 68-91 (original list) and page 60
numbers 92-104, those who lived in Delaware Twp.

One list for Thomas Hartman (page 18, numbers 1-13 in the original list) mentions Bethlehem Twp.

Jacob Horner mentions that his list of returns found on page 24 in the original is for Lowhill township. His list contains names numbered 1 to 95 as found on pages 24 and 25.

In addition the author, through research on the family name, knows that Jacob Morry lived in Upper Saucon Township and therefore one could logically assume that most of the men who took the Oath of Allegiance before him probably lived in Upper Saucon township and the surrounding townships of Salisbury, Upper and Lower Milford and Lower Saucon.

Finally, Peter Trexler, in one of his lists, includes the notation "the names of young men arived (sic) to their age since the year 1778." This list is found on page 57, numbers 1-24 and page 58, numbers 25 to 80.

Eventhough this is a list of male inhabitants who suscribed to the Oath of Allegiance, it is possible that the list does not include all the males who were living in Northampton County at the time and who took the Oath. A check of the Pennsylvania Archives, 2nd Series, Volume 3, indicates that there were 23 Justices of the Peace sworn in on June 3, 1777. The number who turned in lists of suscribers to the Oath to John Arndt, were far less. Therefore, it is possible that, eventhough a person is not included in the foregoing list, a forebearer might still have been loyal to the cause of independence, and might still have lived in Northampton County during the years 1777 to 1784.

EXPLANATION OF HEADINGS & ABBREVIATIONS

In an effort to get as much information as possible in as few pages as possible and to stay true to the spellings as found in the original lists, this author has had to employ some abbreviations. Following is an explanation of those abbreviations as well as of three column headings.

Column headings

NO. - The number of the entry on each page
J.P. - Initials of the Justices of the Peace. They were:

RL- Robert Levers
SR- Samuel Rea
PM- Peter Meyer
BD- Benjamin Depui
TS- Thomas Sillyman
JA- John Arndt
WMN-William Mc Nair
TH- Thomas Hartman
ND- Nicholas Depui
MP- Mathias Probst
JM- Jacob Morry
JH- Jacob Horner
FL- Frederich Limbach
LS- Lewis Stacher
PT- Peter Trexler
JV- James Van Aken

* - the surname contains an umlauted "a". (ä)
- the surname contains an umlauted "o". (ö)
- the surname contains an umlauted "u". (ü)
*-the surname contains an umlauted "y" (ÿ)

- the subscriber affirmed the Oath instead of swearing to it. Affirmed following the name in the original list indicated that the subscriber belonged to one of those religious sects whose faith precluded them from taking an oath.

(BW)- stands for taken by warrant, meaning that the subscriber was probably forcibly taken to the justice of the peace and made to affirm the Oath.

Along the banks of the Delaware there is an inexhaustible supply of limestone.

Raubsville, a post-office situated in the eastern part of the township on the Delaware river, is a small gathering of dwellings. It was named for the family of Raubs, who were the first settlers in that vicinity. Among the early settlers of this hamlet was Dr. Peter Sailer. He was exiled from his native land, Germany, for witchcraft, and on coming to America went to a fellow countryman at Phillipsburg, New Jersey, but finally located at Raubsville. He gained a reputation for his miraculous cures from Massachusetts to Georgia, and of two of these we take note. Meeting on the road a settler suffering from a cut made by an axe, he treated the wound, which was in his foot, by gathering an herb or weed by the wayside, which he chewed in his mouth and applied as a poultice, and after one or two treatments the wound healed. Another case was a woman who had been given up to death by Philadelphia practitioners. She was suffering with a throat disease, and by squeezing her neck and applying medicine, in a short time, after several treatments, she was restored to health. Dr. Sailer practiced medicine for over fifty years at Raubsville, and administered to patients who sought his advice not only in his immediate vicinity but to those who came a great distance to receive relief. He died in 1805. His posterity gained an enviable reputation in the medical world, and at the present time Dr. Wilhelm Sailer, of the fourth generation, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, still practices at Raubsville. His predecessors had no established fees for their services, but accepted whatever the patients chose to bestow on them. Their services were in demand throughout the eastern section of the country.

About four miles from the Delaware river, on a road leading from Raubsville to Hellertown, is the Old Williams Township Church. In a field at the foot of Morgan's Hill, on the site of the present reservoir, in what is now Cedarville, stood a church in 1730, organized by Rev. John Casper Stoever, Jr., and was called "Die Germande Am Delaware Revier von der Luthensche Religin." The olden time church of logs was used several years, but was finally demolished in December, 1762. This was probably the largest Lutheran congregation of that period in America. Here worshipped all the Lutherans of Upper Jersey. During the first few years services were held only on important religious anniversaries. Later they were held more frequently or whenever an itinerant preacher could be procured. On the day preceding these special services, to notify the inhabitants of the event, huge bonfires were built on the summit of Morgan's Hill, which illuminated the country for forty miles around. The members of this remarkable congregation, whose names are here recorded, constituted nearly the entire population at the Forks and the regions round about:

Not only these but their wives and grown children helped to swell the membership, making a congregation of nearly three hundred people. The later history of this church is given in an article on Easton, in this work. The records of the church, which was organized in the middle part of the eighteenth century, are still extant. Among the successors of the Rev. Dr. Stoever were Johann Justus Birkinstock, who ceased his labors in 1749, when Rev. Rudolph Heinrich Schrenk became pastor, and his charge of the congregation continued until 1756, when he was succeeded by Rev. Johannes Andreas Friederics, who preached the gospel to the congregation until 1760. For the next nine years the Rev. Johann George Weisner officiated; he was succeeded in 1770 by Rev. Christian Streit. A new era of the church seems to have begun with the adoption in 1792 of a "Church Discipline." From 1783 to 1826 the following ministers officiated: Revs. Johann Andreas Friederics, John Conrad Yeager, Christian Endress, John Augustus Brobst, John P. Hecht, and Johann Heinrich Hoffmeister; the latter was pastor in 1831. The church was formerly used by the Lutheran and Reformed congregations, but afterwards became known as St. Luke's Lutheran Church. In the early seventies of the past century it was remodeled, and the one hundredth anniversary was celebrated in 1913. From 1877 to 1913 the following were pastors: Revs. J. O. Upp, William Bieber, H. B. Ritter.

INDEX of WILLS and ADMINISTRATION RECORDS

NORTHAMPTON COUNTY
1752 - 1850

LEHIGH COUNTY
1812 - 1850

This Index has been compiled for the benefit of anyone doing research for ancestors in both Northampton and Lehigh Counties. Such records can be found in the Register of Wills' office of the County, in which the name has been found.

Northampton County and Lehigh County have been combined into one book, since it is almost impossible to search Lehigh County, without going into the earlier records of Northampton County.

The following Index gives the year of the recording the decedents name, the township he lived in, whether he left a will, or if letters of Administration were granted and the file number of the estate in the court house records.

The Northampton County records are given first, followed by the Lehigh County records.

John Jacob Eyerly, Sr., and Christina Schwarz were married in the Bethlehem Moravian Church on 25 August 1755.[6]

There is little question that as a young man John Jacob Eyerly, Jr., was educated in one of the Moravian schools in either Nazareth or Bethlehem, and he learned the trade of blacksmith probably from his father, who was one of the early blacksmiths in Nazareth.[7] On 13 January 1786, at the age of 31, John Jacob Eyerly, Jr., married Anna Maria Frey, daughter of Henry and Anna Maria (Berstler) Frey.[8] Anna Maria was born 8 April 1759 in the Moravian settlement of Lititz, Pennsylvania, where her father Henry Frey was the "master carpenter and miller."[9] Within a year of their marriage their first child, Elizabeth Eyerly, was born, on 15 December 1786. John Jacob Eyerly, Jr., and Anna Maria were the parents of four additional children: Jacob, born 23 June 1789; Anna Maria, born 12 April 1792; Johannes, born 31 January 1794; and Susanna Theodora, born 17 December 1796.[10]

The Friedensthal mill was located just to the west of the present borough of Stockertown in Northampton County, Pennsylvania, which in 1800 was at the juncture of three townships: Forks, Nazareth, and Plainfield.[11] The area where the mill was located is referred to by local residents and historical records as "Friedensthal" or "vale of Peace."[12] The name was given to the area by the Moravians who in 1750 built the first mill to occupy the site.

According to Moravian records the Church purchased 324 acres on 3 January 1750, from William Allen of Philadelphia. The deed description describes the site as "on the branches of Lehietan in the Forks of the Delaware in Bucks County."[13] The deed notes the property was bounded by "a line of land late of Tatamy an Indian . . . by John LeFevor's land . . . other land of William Allen . . . land late of George Whitefield called or known by the name of Nazareth . . . vacant land . . . thence by the land late of the said Tatamy the Indian."[14] On 13 January 1750 several Moravians from Bethlehem began clearing the site of trees, and by 21 August 1750 the mill was ready for operation. In the intervening seven months the Moravians had constructed a two-story limestone structure measuring 34 feet by 48 feet with an overshot water wheel and one run of stones.[15] The interior of the mill was divided into four rooms. Within a year a second structure, constructed of logs, was built as a home for the miller and other Moravians who occupied the site.[16]

During these early years the Friedensthal mill not only provided the Moravians and other local settlers with a place to grind grain, but it also became a place of refuge or safe haven during the French and Indian War. In the late fall of 1755 and winter of 1756, after a number of Indian attacks and massacres north of the Blue Mountain, many local settlers fled to Friedensthal for safety. By 29 January 1756 there were 75 refugees at the mill including:[17]

George Minier, his wife, and seven children

Philip Bossert, his wife, and seven children

Jacob Stechert, his wife, and seven children

Michael Koster, his wife, and five children

Adam Engler, his wife, and four children

Leonard Beyer, his wife, and four children

William Lerch, his wife, and three children

Peter Schaefer, his wife, and three children

Martin Kindt, his wife, and three children

Frederic Ziegler, his wife, and two children

William Stuber, his wife, and two children

Hans Michael Walcker, his wife, and two children

George Webb and his wife Magdalena, the widow of Abraham Miller[18]

A council of Moravian church leaders and members was held at the mill on 9 March 1756, and it was decided the mill should be stockaded. By the end of March the entire mill was enclosed within a wooden stockade.[19]

The mill property was owned by the Moravian Church; however, actual title to all church property including the Friedensthal mill was held in the names of various church leaders, including Henry Antes, Nathaniel Seidel, and Frederick Marshall. John Jacob Eyerly, Jr., purchased the mill on 1 May 1794 from Frederick Marshall for £4000. The property description in Eyerly's deed notes that he purchased 600 acres 27 perches with buildings, edifices, outhouses and ". . . grist [mill] there on erected . . . and all the mill gears and other buildings . . . gardens, orchards . . . mill pond, mill dams and mill races. . . ."[20] According to the deed there was also a "messuage" or house.[21] A short time after Eyerly purchased the property he built a new mill, which was the mill occupying the site at the time of his death on 11 May 1800.[22]

John Jacob Eyerly was not a miller by trade or profession. As a young man he learned the trade of blacksmith, and when he died he was also the proprietor of a blacksmith shop. In the early 1790s he was elected to two terms in the Pennsylvania Assembly, and he was very active in the purchase and sale of real estate, i.e., he was a real estate speculator. There is evidence the actual operation of the Friedensthal mill was handled by professional millers. According to a baptismal entry in the Schoeneck Moravian Church records, Philip Woodring was employed as the miller in the fall of 1795.[23] How long Woodring fulfilled this task is to date unknown. Another baptism in the same church record in the fall of 1797 suggests he was either replaced with or assisted by the miller John Lischer.[24]

John Jacob Eyerly, Jr., must have known his death was imminent as he made his will 4 May 1800, only seven days before he died.[25] According to the terms of his will the executors were to keep the "Friedensthal Mill and rent it out to the best advantage until my youngest child is arrived at the age of 14 years."[26]

There is no date given on the list of those owing money to the mill, but presumably it was either compiled shortly after Eyerly's death or was in existence at the time of his death. The list is copied here as it was found in the estate file. It is interesting to note the varying amounts owed the estate. For example, Peter Dreisbach owed the mill 5s 7½d, while John Repsher owed the mill £10 5s 3d and Frederick Ziegler was in debt to the Eyerly estate for £86 6s 3½d. The largest debt owed the estate according to the mill records was the debt of William Henry, the owner of a gun factory located about a mile from the mill on the Bushkill Creek. It is also interesting to note that every individual who owned property contiguous to the Friedensthal Mill as noted in Eyerly's deed for the property is on the list. They include: Nicholas Seyfried, Adam Strenger, John Rothrock, George Stocker, Martin Kind, Henry Stofflet, Matthias Stecker, Andreas Stocker, and Philip Diehl.[27]

The names of the individuals who took the inventory were not included in the estate papers. Presumably this list was compiled by Abraham Levering, Joseph Schweishoupt, and Nicholas Kraemer, the executors named in the will. In each entry the meaning or significance of the designation "fo." followed by a number is not proved, but conceivably each of these debts was listed on a separate "folio" in the mill account book, hence the "fo." used in the list in the estate file, and were entered in the order they were found.

PIONEERS AND PATRIOTS

"Over the Blue Mountain"

Colonial and Revolutionary Period

Compiled by F. Richard Turnbach

Thompson's Battalion of Riflemen
Captain Nagle's Company

On 14 June 1775 the Second Continental Congress resolved: " that six companies of expert riflemen be immediately raised in Pennsylvania, two in Maryland, and two in Virginia"

Each company was to consist of a Captain, three Lieutenants, four Sergeants, four Corporals, a drummer or trumpeter, and sixty-eight privates. Each company was to march to join the Army at Boston. Among the units formed was Captain George Nagle's Company of Colonel William Thompson's Battalion.

There is no known complete or absolutely accurate list of the original members of this company - several sources list the names given below. While most of this company resided in what are now townships of Berks County, several of the privates resided * "Over the Blue Mountain" in what is now Schuylkill County. These Patriots are Highlighted.

Captain Nagle's unit formed at Reading and marched on the 22nd of July 1775 to Cambridge Massachusetts, a distance of approximately 360 miles from Reading.

* Pennsylvania 1779 Septenial Census, tax records and pension files.

Oath of Enlistment

These men enlisted with the following "oath":

> "I---------------have this day voluntarily inlisted myself as a soldier in the American Continental Army for one year, unless sooner discharged: And I do bind myself to conform in all instances to such rules and regulations as are, or shall be established for the government of the said army."

Age and Place of Birth

It is interesting to note that the age of these "Schuylkill Patriots" was about 18 years to early 20's at the time of enlistment. Many were born in Pennsylvania, but were ready to fight for the freedoms that brought their parents to the shores of this continent.

Arms and uniforms

The "uniforms" that these men wore at the time they joined, were likely made from homespun cloth made from flax grown on their farms. Their arms were their own tools of survival of fronteer life - knife, hatchet, and the Pennsylvania Long-rifle, which they introduced to the military.

The Microfilm Room at street level in the Tower Archives at Harrisburg has an on-line reference system which allows the librarian to search Revolutionary War participants by individual surname. The system and the staff are very helpful. There are films of company rosters, payrolls, etc, and of pension payment ledgers which detail the amount of payment each month and where it was sent. These ledgers often indicate a date and place of death.

In addition to its other resources, the Genealogy Section of the State Library has an extensive card reference file which includes individual residents who were granted pensions under acts of the General Assembly. These records refer the researcher to books containing these acts, which are shelved in date order in the Law Library at the other end of the building. Apparently, there is no "master" or comprehensive list available.

Revolutionary War Honor Roll of Schuylkill County PA

The following is a list- likely incomplete, of those persons who resided at one time in Schuylkill County, who served during the Revolutionary War. Prepared for publication in the Pottsville Republican, James C. Kevlin, Editor, for inclusion in the 1995 Memorial Day or Independence Day issue.

Names not in italics appear on military records identifying them as veterans of that war; names in italics are identified as veterans in other records. Those names with an * appear on Military Company Rolls, tax, census or other records of what is now Schuylkill County during the period of the war [1775-1783].

Warrants and Patents - for what is now East and West Brunswick Townships of Schuylkill County.

The tract number is the reference used by the Land Office of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in their "Connected Warrantee Map" for these Townships. The maps also contain other Land Office file references, meets and bounds descriptions, and other data not included here.

This data is not yet available in Map form for all Townships of Schuylkill County. Copies of completed Township maps, Surveys, plots of contiguous tracts, applications for Warrants, Surveys, Resurveys, Patents, etc. are available from the Land Office, located in the archives Towers at Harrisburg.

The acreage [Acs] listed here includes allowances for roads but not partial acreage [measured in Perches].

In many cases, comparison of the data below with the 1783 tax records can help identify the current tract number.

Notes and Evaluation

Based on the birthdate of his only child in 1785 a guess at the probable date of birth for George Repsher is 1760 to 1765.

Information of record on George Repsher is limited to his military service in the Northampton County Militia, tax lists for the years 1785 and 1786, and two church records.

The first reference to George Repsher in Northampton County was found on the communicant lists for the Williams Township Congregation. Joh. Georg. Röbscher was listed as a communicant on December 18, 1773. [11] The list on which his name appears does not identify first time communicants, but it is conceivable, given a probably birth circa 1760, he was recently confirmed, possibly at the Williams Township Church.

George Repsher took the Oath of Allegiance to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on December 21, 1777 renouncing George The Third, King of Great Britain, as his sovereign. Of significance is the listing of George Repsher on the list as Joh. Geo. Repscher. Also on this list is Johannes Repscher, George's father. [14]

GEORGE and ELIZABETH

George Repsher was very active in the Northampton County Militia during and after the Revolutionary War. He was listed in 1781 as George Ripsher (sic) on the muster roll of Captain Van Etten's Volunteer Company. He was commissioned on June 15, 1781 by Lieutenant Colonel Jacob Stroud, and he served as a "private." This particular unit saw military action as there were twelve or more deaths in the company on September 11, 1781. [4] George Repsher was also listed as a member of the Seventh Class under Captain John Lyles Company in 1781. The return of the militia for the Second Battalion Sixth Comapny Eighth Class lists George Repsher, "own to wer no substitute." [4]

The Northampton County Militia remained active for a number of years after October 1781 when the Revolutionary War ended. George Repsher was listed under the return of Captain John Santees's Company in May 1785 where he was a member of the Eighth Class of the Second Battalion. This particular company was in service for fifty-five days. [5]

In 1785 and 1786 George Repsher and his wife Elisabeth were living in or near Easton, Pennsylvania. George's name was listed on the tax lists for Easton in 1785. In 1786 George was listed on the tax rolls in Easton, and according to the tax assessor George owned a house and lot in the town. [3] A careful search was made in the Recorder of Deeds Office for Northampton County for property recorded in the name of George Repsher/Repscher. If George in fact owned a house in Easton he never recorded the deed.

The church records for the First Reformed Church in Easton, Pennsylvania show George Repsher and his wife Elisabeth as sponsors at the baptism of Elisabeth Fraunfelter on February 10, 1785. [7]

The baptism of George Repsher's son, Johan Repsher, on December 4, 1785 was entered into the church records of the German Evangelical Lutheran Church in Easton. That record shows the infants baptismal sponsors were Johan Repsher and his wife Elizabeth, the infant's grandparents. [1]

When George Repsher's father, Johannes Repscher, wrote his will he mentioned specifically his grandson, John Repsher, "the only child of my son George deceased." [2] In the Orphan's Court Records for August 25, 1809 there is an account of Abraham Heller and Elizabeth Repsher, "Executors of John Repsher late of Plainfield Township." This record probably pertains to the heir's benefits of Johan Repsher, son of George Repsher. Johannes Repscher, the elder, named as his Executor, Abraham Heller, the same individual named in the Orphan's Court record. These records do not properly identify Elizabeth. This Elizabeth cannot be Johannes Repscher's wife, the child's grandmother, as she died on December 26, 1808. [15] The Elizabeth named in the Orphan's Court record is probably the wife of George Repsher, mother of Johan Repsher, and she was probably representing his interests in the settlement of his grandfather, Johannes Repscher's estate; however, in 1809 Johan Repsher the grandson was twenty-four years old. [1, 2] Since he was of legal age the reason his mother was representing his interests remains a mystery. If in fact the Elizabeth named in the Orphan's Court records was the wife of Joh. George Repsher this record shows Johan's mother, Elizabeth, was still living in 1809.

The exact date of George Repsher's death is not known. There is little question he died before 1790 when the First U. S. Census was taken as he was not listed in that census. Possibly his death occurred prior to 1788. He was listed on the 1785 and 1786 tax lists, but he was not listed in 1788. At some point after his death his wife Elizabeth became the housekeeper of Nicholas Diehl. When Nicholas Diehl wrote his will in 1800 he gave "Elizabeth Rebsher, his beloved house keeper the sum of 5 pounds, 8 bushels of rye and other grain and the use of his house during her natural life." He also gave her son John Rebsher (sic) a tract of 130 acres in Lower Mt. Bethel Township. [8]

GEORGE and ELIZABETH

Nicholas Diehl wrote his will on April 2, 1800 and it was entered into probate on May 1, 1800, suggesting Nicholas died in late April 1800. Michael and Sarah Smith and Christian Schuck were the witnesses recorded on the document. [13] There is no evidence Nicholas Diehl married. He was listed as a resident of Plainfield Township in 1761, and according to the 1761 tax lists he was single. Records for the Plainfield Church show Nicholas Diehl as a baptismal sponsor for several infants, but none of those records reveal the name of a wife or suggest he ever married.

Notes and Evaluation

The surname Repsher is a recognized name in certain parts of Northampton County; however, it is unique, and is not found in many parts of the United States. The earlier spelling of the name was Repscher and several records were found where the name was spelled as Ripsher and Rapshare. German records use the spelling Rebscher.

When and where Johannes Repscher came to Pennsylvania is to date unknown. The only names on the lists of German immigrants who passed through the port of Philadelphia between 1727 and 1776 that approach the name Repsher were a Johannes Roscher who arrived in December 1764 on the ship Tryall, and a Johannes Röscher who reached Philadephia in mid-September 1773 on the ship Union.[28] When Johannes Repscher executed his will in 1807 he affixed his signature with a mark, leaving little question he was unable to write his name. Both of the gentlemen who arrived in Philadelphia signed the Oath of Fealty with a signature, clearly suggesting Johannes Repscher was not on either of these two ships.

It is possible the name of the immigrant ancestor of the Repsher family is on one of the missing lists; however, it is also possible the immigrant ancestor came to Pennsylvania via another port such as New York or Annapolis where few if any immigration records were kept.

The only reference to Repsher on other immigration lists was a Mary Repsher who arrived in Charleston, South Carolina in 1766. [36] There is also mention of a Johan Philip and Peter Repsher who emigrated to England from Germany in 1709.

In 1709 approximately thirteen thousand Palatines left Germany for England. They were promised free passage, etc., to the English colonies in exchange for their labor. The names Johan Peter Repscher, and Philip Repscher, who is shown with a wife and three children, were listed on the sixth party of ships that left for England from Rotterdam on July 27-28, 1709. [26] The Repschers were not among the three thousand Palatines who were sent to New York in 1710. Many Germans who arrived in England in 1709 were sent to places other than New York. Some were sent to Ireland, some to Scotland, and others went to the Carolinas or several of the islands in the West Indies. Undoubtedly many remained in England. Where Johan Peter and Philip Repscher were sent remains unknown, and any relationship these men may have had with the Johannes Repscher who settled in Northampton County has yet to be determined.

The Repsher/Repscher family may have its origins in Germany near the town of Beerfelden not far from Heidelberg. Marginal notes in the baptismal records of Beerfelden Parish, County of Erbach Germany, researched by Thomas H. Hutzelman, show at least two emigrants with the surname Rebscher left that parish for America. Johan Wilhelm Rebscher born in Untersenbach on March 7, 1732 to Johann Adam and Eva Rebscher is listed as "Gone to America." Also listed is Anna Christina Rebscher, daughter of Johann Ludwig and Eva Susanna Rebscher, born on July 9, 1732. [34] According to the marginal notes next to her baptimal record she left for America in 1754; however, she undoubtedly left with her husband and these notes do not furnish her married name.

Thomas Hutzelman searched for additional Rebscher/Repsher baptisms in the Beerfelden Parish records. Two entries were recorded in those records in the fall of 1729, the year of Johannes Repscher's birth. The first entry shows Johann Georg Rebscher, the "illegitimate" son of Anna Christina Rebscher, daughter of Johannes Repscher, a baker in Beerfelden, was born on September 1, 1729. The second entry was for Johann Ludwig Rebscher, born in Beerfelden on November 20, 1729, ten days after the date of birth engraved on Johannes Repscher's gravestone in Plainfield Township. According to that record Johann Ludwig was the son of Johann Ludwig Rebscher, Jr., tavern keeper at the "White Steed" in Beerfelden. [35] He was the father as well of the Anna Christina Rebscher who left for America in 1754.

There is not enough available information to make the claim the progenitor of the Repsher family in Northampton County, Pennsylvania is either Johann Ludwig or Johann Georg Rebscher. Additional research must be completed both in Germany and Pennsylvania before proof can be established.

How Johannes Repscher and his family reached to Northampton County remains a mystery. If Johannes Repscher and family were from Beerfelden it is quite possible they came to Northampton County because they knew other Beerfelden emigrants who settled in the area including Conrad Ihrig and Johan Adam Sand/Sandt. The birth of Maria Elizabeth Repscher in 1739 suggests she and Johannes married circa 1759, and they came to Northampton County with several children who were born after their marriage but prior to their arrival in Northampton County. There is evidence additional children were born after they settled in Northampton County.

JOHANNES and MARIA ELIZABETH

Another observation about the Repsher family in Northampton County is that they were coopers by trade. Three of Johannes Repscher's sons were at some point identified with the occupation cooper and, interestingly, his grandson John was listed in an 1829 deed as a cooper. William Repsher, son of John and Catharine Repsher, was as late as the 1850 census, listed with the same occupation.

It cannot be said with any certainty when Johannes Repscher came to Northampton County. His name does not appear on any of the early tax lists for the years 1761-1772. The earliest record with anything approaching the name Repsher was the listing of Joh. George Röbscher as a communicant on December 18, 1773 at the Williams Township Church. [23]

The records of the First Reformed Church in Easton reveal birth dates and baptismal information for two children of Johannes and Elizabeth Rebscher. Anna Catharine was baptized on April 30, 1775, and the church records show her baptismal sponsors were John Peter Ehrich/Ihrie and his wife Catharine. On May 19, 1777 Maria Elizabeth Repsher was born, and her baptismal sponsors were Henry Laux and Maria Elisabeth Menges, both listed as single. [9]

The next prominent record for Johannes Repscher is the Oaths of Allegiance taken in 1778. Joh. Geo. and John Repscher took the Oath on January 21, 1777. [19]

Johannes Repsher initially settled in Mt. Bethel Township. There was a Johannes Repsher who recorded a mortgage on property in that township on February 8, 1779. This mortgage was secured on 100 acres purchased from Jacob Miller, and the holder of the mortgage was John Brown of Forks Township (Deed Book C1, p. 483). Johannes Repsher never recorded a deed on this property. The only reference to the property is this mortgage; however, there is evidence he knew Jacob Miller. Johannes Repscher was a witness to Jacob Miller's will on August 4, 1777. [4] The other witness to this will was Peter Ihrig, the same gentleman who sponsored the baptism of Johannes Repscher's daughter Anna Catharine.

Johannes Repsher was still living in Mt. Bethel Township in 1780 when the tax lists were compiled. These lists note he was a farmer in the township. The tax assessor valued his real estate at 92 pounds. There was also a John Repsher listed in 1780 on the tax lists for Forks Township. [21]

There is evidence three, possibly four, sons of Johannes Repsher were living in or located near Easton, Pennsylvania. George Repsher was listed on the tax lists for Easton in 1785 and 1786, and it was during this period the baptism of George's son Johan was entered into the church records of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church. There was also a Peter Reghter, occupation cooper, with an estate valued at forty-eight pounds on the 1780 tax lists for Easton. [21] This was possibly Peter Repsher son of Johannes Repsher. The first record for Jacob Repsher was the 1788 tax lists in Easton. According to other records he was by trade a cooper, and several church records show he married Elizabeth Simon before 1790. [17, 23] Jacob's wife Elizabeth was the daughter of John and Gertrude Simon one of the original settlers of the town (Deed Book E4, p. 39).

An early map of Easton showing the various town lots with owners' names has lots 117 and 118 listed with J. Repsher. [18] J. Repsher was John's son Jacob, who purchased the lots on January 5, 1790 from John Penn (Deed Book G1, p. 154). These lots were in the general area of Third and Spring Garden streets, and they were sold on November 2, 1790 to Frederick Wagner (Deed Book F1, p. 702).

It appears John/Johannes Repscher may have lived in Easton for a period of time as well. The last reference to John Repscher in Mt. Bethel Township was the 1780 tax record. By 1786 there was a John Repscher living in Easton who was a baker by trade, and according to the 1788 tax lists he owned 5 acres, two horses and a cow.[17] A deed on the above mentioned 5 acres in Easton would clarify who, in fact, owned the property; however, it was never recorded. Given the birth of Johannes Repscher's son Johan circa 1769 it is unlikely he, the son, is named in the 1788 tax records. There is also the possibility the owner of the 5 acres was George Repsher who was listed in the Williams Township church record in 1773, and on the Oaths of Allegiance in 1778 as Joh. George Röbscher. It should be noted, it was during this time period, i.e., 1788, that three children of Johannes Repscher, Sr., were confirmed at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Easton: Catherina age 14, Johan age 19, and Elizabeth age 18.

Johannes Repscher in his will mentions two daughters named Elizabeth, Elizabeth wife of Philip Smith, and Elizabeth wife of Tobias King. To date there is not enough available information on either daughter to identify the Elizabeth who was confirmed in 1788. Another mystery is the Elizabeth Repscher who was buried by Rev. Pomp on January 17, 1808 in the Plainfield Cemetery. According to Rev. Pomp's records she was 38 years 4 months old which would place her birth circa 1769 -1770.[9] Conceivably she was a daughter of Johannes and Maria Elizabeth Repscher, but she could also have been a daughter-in-law.

Equally mysterious is the Elizabeth Rebscher who was listed as the mother of Sarah Rebscher in the church records of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Easton. The infant, Sarah Rebscher, was born on December 28, 1779 and was baptized eight months later on August 6, 1780.[8] The church record does not identify or list the name of the father. The mother of the child was possibly a daughter of Johannes, and the child Sarah was born out of wedlock, or this Elizabeth, the mother of the infant, was the wife of one of the sons of Johannes Repscher.

Three sons of Johannes served in the Northampton County Militia during and after the Revolutionary War. George Repsher was listed in a company commissioned on June 15, 1781. He was also in the seventh class of the Sixth Company of the Second Battalion in 1782. His brother, Peter Repsher, was in the same company under the eighth class in 1782, and Jacob Repsher served in the Second Company of the Sixth Battalion in May 1785 under the command of Jacob Arndt, Jr.[6, 10] It should be noted the above cited reference to Peter Repsher is the only reference found in Northampton County records for Peter Repsher, but this record does place Peter Repscher in Northampton County even if it was only for a short period of time.

Johannes and Elizabeth Repscher were baptismal sponsors for a number of children, including Elizabeth Laucks, daughter of Heinrich and Mar. Elizabeth Laucks at the Plainfield Church on February 20, 1785.[12] Later that year, on December 4, 1785, they sponsored the baptism of their grandson, Johan Repsher, son of George and Elizabeth Repsher at the German Evangelical Lutheran Church in Easton.[8]

The Plainfield Church baptism suggests Johannes Repscher was living in Plainfield Township by 1785, conflicting with tax and church data for the same year in Easton; however, there is little question by 1790 Johannes and his wife were living in Plainfield Township. According to the census taken in that year John Repscher was a resident of Plainfield Township, and there were three females over the age of sixteen living in his home.[20] This census record suggests two of Johannes Repscher's daughters were still living with their parents. The only other Repsher listed in 1790 in Northampton County was Jacob Rapshare in Easton. The household included 1 male over 16, 1 female over 16 and 1 male under 16.[20]

According to several deeds recorded by Johannes Repscher, he owned a farm in Plainfield Township containing over 95 acres. This farm was along the road leading from Easton to Wind Gap in the general vicinity of Belfast. The date he first purchased property in Plainfield Township from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is uncertain, but it known the tract contained 70 acres 33 perches. On August 17, 1790 he added 20 1/2 acres to his farm with a purchase from Samuel Rees of Montgomery

County, Pennsylvania. Johannes paid ten pounds in gold and silver coins for theproperty (Deed Book G1, p. 587). On August 15, 1795 he bought an additional 9 acres 132 perches from Abraham Hubler (Deed Book C2, p. 54).

The description of the house on the property found on the 1798 U. S. Direct Tax lists state it was a one-story wood house measuring twenty feet by thirty-four feet. The house and its 2 acre lot were appraised for tax purposes at $130.00. The tax assessor valued an additional 80 acres at $200.00. [22] Generally these one-story wood structures were built of logs with a sleeping loft and were heated with a stove. The inventory of Johannes Repscher's estate taken several years later show this was in fact the situation in the Repscher home. [1]

On May 12, 1798 Adam Repsher sold all his personal property to his father for the sum of ten pounds. The reason or purpose for the sale was not stated, but the bill of sale that was recorded lists all items sold including: 1 bed, 1 bedstead, one chest with apparel, 1 brown cupboard, 1 large and 1 small iron pot, iron pan, all kitchen furniture consisting of a few pewter dishes and some earthen ware, 2 cedar pails, 1 white chair, 1 spinning wheel, 1 brown table with a bake trough, 2 acres of rye in the ground on Leonard Engler's land, 1 cooper's bench, 1 set of coopers tools and 1 cradle (Deed Book E2, p. 173).

Over a period of several years two sons of Johannes and Maria Elizabeth settled in Plainfield Township near the family farm. John and Maria Elizabeth Repscher sold 13 1/2 acres to their son Adam on December 2, 1802. Adam never recorded a deed on his purchase; however, there was reference to the transaction in a deed recording a sale Adam made in 1816. According to that deed the 13 plus acres were part of the 20 1/2 acres John Repscher purchased on August 17, 1790 (Deed Book B4, p. 319).

On August 1, 1791 Jacob Repsher purchased 66 acres 150 perches along the road leading from Easton to Wind Gap in Plainfield Township. He paid Issac Sidman, the seller, thirty-three pounds for the property (Deed Book G1, p. 617). Part of this tract was sold in 1794 to George Drumm, and the description of the property found in the deed transferring the property to Drumm notes it was adjacent to land owned by John Repsher (Deed Book A2, p. 552). The remaining portion of this tract was sold to William Henry, the gunsmith from Nazareth, in 1791 (Deed Book B2, p. 373).

On September 16, 1798 Johannes and his wife were baptismal sponsors for Elizabeth Bruch at the Plainfield Church. Elizabeth, their granddaughter, was the daughter of George and Barbara Bruch. Several years later John Repscher and Elizabeth sponsored the baptism of John Bruch, son of Frederick and Catharine Bruch. The baptismal date was not given; however, John Bruch was born on October 19, 1801. [12]

The Plainfield Church communion lists show an Elizabeth Repscher as a communicant on April 7, 1804, and April 4, 1806. [12] There is no way to identify this Elizabeth Repsher; she could have been the wife of Johannes or his daughter-in-law, the wife of his late son George. Likewise there is no certainty which John Repscher communed in 1805. This communicant could have been Johannes, Sr., his son, John, or the grandson, Johan.

In 1805 the Reformed and Lutheran Congregations of Plainfield Township were raising money to build a new church, and the names of John Rebscher and Adam Rebscher appear on the subscription lists. Adam Repscher/Repsher's name was also on the expense paid list; however, the nature of the expenditure was not given. [12]

There is evidence Johannes Repscher had his wheat and other grain ground at the Friedensthal Mill Among the estate records of John Jacob Eyerly, Jr., is a list of debts owed by various people who had their flour ground at his mill. This mill was located just west of the present Borough of Stockertown along the Nazareth road and the Bushkill Creek. The list of entries is for the year 1800, and they include the name of John Repsher. According to that list he owed Jacob Eyerly 10 pounds 5 shillings 3 pence. [16]

One of the first histories of Northampton County was written by Matthew S. Henry, son of the Nazareth rifle-maker, William Henry. This 1851 "Manuscript History" contains several ancedotal stories about people who lived in the vicinity of the gun factory. One story relates to a son of Johannes Repscher.

"The Compiler [Matthew S. Henry] about 40 years since he had in his employ several persons who had [an] exchange [of] wives which was carried out in the following manner. Moser, who had a wife that was neither a beauty nor had sense, agreed with Repsher for his wife, who was good looking and smart, and actually did pay Repsher 5 pounds in cash and an old horse and some other trifle to boot, [and] he [Moser] was to pay the minister. The parties were actually remarried by Parson Niemeyer at Mr. Sevilley's tavern in the township, [Plainfield] now the village of Belleville [Belfast]. Moser danced with the party at Repsher's wedding and his, Repsher's late wife, enjoyed the scene from a view she had of it from the second floor through the pipehole. She was in great glee on the occasion; both parties had children some of whom were present and enjoyed the sport also they always lived well together and neither party ever rued the bargain. Yet poor Rev. Niemeyer was taken to task about it and removed from the church." [32]

While there is little reason to doubt the above "marriage" occurred, records to substantiate and explain what actually happened have not been found. In the absence of a marriage record there is no way to identify the parties to this "agreement." Records, for example, show several Mosers near Plainfield Township around 1795. Rev. Peter F. Neimeier/Niemeyer was the Lutheran Pastor of the Plainfield Congregation from 1790 to 1800. If, in fact, the above marriage was cause for his removal from the Pastorate of the Plainfield Church, the marriage probably occurred closer to 1800 than 1790. Another known fact is Sevilley's tavern was operated by a Prussian officer, Dr. Sevilly, who purchased the property located not far from the Repscher farm around 1790. [33] Given the limited information on this "marriage agreement" little can be said about the Repsher who was a party to the arrangement other than he was a son of Johannes and Maria Elizabeth Repscher.

Johannes Repsher wrote his will on April 5, 1807. Four days later he died at the age of seventy-eight. His wife, Maria Elizabeth, died on December 18, 1808, a year and several months after her husband, at age of sixty-nine. Both Johannes and his wife are buried in the Plainfield Cemetery, and their gravestones, written in German, are clearly legible.

Most late-eighteenth century Pennsylvania German farm homes were sparsley furnished as this inventory suggests. The home of Johannes and Maria Elizabeth Repscher was furnished with a table, chair, and bench, 1 cupboard, a kitchen dresser or cabinet, and the stove. Most of the remaining items on the inventory are kitchen equipment and tools. Also listed are the obligatory items for an elderly couple to maintain their existence: a cow, some hogs, wheat, and rye.

John and Elizabeth obviously were in a position to loan money to two of their sons, Adam and Leonard, and two sons- in-law, Philip Smith and George Bruch. John Repscher loaned money, as well, to Henry Laucks. If Henry Laucks was related to the family there is no record to establish what this relationship may have been. It appears he was at least a close friend. In 1785 John and Maria Elizabeth sponsored the baptism of Henry's daughter.

Abraham Heller, executor of the estate of John Repsher, sold a tract of land, containing 5 acres, on the Easton to Wind Gap Road in Plainfield Township to Will Meyer. Evidently the five acres were sold by John Repsher prior to his death, but a deed was not conveyed during his, John's, lifetime (Deed Book C4, p. 156).

After the death of Johannes Repscher his son, Adam, and his sons-in-law, George Bruch and Philip Smith, owned and/or occupied most if not all the property of Johannes Repscher. On July 19, 1809 the executor of Johannes Repscher's estate, Abraham Heller, sold two tracts of land to George Bruch. The deed notes George Bruch was already a resident of Plainfield Township. The two tracts were part of the 21 and 1/2 acres, and 9 plus acres purchased in 1790. George Bruch paid the estate $200.00 for the property (Deed Book F3, p. 367). Several years later, on February 9, 1811, Adam Repsher and his wife Catharena sold part of the 13 and 1/2 acres they purchased from Johannes Repscher to Philip Smith, Adam's brother-in-law, for $113.50. This deed states the properties of Adam Repsher, George Bruch, and Philip Smith were contiguous (Deed Book F3, p. 353).

Leonard Repscher married Barabar Duerr on November 5, 1781 in Philadelphia, [14] and they were living in Plainfield Township in 1808. According to an entry in the church records of the Plainfield Church Leonard and Barbara Repscher were baptismal sponsors for their nephew, Leonard Schmidt, on July 17, 1808. Those same church records show Leonard and Margaret Repscher as the parents of a son, John Repscher, born on March 15, 1810.[12] These two baptismal records suggest either Leonard Repscher's first wife Barbara died between the baptism on July 17, 1808 and the birth of John Repscher on March 15, 1810 and he remarried, or Leonard is the Repsher who entered into the "marriage agreement" with Moser cited earlier.

Among the entries in the accounts of the estate of George Stecher is a reference to Leonard Repsher. Apparently he, Leonard Repscher/Repsher, bought one ton of hay from George Stecher's estate in 1808. [24]

After the death of his parents Leonard was living on the family farm. Listed in the credits to the estate was "rent received from Leonard Repsher." It is quite possible, given his purchase of hay from the Stecher estate in 1808, Leonard was living with and taking care of one or both of his parents.

Shortly after the death of Johannes Repsher his sons disappear from Northampton County. The last record in the county for Leonard Repsher was the 1810 U. S. Census where Leonard was listed as a resident of Plainfield Township. Included in his household were three males under ten, 1 female 26-45, and one male 26-45. Leonard Repsher was also listed in the 1810 census as a resident of Philadelphia. As noted earlier, Leonard married Barbara Duerr at St. Michael and Zions Church in Philadelphia in 1781. Leonard undoubtedly had ties to that city. By 1813 he was listed as a "drayman" in the Philadelphia city directory and according to that record he was living at 435 North 4th n. (near?) Poplar. His name reappears on the city directories for the next nine years, i.e, until 1822. In 1823 and 1824 there is no listing for Leonard Repsher, but there is a listing for Elizabeth Repsher, seamstress. [27] Leonard Repsher is not listed in the 1820 census index for Philadelphia but there was a listing for a Leonard Repsher in Morrisville, Bucks County, in 1830. The 1830 listing shows three individuals in the home, 1 male 20-30, one female 20-30, and one female under 5. Given the age of the only child in this census, the Leonard Repsher living in Bucks County in 1830 was not the son of Johannes Repscher; additional research may show he was a grandson.

Jacob Repsher moved to St. Stephens, Territory of Alabama by 1818. His father-in-law, John Simon, died in 1814 and the heirs of John Simon's estate signed a release on lot 131 in Easton. This release lists each of the heirs, and specifically identifies "Jacob Repsher, formerly of the Borough of Easton, but now of St. Stephens Alabama territory" (Deed Book E4, p. 39). Attempts to find Repshers in Alabama have proven unsuccessful.

By 1820 Adam Repsher relocated in Hamilton Township, Monroe County, Pennsylvania. Ten years later, he was enumerated in the 1830 United States Census as a resident of Pocono Township. Church records for Christ Church in Hamilton Township, Monroe County list the confirmation in 1822 of

Johannes Rabscher (sic), son of Adam born on June 7, 1803.[29] Adam's son, John, married a woman who appears in some records as Molly Repsher, and in others as Mary. They were the parents of eleven children: Catherine born in 1830; Jacob born in 1831; John born in 1833; Andrew born circa 1835; Mary born in 1837; Joseph born in 1839 and died October 19, 1864 in the Civil War at the battle of Cedar Creek; Simon born in 1841; Michael born circa 1843; William born in 1845; Lenora born in 1847; Percilla born in 1849.[30]

Little is known of Peter Repsher. There are few records in the county related to him. He probably moved out of Northampton County a number of years before his parents death. Since he is not listed in the 1790 census for Northampton County he conceivably moved before that date.

Several deeds recorded by Tobias King, a son-in-law of Johannes Repsher, provide some information on him and his wife. According to a deed for the purchase of over 95 acres in Plainfield Township on April 21, 1795, Tobias King was a "farmer from the City of Philadelphia" (Deed Book B2 p. 397). There is no mention of his wife Elizabeth Repscher in this deed; however, she is named as his wife in a deed dated March 21, 1800 wherein Tobias and Elizabeth sold part of the 1795 purchase to Jacob Sober, and it should be noted both Elizabeth and Tobias sealed this deed with their respective marks (Deed Book F2 p. 269). On January 2, 1812 Tobias and his wife Elizabeth sold the remaining property in Plainfield Township to John Warner for 600 pounds (Deed Book H7, p. 167). There is no mention in this deed where they relocated.

The deed for the purchase of the King property establishes another link of the Repscher family to Philadelphia, and the deed for the sale of the property in 1812 shows yet another child of Johannes and Maria Elizabeth Repscher left Northampton County after their deaths.

By 1820 the only Repsher left in Northampton County was the grandson of Johannes and Maria Elizabeth, John Repsher, son of George and Elizabeth Repscher. Most Repshers located in Northampton County are descendants of Johannes and Maria Elizabeth Repscher through their grandson Johan Repsher.

Conrad Menges

Menges and Laux are names that appear several times in Repscher family records. As previously noted, Maria Elisabeth Menges, single, sponsored the baptism of Maria Elisabeth Repscher on 19 May 1777 at the First Reformed Church in Easton along with Henry Laux, also single.[222] Records for the family of Conrad Menges show that his daughter, Maria Elisabeth, married Henry Laux. Church records reveal that the baptismal sponsors for one of the Laux daughters, Elisabeth, baptized 20 February 1785, were Johannes and Elisabeth Repscher.[223] Henry Laux in 1809 was named as a creditor in the estate files of Johannes Repscher.[224]

EXPLANATION OF HEADINGS & ABBREVIATIONS

In an effort to get as much information as possible in as few pages as possible and to stay true to the spellings as found in the original lists, this author has had to employ some abbreviations. Following is an explanation of those abbreviations as well as of three column headings.

Column headings

NO. - The number of the entry on each page
J.P. - Initials of the Justices of the Peace. They were:

RL- Robert Levers
SR- Samuel Rea
PM- Peter Meyer
BD- Benjamin Depui
TS- Thomas Sillyman
JA- John Arndt
WMN-William Mc Nair
TH- Thomas Hartman
ND- Nicholas Depui
MP- Mathias Probst
JM- Jacob Morry
JH- Jacob Horner
FL- Frederich Limbach
LS- Lewis Stacher
PT- Peter Trexler
JV- James Van Aken

Page - Page number on which the entry is found in the original list.

* - the surname contains an umlauted "a". (ä)
- the surname contains an umlauted "o". (ö)
- the surname contains an umlauted "u". (ü)
*-the surname contains an umlauted "y" (ÿ)

- the subscriber affirmed the Oath instead of swearing to it. Affirmed following the name in the original list indicated that the subscriber belonged to one of those religious sects whose faith precluded them from taking an oath.

(BW)- stands for taken by warrant, meaning that the subscriber was probably forcibly taken to the justice of the peace and made to affirm the Oath.

Senr., Sr. -Senior
Junr., Jur., Jr. -Junior
Esqr. - Esquire

Michael Gardner, Christian Hartman, Thomas Dyer, Peter Dierner, George Hanblazer."

This was, as indicated by its designation, a company of rangers, who probably patrolled the frontier, from point to point, having no stated post. But Captain Van Etten's command was evidently a body of veterans, who had fought at Brandywine, Sept. 11th, 1777, as would appear from its casualties. Its station, Fort Penn, was in Smithfield township.

"JOHANNES VAN ETTEN, Captain.

"JACOB STROUD, Lieut.-Colonel.

"Mustered at Fort Penn January the fifteenth, 1781, in the absence of the Muster Master.

"JACOB STROUD, Lieut.-Colonel."

In the year 1782, after the time had passed, in which Northampton county—particularly Bethlehem—had seemed to be the Mecca of distinguished personages; Generals of the Continental army, Delegates to Congress, Signers of the Declaration of Independence, Ministers Plenipotentiary, and lords and ladies from beyond the sea—both ally and enemy—there came to the old Moravian town, on the twenty-fifth of September, a man, far more illustrious than all who had preceded him—no less a person than General George Washington! He was on his way to the headquarters at Newburg, and was accompanied by two military aids. Even his august presence could not awaken much visible enthusiasm among the staid Moravians, but he was greeted with profound veneration by them, and the most assiduous attention shown to acquaint him with the industries and leading features of the place. These offices, of course, fell to the lot of Bishop Ettwein, as the leading person in the town. Washington inspected the water-works, the Moravian mills and shops, took refreshments in the Brethren's house, and was then escorted by the Bishop through the rooms of the house of the Sisters. In one of these, finding several of the sisterhood busy at their labors, knitting, weaving, and embroidering, he graciously said. "Ladies it gives me pleasure to find you so busily employed." The Bishop replied, "Yes, it is written in the Scripture that they who do not work, shall not eat."

His aids made purchases of some light ornamental articles, but the Commander-in-Chief bought for himself several pairs of woolen hose, and then, on expressing a wish to purchase a dress for his wife, was presented, by the sisters with a sufficient quantity of "blue stripe" material, for which the General expressed his thanks, and promised that Mrs. Washington should wear it in remembrance of them; which probably she did, though none can deny that it was an extremely rash thing, for even the supreme general of the armies, to make such a promise without first consulting the lady's wishes in the matter. "One of the Brethren"—says an old writer—"who had seen Washington and his aid, in their military dress, walking through Bethlehem with the Bishop between them, in his plain clothes, the former being very tall and the latter very short in stature, said, many years afterwards, that the oddity of this appearance struck him forcibly."

The General and his two aids attended divine service that evening at the chapel, and then, in the morning of the twenty-sixth, he departed from the town amid the blare of a trombone salute from the players in the belvedere, and took the northern road down the Lehigh towards his destination.*

The war now rapidly drew to a close. Hostilities had been principally transferred to the South, and unequivocal success had perched on the patriot standards, since the early part of the year 1781. Post after post in Georgia and the Carolinas had been restored to the possession of the American forces, and the two armies were gradually concentrating on the soil of Virginia, where, eighty years later, a struggle took place, to which the contest of Washington and Cornwallis was but as the mimic fight of children, and more blood flowed in an hour, than all that was shed by the opposing hosts of the whole revolutionary campaign of Yorktown.

The army of Cornwallis laid down their arms on the nineteenth of October, 1781, and the war was virtually over. Peace was formally declared in 1783, the veterans of the Revolution returned to their homes and families, and America was free.

Northampton's soil had never felt a hostile tread, other than that of the stealthy savage, nor shook under the tramp of an army except that of Sullivan. But her record was a good and a creditable one; her people were, as a whole, ready and cheerful in patriotic sacrifices, and many a brave son of her's went willingly forth to battle-fields from which he never returned.

* It is but proper here to explain that there have been various accounts of Washington's visit to Bethlehem. By one it has been said that he made two visits to that place, the first having been in 1778. On the contrary, Mr. Martin, in his Historical Sketch of Bethlehem in Pennsylvania, tells us, "An old sister, writing of Revolutionary times, says: 'General Washington visited Bethlehem but once; he intended coming a second time, but did not do so.'" From an examination of the different accounts, and of the entries recorded in the old Bethlehem diary, it seems most probable that he was there but once, viz., Sept 25th, 1782. All the accounts agree that, on leaving Bethlehem, he passed on to Easton and thence through New Jersey, to his headquarters on the Hudson.

Mr. Reichel, in his "Crown Inn," says that Frederick Fuehrer, who was fifteen years old in 1782, afterwards related how he well recollected the stay of Washington at his father's hotel on the night of the 25th of September, and that "on retiring, he pleasantly sought to impress the people of the house, with an idea of the height of his person, by reaching his hand into a ring, suspended from a staple in the ceiling, which was inaccessible by men of ordinary stature." At any rate if this was not his first visit to Bethlehem, it was certainly his last.

† This portion of the title is obliterated by age.

> Are any of the BROOKS researchers descended from Michael BRUCH in Northampton Co., PA?

That's what I've been trying to discover <g>. I have a Barbara Brooks of Northampton Co. who married John Marr and emigrated with him to the Markham area of York County, Ontario in 1801. Here's what I posted for the Roll Call back in March:

My Northampton County names are MARR & BROOKS.

Lawrence MARR - born 1700, Renfrew Scotland, arrived in Upper Mt. Bethel Twp, Northampton Co., PA in the early 1700's. Family legend has him fleeing Scotland after participating in a rebellion against the English King. Had nine sons and three daughters. One son, Lawrence Jr., was accused of treason during the Revolutionary War and almost hung. John(3) Marr, son of William(2), was b. abt 1770, he married Barbara Brooks and a son John(4) was born in 1800. Three or four of the brothers of the second generation along with their families and grown children emigrated in 1800 to Markham Twp., York Co., Ontario. Would like to find more information on the Marr family in general and the names and families of the women they married.

Also seeking information on the family of Michael BROOKS (also spelled BRUG, BROUGH and BRUCH on various assessment rolls) who lived in Upper Mt. Bethel Twp., Northampton Co, PA at the time of the 1790 census. This is an attempt to link him with Barbara BROOKS, b. PA, c 1783 and Mary BROOKS b. PA, c. 1778.

UPPER MT. BETHEL

At this time, we have the following members of Michael BROOKS' family:

Michael BROOKS / BRUCH / BRUG
Maria Elizabeth (wife)
Anna Maria BRUG (b. c. 1768)
Johann Georg BRUCH (b. c. 1773)
Peter (b. c. 1780) (may have been chr. 25 Mar 1780, Jordan Reform Church, Lehigh Co.)
George Wendal BRUG (b. c. 1784)
Michael BRUCH (b. 5 Sep 1787, chr. 24 Feb 1788, Hecktown)
Jacob BRUCH (b. 12 May 1791, chr. 13 May 1792, Hecktown)

In 1790, Michael BROOKS had in his household 3 males over 16, 4 males under 16, and 6 females, so there are most likely children missing from this list. By 1800, the head count for the family was down to 2 males (10-16), 1 male (45+) and no females.

In 1803, the Berczy census of Markham Township, York Co., Ontario, showed a Peter BROOCK, age 23 (or b. abt 1780) identified as 'wife's brother', living in the household of John MARR and his wife Barbara BROOKS MARR in Markham. When John MARR and and other family members moved to Markham in 1800 from Upper Mount Bethel Twp, it appears that his wife Barbara remained behind in Pennsylvania until after the birth of their first child, John, in Nov. 1800. She then came to Canada in the company of her brother Peter and her sister Mary who married Scull had to return to Philadelphia before the operation was completed. The chainmen and other assistants were resident farmers from Williams Township or adventurers who had merely tagged along. They received only 18 pence a day for their hard work, and had to furnish their own lunch at that. Once the lines were surveyed, the workmen cleared the streets of timber and underbrush, leaving intersecting swaths cut through the deep forest.

Building a County Seat at the Forks

Everything was ready for the sale of lots to begin on Monday, May 25, 1752. The town plan was developed in the traditional manner, with a sizeable square in the center. In the center of the square the court house was to be located. The original boundaries of the town were the Lehigh to the south, the Delaware to the east, the winding Bushkill on the north, and a high hill to the west about 715 yards away from and parallel to the Delaware.

As the land was manorial property reserved for Thomas Penn, possession of the 60-by-220 foot town lots was assured by payment of an annual ground rent of seven shillings. Each "purchaser" had to build a house at least 20 feet square with a stone chimney within two years after purchase, or forfeit his rights to the property. The public square for the court house was leased to the County for the traditional payment of one red rose annually to the proprietors.

During the first winter eleven families braved the difficulties of community living in a wilderness with no storehouse of provisions. William Parsons was still sceptical of the whole undertaking. In December 1752 he wrote a long letter to Richard Peters, expressing doubt that there would ever be enough settlers in the neighborhood to supply the town with provisions and carry on enough trade to make the venture worthwhile. He feared that the Moravians would get a monopoly on provisions and trade. To counteract Moravian influence, he urged that the Dry Lands be kept out of the hands of the Brethren and sold to independ-

As the land was manorial property reserved for Thomas Penn, possession of the 80-by-230 foot town lots was assured by payment of an annual ground rent of seven shillings. Each "purchaser" had to build a house at least 20 feet square with a brick chimney within two years after purchase, or forfeit his rights to the property. The public square for the court house was leased to the County for the traditional payment of one red rose annually to the proprietors.

During the first winter eleven families braved the difficulties of community living in a wilderness with no store house of provisions. William Parsons was still sceptical of the whole undertaking. In December 1752 he wrote a long letter to Richard Peters expressing doubt that there would ever be enough settlers in the neighborhood to supply the town with provisions and carry on enough trade to make the venture worthwhile. He feared that the Moravians would get a monopoly on provisions and trade. To counteract Moravian influence, he urged that the Dry Lands be kept out of the hands of the Brethren and sold to independent German farmers who would look toward Easton rather than Bethlehem for markets and leadership. Parsons was also worried about rivalry with the settlement (Phillipsburg) on the Jersey side.

On the other hand, Parsons did see that Easton had advantages in water power, river transportation, saw mill sites, and excellent supplies of lumber. It would also have the advantage of being the center of government, and Parsons was quick to emphasize the value of the jail!

The County was no emerging from a state of wilderness. More townships, in addition to those listed on pages 44-45, were set up. In October 1752 Lehigh Township was created. Its name was given by the new County court, but some of the inhabitants wanted it named Seimsy in honor of a beloved early Moravian Indian convert named Seim! The next year the whole northeastern part of the County was established at Mt. Bethel Township, a Biblical name recalling David Brainerd's ministry there. (The township was divided into Upper and Lower Mt. Bethel in 1787, and the present Washington Township was separated from the latter many years later.)

In 1754 Forks Township was established, and in the same year Plainfield Township came into being. Into the latter German families began to move, and by 1763 Plainfield Church, a union of Lutheran and Reformed, was established. (Bushkill Township was not set aside out of the original Plainfield Township until 1814.) Plainfield probably got its name from the early Dutch settlers north of Kittatinny Mountain. It is said that they gave the name "Blanveldt" (meaning plain field) to this region because the Indians had burnt the trees and brush to drive game through the Wind Gap. By 1763 Moore Township was created out of portions of Allen, Lehigh and Plainfield Townships.

More little villages were in the making too. Most of them originated around taverns and mills and churches. The little village of Newburg in what now is Lower Nazareth Township, for example, had its origin in the tavern established here by Jacob Hartzell in 1755. In 1760 Peter Seip purchased land and built a tavern in present Palmer Township, and around it the village of Seip grew up. A union church built about 1760 was the origin of Hecktown. It is said that this settlement got its name from the comment of a Moravian preacher. Observing the poor, filthy, and very overcrowded cabins hereabouts, he wryly observed, "Aber sie kœnnen gut hecken"—at least they can breed well!

The Moravians were also establishing tiny new communities. In addition to those already mentioned, Schoeneck (German for "Beautiful Corner") was officially named in 1752 after Count Zinzendorf's estate in Austria where some Moravian families had been given refuge. Over in what is now Lehigh County the Moravians in 1742 established a mission schoolhouse at what became Emmaus, and a regular congregation was started here in 1747.

The gradual appearance of more mills and ferries also showed that there was new life in the County. James Martin, one of the early County Commissioners, erected a mill on Martin's Creek as early as 1747. John Jones, a Welshman, built his grist mill on the Bushkill in 1750, the first of many such on this beautiful creek. Taverns began to blossom out with their bright signs in different parts of the County. Nor did David Martin have a monopoly on ferries across the Delaware. By 1753 a ferry was established five miles above Easton, originally called Hunter's but later Harmony Ferry.

Easton was quite different from the settlements that grew naturally out of local needs and conditions. Its existence as a community was set in motion artificially. It was founded solely as the seat of government and justice in the new County. Taverns, stores and homes came into being to fill the needs of those who were to carry on the work of the County.

The first court session was held June 16, 1752. It was an informal gathering probably held under a large tree. William Parsons directed the eight other justices who were chosen for their prominence. They were not expected to established here by Jacob Hartzell in 1736. In 1740 Peter Sepp purchased land and built a tavern in present Palmer Township, and around it the village of Sepp grew up. A union church built about 1760 was the origin of Hecktown. It is said that this settlement got its name from the comment of a Moravian preacher. Observing the poor, filthy, and very overcrowded cabins habitations, he wryly observed, "Aber sie können gut hecken"—at least they can breed well!

BIBLIOGRAPHY

This bibliography comprises the principal resources from which this account of Monroe County's history has been written. Because space limitations required that some topics be treated briefly and others be omitted altogether, much interesting material remains in these resources. Opportunities are here for the lay scholar as well as the professional historian to carve out topics for research and writing. The results of such research could merit publication in newspapers, scholarly journals, and pamphlet format. Speakers could construct fascinating stories—yet untold—for presentation to civic and school groups.

Sunday - July 12 - 1925.

Dear Naomi -

I got your picture this week and sure was surprised to see what a big girl you were growing up to be and I'm sure you must be as good as you look. Hope you keep right on making a worth while young woman. There are so few of them in the world now. Too much jazz I guess. Am wondering if you are going on to high school and if so what you are going to take up there. Are you going to be a teacher or what? Am sure that whatever you start out to be you will be.

Am glad Dwight is getting ahead so well in school and is so near thro.

I was just thinking today that Pauline had a birthday yesterday but have forgotten how old she is - think about 12 tho isn't she? Lois had a birthday today - was 9. She is so tall and spindle shanked - just like a bean pole. Eunice had a birthday a week ago today - was 16 - They are all growing up so fast. Doris will be 14 in December.

Your Mother would be interested in a trip we took today - Went to Sleeping Bear - only didnt go up to the bear - too hot - went to D. H. Day's park on Lake Michigan - home by Burdickville, Maple City, Cedar and Solon. Saw so much pretty water and woods - things are so green and nice now. We are inside all week so Sundays we get out in the Country. There are so many resorts around where we were today. Lovely summer homes and cottages. Makes us wish we had one too.

Well the clock spells ten so that means me to bed. Would love to see you all and probably will some day - We are going to drive down there - perhaps next year.

We were up to Grandmas tonight and took her a trout for their dinner tomorrow. They are well.

Goodnight - and love to all from Aunt Hazel.

I am sending you a little graduation gift - have had it in the house some time but failed to get it mailed Be a good girl and make a good woman out of yourself.

In Remembrance of

Maude Brugh Putt

I know not what the future hath
Of marvel and surprise
Assured alone that life and death
His mercy underlies.

And so beside the silent sea
I wait the muffled oar;
No harm from Him can come to me
On ocean or on shore.

I know not where His islands lift
Their fronded palms in air;
I only know I cannot drift
Beyond His love and care.

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His names sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies:
thou anointest my head with oil;
my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life:
and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

In Remembrance

What is it all, when all is told,
This constant striving for fame or gold,
The fleeting joys, the bitter tears,
We are only here a few short years.
Nothing our own but the silent past,
Loving or hating, nothing can last!
What is it all, but a passing through,
A cross for me and a cross for you,
Ours seems heavy, while others seem light
But God in the end, makes all things right!
He tempers the wind with such loving care,
He knows the burdens each can bear,
Then He changes life's gray into heavenly gold.
Ah! that is all, when all is told!

A Little Step Away

To close the eye, to fall asleep,
To draw a labored breath,
To find release from daily cares
In what we know as death...

Is this the crowning of a life,
The aim or end thereof?
The totaled sum of consciousness,
The ripened fruit of love?

It cannot be, for works of God
Are wrought for nobler ends,
And those away continue on
In the hearts of kin and friends.

It cannot be, for they live on
A little step away.
The soul, the everlasting life,
Has found a better day.....

Dear Ms. Phillips:

I came across a letter you had previously written to the Fulton County Historical Society and was unsuccessful in my earlier attempt to contact you about a year ago. I thank you for your letter to me dated July 27, 1998. I have just returned from vacation with my family and I will attempt to answer your question as time allows. I wish you well.

My great great grandfather was George Brugh who moved from Seneca Co., Ohio, to Steuben Co., Indiana. Apparently, most of his family, including his father, Michael, moved on to Fulton Co., Indiana. Michael, born 5 Sept 1787 in Northampton Co., Pennsylvania, was the son of Michael Bruch. I believe that this Michael was the son of Matthias, but I have found no proof. I would be delighted to exchange information with you.*

Thought you might like to see the family pictures that were taken upon the arrival of Uncle Robert and Aunt Jan to the home of their sister.

It was so good to see all of you and I'm glad that we had a chance to spend some time together. I know that mom's heart was a little lighter than it would have been if you hadn't been there for her. She is doing very well and we have about rapped up the Thank You cards. I went back to work today, but checked on her after work. She is still taking care of dad in many ways and I wonder what it will be like when those duties are done and she finds some time on her hands. We have already started filling her time with baseball and softball games, so we will try very hard to keep her happy, healthy and well. Looking forward to seeing you in the fall!

Rebecca got her license today...I'm not sure I'll recognize her when (if) we ever see her again.

Love you all, Susan

Dear cousin Charles,

Your most welcome thoughtful kind letter come Wednesday. I was sure happy to hear from you. I feel sure, I had gained a cousin in you.

Speaking of a brother Harry - when my father was 9 years old he went to live with his grandfather William and his wife, Louisa Klink Brugh at Leiters Ford, Fulton Co, Ind, in 1892 for four years. While there he become friends of a second cousin Harry Brugh. I am named after him. Around 25 years ago he called on my father when he lived in the country. My father was on his small farm then. My mother answered the door. He said "I'm Harry Brugh." My mother started to get mad. She thought he was making fun of me. Everything was all right when she learned he was really Harry Brugh. He was a large farmer in Fulton Co., Ind. He own 500 acres.

My father said his Grandfather Brugh was a well built man - like a football player. His grandmother Brugh was a small woman. {His?/My} father Charles Christian Brugh was a small man. He was born Sept 6, 1861 and died July 22, 1953. Married Fannie Sharp, born Feb 12 1866 & died Nov 8, 1944. They married 1882 & divorced 1892. He married a second time to Hattie Meador, born 1876. She also divorced him.

Some of this is confusing, i.e. he spoke of his father as Charles Christian Brugh and later as William Wilson Brugh. Dates lead me to think ~~that~~ Charles Christian was the father of William Wilson - This was Wi. Harry's father. Maybe you have more information

I hope this will help you some - but I am still wondering where George 1814 comes in too.

Dear Rev. Brugh;

I hardy know how to start this letter. The real true is, I am interested in tracing the Brugh family tree. I have been writing Mrs W. F. (Vista Brugh) Robinson of Nace, Va. Who is interested in tracing the Brugh family tree. Now she have me interested in tracing the Brugh family tree too.

A few weeks a go. I talk with my Grandfather Charles C. Brugh. He 88 years old. To see if he could help me out on tracing the family tree. He told me his father name was William Brugh. But he didn't know his grandfather Brugh giving name. His father never talk about his father. But he talk about 4 older brothers Samuel, John, Joe and Francis. They were all farmers. But Joe. Who was a blacksmith. William Brugh was born ~~at~~ [illegible] Flat Rock, Seneca County, Ohio. Around 1820 to 1825. His [illegible] parents came from Canada to Flat Rock. William Brugh with his brothers Samuel, John and Joe move to Indiana. Francis stay in Ohio. William move to Angola, Ind. then to Salem, Ind and last at Leiters Ford, Fulton County, Ind. Grandpa Brugh talk with a granddaughter of Samuel Brugh Grandpa Uncle Samuel and She spell her name Brough. I'll hear the Ohio Brughs Spell their name Brough.

I wrote Mrs. Robinson later. This is what she wrote. Leander Brugh is the eldest of 12 Children of George Brugh who with his family settled in Steuben County, Ind in 1847. George Brugh was born in Pennsylvania in 1814 And when a boy. moved to Columbiana County, Ohio and thence to Seneca County Ohio. Where he married Catherine Clemens, Also a native of Pennsylvania. In 1847 he Came to Steuben County, Ind, with a brother in law William Clemens. Who return to Ohio. Mr. Brugh bought 80 acres on section 16 Pleasant twp. A younger brother William settled in Angola, Steuben County, Ind. Then moved to Salem twp, Steuben County, Ind and 10 years later to Fulton County, Ind.

George Brugh younger brother William sound like my Great Grand father Brugh Mrs Robinson speak of. But George Brugh

Came from Pennsylvania instead of Canada As Grandpa spoke of. William Brugh could has other brothers and sisters. he didn't talk about. he never talk of his parents.

Mrs Robinson speak of 200 at their Brugh reunion last year. Her greatgrand father Daniel Brugh father came across from Germany landed in Philadelphia, Pa. Sept. 20, 1743. Name Hermanus Bruch. Now spell Brugh. She haves records of other Brughs comming from Germany and England too. She speak of the Brughs spelling their name Brough and Bruch. All being relative.

I wrote the County Clerk of Seneca County To see if I could find out about my great grandfather William Brugh. When he was born. When he was married. Who his parents was and where they came from. I got a letter from the Probate judge. Telling me their records on births and deaths go back to 1867 and marriages back to 1841. they sent me your name and address that you might be able to give me some information about the Brugh family. I appreciated it if you could, and out we are cousins + I am 40 years old.

Yours truly,
Harry Brugh

Letter from Charles William Brugh to Harry Brugh

Tiffin, Ohio, 25 1950

Mr. Harry Brugh,
~~RFD~~ 436 N. Main St.,
Charlotte, Mich.

Dear Mr. Brugh,

Your inquiry of March 31 involves a big undertaking. I have had some correspondence with Mrs. Vista Robison of Nace, Va. some years ago. Have been invited to reunions but never have had the means or ~~some~~ time to go.

I am 86 years old. I was born in Somerset Co. Pa.. My father was Joseph Brugh. His father was born further east, probably York Co. Pa. He had 10 or 11 brothers and three sisters. He, Joseph, was the youngest of the family. Grand father was agreat horseman. His sons were all teamsters hauling freight from the east on through to the west. Father, being the youngest, did not go on the roads much but run the Brugh farm mid-way between Lavansville and Bakersville, Somerset Co. Pa where he, grandfather, and his young bride settled in 1806 and cleared the land, and brought up their family. He had a hotel and large stables where he accomedated many teamsters, in addition to running his farm and teaming. . He had four large stalions and after the season he drove them together as a four-horse team.

Father had four children; Perry, Harry, Anna and Charles. Charles, the writer of this letter, Taught school, then graduated from Heidelberg College, Tiffin, O. and the Theological Seminatu, Lancaster, Pa. Both schools for the Reformen Church in the U.S.A. Since then we united with the Evangelical church of north Anerica and are now knowen as the E& & R. church. I have been very active as pastor of rural churches, City Missionary about 19 years and as Evangelist for Ohio Synod 16 years, Then Treas. for six years.. I am now retired from Pulpit work but still active in Christian wor.

Tiffin is the county seat of Seneca Co. I have never heard of any Brughs in or about Flat Rock.

There are Brughs south of Culver, Ind. Where the Military Institution is situated knowen as Culver Institute. I held evangelistic meetings at Culver and was taken to see a few of the Brugh people south of there but we did not know enough of our families to to be able to setablish relationship.

I have been told there are a lot of Brughs in Bedford Co. Pa and on east from there.

My parents, brothers and sisters are all gone. I am the only one left.

I spent 15 years ø in Detroit, Mich. as pastor. Conducted 3 County Local Option campaigns and all three votrd dry. (in Mich.) had LOTS OF FUN in that work. 25 degrees below zero at times in dry winter weather.

I have been told there are a lot of Brughs in Bedford Co. Pa. and on east from there.

My parents, brothers and sister are gone and I na the only one of our family left.

I conducted evangelistic meetings in N. E. part of Indiana around Angola. There I met a Mrs. .... who when I gave my name as Rev. C. W. Brugh, of Detroit, Mich. invited me in and asked about a brother of hers who had been pastor of a Methodist Episcopal church in Detroit. I had met him but he was there only a year or so and I knew no more about him.

I also conducted evangelistic meetings at Leiters Ford, Ind. That is the same field I spoke of south of Culver Ind. I could not think of the name of the place when I wrote of it. The one I interviewed longest was a blacksmith. The others were farmers. One girl was wife of the village storekeeper.- quite a respectable store. She and her husband were active in church but I was told the rest were not much interested in church.

My uncle Abe Brugh, Mt. Pleasant, Pa, (Westmorland Co.) had a son George who had some children. As I recall, one of them moved to eacter Ohio. But I know nothing more of them.

Uncle John Brugh, I visited in Cleveland. He had sons and daughters but I have no acquaintance with any of them.

Uncle Andy lived in Greensburg, Westmoreland Co. Pa. Had a family of girls but I have not kept in touch with the,.

The name has been spelled Bruch, Brough and Brugh. A superintendent of one of our Orphan Homes in Pa. spelled his name Prugh. But he told me that he understood that it was formerly spelled Brugh. His brothers son is a professer at our Heidelberg College here in Tiffin. They claim the name was originally spelled Brugh.

You did not give your age. Uncle Abe Brugh's son George was 5, 10 or more years older than I was when I met him at Mt. Pleasant, Pa. He was the oldest son of Uncle's family. If he had a brother William, he, if living, would likely be between 80 and 90 old now.

I have just read your letter again and your last sentence is "I am 40 years old." You may make your own guess as to how closely you and I are related. You have the advantage of me in being in the prime of life and I wish you the best of health, prosperity and outlook for the FUTURE.

Yours truly,

C. W. Brugh,
1001 S. Washington St.,
Tiffin, Ohio.

Charles William Brugh -

Dear Virginia and Everett,

Thank you for the information. I think you remembered very well. I'm sorry you had such a short deadline - I was a little stunned when Larry Brough's letter came, and it took me a while to think what all I needed to do. Fortunately, Aunt Lurah suggested some people to contact. I have enclosed 3 articles that I have put together with your information and will send to Larry to use in a possible supplement to his book. If you find any typos or anything you want to change, you can make notes on these sheets. If there is anything you would prefer to have left out, note that, too.

You didn't send the names of Virginia's parents - that would make a nice addition to the article on your family. I wasn't sure which branch of the armed forces Everett was in, so I made the statement generic. All of these articles are in the computer, so it is no trouble to change them.

We live not too far south of Caruso's. Maybe I will run into Connie one of these days.

Gratefully yours,

Carolyn

Carolyn, Hello, it's Jerry Brugh. This is just a note to let you know that you have what I believe to be "malware" in your email. I and others I know have had it. As near as I can tell it just spews out spam like the one from you below. My computer uses Windows 7 as it's operating system and I found that though I have an antivirus program it does not find or stop it. I did find that running the program Microsoft Safety Scanner stops it. link:
http://www.microsoft.com/security/scanner/en-us/default.aspx
I suspect the Safety Scanner works for Windows 7 & 8 but if you have the older Windows XP you may have to use the Microsoft Windows Malicious Software Removal Tool , which I've had little experience with. See link:
http://support.microsoft.com/kb/890830
Both of these are Windows Microsoft Products and are safe to download. If I can help you with

Subject: Brugh family

Carolyn, I apologize for my slow response to you. It's not an excuse but between chasing down cemetery plots for "Find A Grave.com" and my back being out I've not been on the computer as much as usual. I'll warn you that I'm about to make up for lost time here. I just yesterday had a revelation where you are concerned. I was marveling at the thought that a year or so ago I new precious little about the Brugh family and now I've participated in the Brugh DNA project and best of all, I have discovered cousins I never new I had. The first of which was Richard Brugh of Lansing, MI that called me asking if I new "where his Uncle Glen Brugh was buried ? " I said, I was just a young boy eight years old in 1956 when Grandpa Glen died but I remembered going to the funeral and graveside service (1956) and would be glad to show him. A short time later he came to Traverse City and we drove to the village of Lake Ann and Green Briar Cemetery where Glen and his first wife are buried. On the way back to town I told Richard how little I new of the Brugh family. My father Edgar didn't speak of it much. "Well" he said, "lets stop at my sister Norma's on the way home, I think she can shed some light on the subject." I know you know his sister Norma Bathke because I have a copy of the correspondence you had with her in a letter dated, December, 2001 (find attached for ref.) That shows me that you've been at this family history stuff for awhile. It also showed me that you live in Brugh country (Angola, IN), or at least did at that time. Norma, whom I never met before this, showed me a little 3"X 5" spiral notebook with more family history documented in it then I ever imagined existed. The first thing I read, explained everything to me as to why my Dad never spoke much about family. It showed that Grandpa Glen had been married five times and that my Grandma was the second wife. They had been married only eight years when they divorced. Any of the families that came before or after were immaterial to him and his full brother Donald. Norma let me borrow this little notebook and I brought it home and copied it to my computer. It is probably redundant info. to you but let me know if you would like a "zip file" copy of it emailed to you. I met Melissa quite by accident as a result of our mutual use of the Find A Grave site.

Did John Skillman explain that the Brugh DNA project had been merged with the Brugh Bruch, DNA project and now shares administrative duties with Jeffery Bassett? If not, let me know because he can add a lot to the big picture. He just sent me 85 pages of material I can share with you as long as you don't publish it publically.

Two things before I give it up; Did Larry B. Brough ever publish a book or booklet and if so, how can I get one?

Do you have or know where I can get a picture (any condition) of Grandpa George Brugh? I have a picture of Catherine.

I am attaching a couple of crude old grainy photos that I got from Melissa and she from Lurah I think. I don't think anyone would mind as long as we don't publish them publically. The picture of Grandpa and Grandma William and Emma Brugh I took myself. They are buried here in Traverse City at Oakwood Cemetery about a mile and a half from my house. Good to hear from you, stay in touch and please feel free to write often. Sharing notes and getting acquainted with each other should be fun. Jerry

Thank you for "introducing" me to John Skillman. I lost touch with Melissa Doss several years ago, so I didn't know what was going on with the Michigan part of the family. I had visited Fulton County, Indiana, where I met a member of the Brugh family. For some reason, when the Brughs came to Indiana, George was the only one who stayed in Steuben County, while Michel and the rest of them settled in Fulton Co. George's brother, Simon, stayed in Ohio. Simon and his descendants spelled the name Brough and pronounced it "Bruff." I got acquainted with Simon's descendant, Larry Brough, through the Fulton Co., family. Larry had traced the family back to Petri in Germany. I have sent him email about the DNA project; I'm sure he will find it interesting, too.

Aunt Lurah spent a lot of time trying to make a connection with the Hermanus Bruch family - too bad computers and the Internet weren't available for her then. One of her grandsons did give her a laptop, and she made use of it to research until just a few years ago.

Early Years of Bros. Edgar M. & Donald L. Brugh

Information gathered from Avis Fisher / Wolfe 2010 by Jerry L. Brugh

Dorothy Agnes Fisher Married the son of William and Emma L. McBride / Brugh, Glen Azzel April 15th 1913 in Maple City, Leelanau County, Michigan. Dorothy was Glen's second marriage of five. His first wife Ella L. Brooks passed away 30 May 1911 leaving six children. Glen and Dorothy had two sons together, Edgar Manning born 20 May 1914 and Donald Leslie born 23 July 1916. After only eight years of marriage, on 9 July 1921 they devorced. Edgar had just turned seven and Donald had just turned five years of age when they left the parental home and went with their Mother to live in a boarding house she was taking care of in the small town of Northport, located on the Eastern side of the Lelanau Pennensula. On the 1st of November 1924 in Northport, Dorothy now 33, got remarried to Burliegh Fry 37. Burleigh worked for the owners of a farm on Omena Point and in White Hall Illinois. At some point Burliegh convinced Dorothy to move back to White Hall, Illinois where he was from. Edgar would have been about 10 and Donald would have been about 8 when their Mother remarried. It isn't known at what point in time Dorothy and Burliegh decided to go to Illinois, but the boys didn't want to go along, so Edgar went to live with his widowed (Anna Wilhelmina Mahn / Fisher b. 20 Aug 1862 N.Y. d. 28 Mar 1927) Grandpa Russel Erastus Newton Fisher (b. 3 Mar 1855 Harmony, Chautauqua Co. Edgar went to High School in Northport and Graduated in the Class of 1932. He married 11 Jan 1934 at age 20 to Iris E. Priest of Lake Leelanau. In Traverse City, they raised two sons, Lon Edgar (22 Jun 1939) and Jerry Lee (b. 8 Sep 1948). On 7 Feb 1939 Donald Leslie 23, married Marie T. Denoyer

Subject: 85 Pages of Material

Jeff, I'd like to introduce two of our Brugh Family cousins, Carolyn Cripe and Melissa Doss. The three of us have not known of one another's existence very long and are just now beginning to compare what we think we share in a common family history. I believe the closest ancestor that the Ladies and I share is our Great Grand Parents, William and Emma McBride Brugh from Steuben Co.,Indiana who homesteaded in Oviatt, Benzie Co. Michigan in 1882 and lived out their lives in Traverse City, Michigan. Carolyn lives near Angola, Steuben Co. IN and Melissa lives here in Lansing Michigan and I live in Traverse City, MI. Ironically a mile and a half from Wm. & Emma's graves my whole life and didn't know it.
I believe both these Ladies will bring some new information and perspectives to the family here to for not explored.
Ladies, Jeff is the administrator of the Bassett DNA Project which has recently merged with the Brugh / Bruch DNA project administered by John Skillman, making our data base considerably larger and more accurate, the result of many more participants.To give credit where credit is due, the information contained below is from Jeff's work efforts.

Carolyn & Melissa, If you have corrections to the information below from Jeff Bassett, please send it to him directly. I would also like to stay up to date, so if you'd be so kind as to CC me, so I can "stay in the loop. " For the record, I am a 37 out of 37 point DNA match with Jeff. We can't get much closer without being brothers. This means you ladies should be very closely related to him as well. I hope I got my facts straight here. Feel free to correct any miss statements and I apologize in advance.   Thank Kindly,
Jerry L. Brugh

Subject: Bruch Family Update

I have spent the past three months updating the Bruch/Brugh family history. Below is my current working copy. Corrections/Additions/Updates are welcome.

I am especially interested in finding the link between the family of Peter Bruch and Adam Bruch to our larger Bruch line. DNA testing on the Peter Bruch family shows a common ancestor to Mathias Bruch.

"Feel free to share with family members, but please don't post any of the material online as the material includes living family members with their details.

Please included my contact information so that if anyone has any updates they can forward them to me.
Jeffrey Bassett" This quoted from an email to me, from Jeff Bassett dated 4/22/11 re; Protocol for use of his material. Jerry

BROUGH - At his residence in Ballville township, on Sunday, January 17th at 7 p.m. Simon Brough, sr. aged 85 years and 1 month. Funeral services were held at Mt. Lebanon church, Tuesday, Jan. 19, at 2 p.m., conducted by Rev. Dr. Swander. Internment at cemetery adjoining church. Simon Brough was born in Northampton, Penn., December 17, 1806. He came to this county in 1827 and settled in Riley township where he resided until a few years ago. He was, indeed, a pioneer of Sandusky county and has done much to change it from a wilderness to fine farms. He has seen the broad highway take the place of the Indian trail and the "blazed" path of pale face. He was the father of fifteen children, eleven of who are living. There also are living fifty-four grandchildren and twenty give great-grandchildren.

Wood County, Ohio History

SIMON BROUGH, a representative farmer. of Troy township, is finely located in Section 1, where he is maintaining his place among the progressive and intelligent men around him, engaged in farming. His birth occurred in Sandusky county, Ohio, in 1858, and he is a son of George and Catherine (Shoemaker) Brough, the former a native of Pennsylvania, and the latter of Germany. The father was reared in Pennsylvania, and when a young man came with his father, Simon Brough, to Sandusky county, where the latter died. In that county was celebrated the marriage of the parents of our subject, the mother having located there at about the age of ten years. In 1866 they became residents of Wood county, and the father passed away March 14, 1884, at Pemberville. His widow is still living, and now makes her home at Bowling Green. The parental household included five children Simon, of this sketch; Frank, a resident of Locust Point, Ottawa Co., Ohio; Jane, now Mrs. Sweet, of Bowling Green; Charley, who lives in Coldwater, Mich.; and Mrs. Cora Davis, of Toledo, Ohio.

Mr. Brough, of this review, was eight years of age when the family located upon a farm in Troy township, and there became familiar with agricultural pursuits, which occupation he has made his life work. He was married in that township in December, 1892, the lady of his choice being Miss Anna Hintz, daughter of Fred Hintz, of Lake township, Wood county, and they have become the parents of two children-Otto and Ernest.

In politics, Mr. Brough is an uncompromising Democrat, and is an energetic, wide-awake citizen, keenly alive to the interests of his township and county, and ready to meet and aid any scheme for their benefit. His public spiritedness and unquestioned integrity make him a desirable citizen.

Leander Brugh is the eldest of twelve children of George Brugh, who with his family settled in Steuben County in 1847. George Brugh was born in Pennsylvania in 1814 and when a boy moved to Columbiana County, and thence to Seneca County, where he married Catherine Clemens, also a native of Pennsylvania. In the fall of 1847 he came to Steuben County with a brother-in-law, William Clemens, who returned to Ohio. He was killed in the *Ashtabula Bridge Disaster, on the Lake Shore Railroad, in December, 1876. Mr. Brugh bought eighty acres of land on section 16, Pleasant Township. He returned to Ohio and the following spring moved with his family to this county and located on his land. They came with teams and were accompanied by several other families, none of whom settled in Steuben County except his younger brother, William, who settled in Angola, where he lived a number of years, then moved to Salem Township and thence ten years later to Fulton County, Ind. Mr. Brugh erected a log house on his land and remained in Pleasant Township till 1852, when he moved to Salem Township and settled on section 2, where he remained till his death in 1856. His wife is living in Hudson. Leander Brugh was born in Seneca County, Ohio, in 1839, and has been a resident of Steuben County since 1848. He has always engaged in agricultural pursuits and has lived on his present farm since 1865. The part of Hudson that is in Salem Township is a part of his original farm. He platted and was the proprietor of that part of the village. He is one of the well-known, public-spirited citizens of Steuben County, and the success of Hudson is due, to a large extent, to his enterprise. In the summer of 1878 he built his fine brick residence, which is a model of neatness and architectural beauty. Mr. Brugh was married in 1862 to Susan Smith, a daughter of Daniel Smith. They have had five children-- Ginevra, Ortha, Byron (deceased), Avery and Hurma, the eldest of whom is married to Sumner Bixler, a practical druggist of Angola.

William Bruch

William Bruch was born on November 23, 1839 in Wind Gap, Pennsylvania. Wind Gap is in Northampton County. As a young man, William lived with his Uncle David Metz and worked as a laborer. In 1862 he and four of his brothers enlisted in the 153rd Pennsylvania Volunteers. The unit saw action at Chancellorsville and at Gettysburg. During the Battle of Gettysburg the 153rd was commanded by Major John F. Frueauff. The unit was attached to the First Brigade of the First Division in the Eleventh Army Corps. The Corps was commanded by Major General Oliver O. Howard and the First Brigade was lead by Colonel Leopold von Gilsa. William was wounded at Gettysburg on July 2, 1863. He was hit in the shoulder by a minie ball. The ball was removed by an army surgeon at a field hospital, but William went home to see his own doctor and recuperate. He was discharged on the 24th of July 1863.

Two years after his discharge, on July 29, 1865, William married Eliza Sophia Andre or Andrew. Both version of her last name have been used on documents and I still do not know which is correct. Her parents were Leonard Andre or Andrew and Sarah Young and lived in the same township as William's family. William and Sophia were married in Bath, Pennsylvania by the Reverend Isaiah E. Knerr. Their first child, Naomi, was born on April 27, 1867. During 1868 or 1869 the family moved to Louisa County, Iowa. Their second daughter, Nettie, was born on June 26, 1869.

The family moved several times after arriving in Iowa. In 1871 Naomi died. Charles Sylvester was born on September 2, 1873 in Lisbon, Iowa. Morris Franklin was born on April 14, 1875. Another daughter, Mary Alice, was born on January 1, 1880. She died on march 12, 1880. By 1881 the family had settled near Blairstown, Iowa and bought a farm. On March 26, 1882 their last child, George William, was born.

In 1899 William and Sophia moved into Blairstown. I assume they left their sons to run the farm. Sometime before 1894, Nettie married Samuel Rieke. They had give children. Charles Sylvester married Wilhelmina Margaret Meoller on January 17, 1900. Charles and Wilhelmina had three children and are discussed in the next section. Morris Franklin was married to Sara Elva Tague on the 28th of September 1904. Their family included four children. The other son, George William, married Sadie Heath.

July 29, 1915 was a Golden Anniversary for William and Sophia. Their children gave them and engraved silver cup.

Eliza Sophia died on September 20, 1918. She is buried in the Pleasant Hill Cemetery in Blairstown. After Eliza Sophia's death, William lived with his son Morris Franklin. At the age of seventy-nine, on July 15, 1919, William died. He is buried with his wife in Pleasant Hill Cemetery.

OBITUARY OF MRS. WM. BRUCH

Eliza Sophia Bruch was born in Northampton county, Penn., Oct. 12, 1840, and peacefully and quietly went home to her God at her home in Blairstown, Sept. 20, 1918, aged 77 years, 11 months and 8 days.

She spent her girlhood days in Northampton county at the home of her parents. From earliest childhood she attended the Evangelical church. What a remarkable record.

On July 29, 1865 she was married to Wm. Bruch, who had just returned with his regiment from the Civil war. Mr. and Mrs. Bruch spent three years in Pennsylvania and they moved to Iowa in April 1868. They lived in Louisa county one year, Linn county two years, and then moved to Jones county, remaining there until 1881, whereupon they moved to the Bruch homestead near Blairstown in Benton county. Here they remained until the year 1900. They built a beautiful and comfortable home in Blairstown and spent the last 18 years.

Six children blessed this union. Two daughters preceded their mother in death: Naomi died at the age of 4, and Mary Alice died in infancy.

Four children and their families mourn the departure of this worthy mother. They are, Mrs. Sam Rieke of Van Horne, Has. Bruch, Morris Bruch, and George Bruch. Also 11 grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. M.J. Miller, the wife of the late Rev. M.J. Miller, all of whom were present at the funeral. One brother, Levi Andrew, was not present.

Ten years ago Mrs. Bruch suffered a stroke of paralysis and since that time had not been well. She was devoted mother, a sincere christian and a blessing to her many neighbors and friends. In spite of much suffering and pain she never murmured but sweetly trusted in her Lord and Master.

Three years ago Mr. and Mrs. Bruch celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary. Such a rare privilege is enjoyed only by a few.

The funeral services were held in the Calvary Evangelical church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Clinton F. Smith. He was assisted by his father, Lewis F. Smith of Van Horne.

The pall bearers were, Maurice, Chas., and George Bruch, Sam Rieke, sons and son-in-law of the deceased; Robert Sayers and Chas. Rieke. Those attending the funeral from out of town were Mrs. M.J. Miller and daughter Josie, of La Porte City, sister and niece of the deceased; Mrs. Amanda Gish of Lisbon; Mrs. and Mrs. Wm. Miller of Independence; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Frantz, Mrs. Geo. Schlotfelt and David Schlotfelt of Cedar Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rieke of Van Horne, and Mr. and Mrs. L.G. Case and daughter Fay of Belle Plaine.

Charles Sylvester Bruch

Charles Sylvester Bruch, Charlie, was part of the first generation of Bruchs born in Iowa. He was born in Lisbon, Iowa, on September 2, 1873. Like his father William, he had brown hair and brown eyes. On January 17, 1900 Charles married Wilhelmina Margaret Moeller. Wilhelmina's nickname was Minnie. Minnie's father immigrated from Germany with his parents in 1845.

Charlie and Minnie's first child, Daniel William, was born on February 10, 1901. Rolland Charles, or Rolland Charlie, was born on September 15, 1903. A daughter, Ada Marie, was born on July 17, 1909. All the children were born on the family farm near Blairstown, Iowa.

Charlie, like most Iowa farmers, specialized in perfecting his seed corn. His seed corn variety won a trophy at a county fair. The trophy was given to his grandson, Charles Frederick. Charlie was able to keep the trophy because he had won it twice.

On July 7, 1924 Daniel married Gertrude Louise Gearnhart. Rolland's first wife was Blanche Hevner. Rolland married again on August 5, 1933. His second wife was Dorothy Ferguson. Ada Marie married Duane Kinzenbaw on December 5, 1936.

Charlie died on March 25, 1942 and Minnie followed the next year on February 28th. They are both buried in Pleasant Hill Cemetery in Blairstown, Iowa.

THE PROUGH FAMILY IN HAMILTON

Narrator: John Prough, 71, of Hamilton, Missouri

Early Prough Life in Hamilton

Baptist Church Leaders

Meat Markets and Ice Men

John Prough was born 1857 in Stark County Ohio. He was the son of Jacob Prough and Mary Wachler. Jacob was from a Pennsylvania Dutch settlement, and the family had been in America a long time, yet they spoke little English. The Wachlers were in an Ohio German settlement and they also spoke German. Hence the Prough family here usually spoke German at home and the elder Prough had a decided German tongue.

Jacob Prough came to Daviess County 1870 and brought what is now the Alden place. He became angered when the section line road was not run by his farm, so he sold it and went to Indiana. In 1876 he came to Caldwell County locating at Hamilton. He bought the present Blevins home in the west end of town for his home and slaughter yard, and set up a butcher shop on south Main. His store was a two-story frame where the John Bennett produce store now stands. The Prough family afterwards lived above the store. Most of the frames then on Main Street were one story with a "false front" extending to a height of two stories. To the north of Prough's meat market was Seth Young's law office, on the south was Grigsby's Hardware, Jewelry and Fence store.

Later, Jacob Prough moved his shop to Dr. King's building-north Main, the present site of the Missouri Store. A third site was in Tom Hare's building east of (present) Chet Martin grocery. Butcher shops those days used a Stevens ice box to keep meat fresh. They having the quarters on hooks for a day or so to get rid of the animal heat and save the ice. Then they were stored in the ice box for four days to ripen before selling.

Ice was put up in winter from ponds and packed in ice houses in saw dust. A warm winter was dreaded by ice men who often were butchers. Ice was very cheap and delivered by being thrown (brown with sawdust) in the front yard.

John Prough worked for his father and also for Lievan another butcher. He was paid $20 to $25 a month. He recalled when Mrs. Lievan hanged herself in the barn of the Lievan home. They were then living on the farm just north of John Prough's present home.

John Prough became a Baptist and was immersed in Marrowbone. Another baptizing place much used then was Nettleton. Baptist leaders of the late seventies at Hamilton were: Deacon Edminster and son Jack, Goddards, Clarksons, R.F. Whitman, of course the Penny family, E. Lawrence, Mrs. Van Note, Griffin and Kingsbury.

Interviewed June 1934.

Subject: Brugh DNA Project

Hello Carolyn,

Jerry Brugh forwarded an email to me indicating that you have an interest in the Brugh DNA Project. The best way to learn about the project is to read the four explanatory pages on our website under the drop-down menu "About this Group." Our website can be viewed at http://www.familytreedna.com/public/brughdnaproject/default.aspx However, I'll tell you a bit about it first.

I created the Brugh DNA Project last August, because my paternal grandfather married a Brugh descendant. It is a surname project to link the Y-chromosome DNA of anyone with the Brugh, Bruch, and variant surname. I chose Family tree DNA, which is the first and largest of the genealogical DNA testing companies, located in Houston, TX. I also run a surname project for my Skillman surname, and there are more than 6000 different surname projects at Family Tree DNA. I should point out that Y-chromosome DNA is carried by the male surname line from father to son to son and so on down to the person being tested. Unfortunately, females do not carry the Y-chromosome, so you would need to ask your father, brother, or male Brugh cousin to test on your behalf. The 37 marker test (the one I recommend) is $149 at Family Tree DNA through the Brugh DNA Project.

To understand more about the use of DNA to prove conventionally researched genealogical lineage, go to the Family Tree DNA website at www.familytreedna.com. Let me know if you have further questions and I would be glad to answer them for you. And I do hope that you can find a closely related Brugh male to test for you, but if that person is also closely related to Jerry Brugh (1st or 2nd cousin), there is a strong likelihood that he will have the same Y-DNA, so the expense may not be warranted.

Regards,

John Skillman

PSI IOTA XI NOTES.

JULIA A. GREENO.

Was born in Seneca county, Ohio, July 18, 1840, and passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lillie V. Wyrick, at Ashley, Indiana, December 27, 1919, aged 79 years, 5 months and 9 days.

She was one of a family of twelve, four of whom survive her; namely, William Brugh, of Traverse City, Mich.; George Brugh, of Auburn, Indiana; Mrs. Mary Hagaman, of Hillsdale, Mich., and Mrs. Katherine Kistler, of Bellevue, Ohio. She also leaves behind one daughter, Mrs. Lillie V. Wyrick, of Ashley, Ind.; two grandsons—S. Ralph Wyrick, of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Arlo E. Wyrick, of Washington, D. C., and three great grandchildren—Ralph Duane, Louise and Billy Wyrick, of Fort Wayne.

About the year 1845, Julia A. Brugh moved with her parents to Steuben county, Indiana. She was joined in marriage with William VanCleve February 29, 1860, and this union was blessed with two daughters, Lillie V. and Flora Belle, the latter having preceded her mother to the great beyond in 1889. William VanCleve gave up his life in the defense of his country at Lookout Mountain, Chattanooga, Tennessee, December 14, 1864.

The deceased was again united in marriage October 1, 1874, this time with Joseph M. Greeno, who departed this life November 11, 1910.

Early in life she became a Christian and her faith was a great comfort to her in the quiet of her declining years. The end came in a peaceful sleep.

Funeral services were conducted from the Church of Christ, Ashley, Indiana, December 30, 1919, Elder M. O. Johnston, of Stroh, officiating.

RAYMOND J. GREENAMYER,

Son of John and Rosa Greenamyer, was born near Fremont, Ind., September 12, 1918, and died at the same place Dec. 22, 1919, aged one year, 3 months and 10 days. Raymond was a sweet child, the pet of the home and always had a smile for everyone. For the last ten days the little one suffered intensely, but with remarkable patience. Every thing possible was done to save the dear child, but to no avail, and the parents are comforted with the fact that the child is safe in the arms of Jesus.

Raymond leaves to mourn his untimely death, father, mother, three brothers, Byrle, Earle and Jesse Lee, one sister Bertha, a grandmother and other relatives and friends. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. F. E. Brewster.

WILLIAM W. WYRICK.

Was born in DeKalb county, Indiana, August 20, 1854, and departed this life December 22, 1919, at St. Joseph hospital, Fort Wayne, Indiana, aged 65 years, 4 months and 2 days.

His youth was spent on a farm. In early manhood, he attended high school at Waterloo, Auburn and Angola, and Tri-State college at Angola, later teaching several terms. It was during this time that he identified himself with the Disciples of Christ and from that date until his death, his whole life was devoted to the furtherance of Christ's kingdom on earth and the cause of right, without compromise.

The deceased was united in marriage with Miss Lillie VanCleve October 3, 1882, and to this union were born two sons—S. Ralph, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and Arlo E., of Washington, D. C. Surviving are the widow, two sons, three grandchildren three brothers, three sister and a

RETURNING RAILROADS, UNSCRAMBLING EGGS

WITTY TRAVESTY OF GRIDIRON CLUB HAS POINTED LESSON.

Problem That Administration Could Not Handle is Put up to Congress as a Bad Job.

The matter of returning the railroads of the country back to their owners from government war-time supervision is the one greatest problem that confronts congress, President Wilson having freely admitted that he does not know how it is to be accomplished, and he does not admit having any faith in the ability of the administration departments to meet the stuation. The difficulty was demonstrated with surprising clearness by a sketch put on by the Gridiron Club, the newspapermen's organization, at its annual dinner recently held in Washington.

As is known a part of their entertainment is to put on travesties of public men and events. These things are always clever—sometimes, diabolically so. Both for amusements and for reflection it will pay every one to look over what they entitled—Unscrambling the Railroads.

"The railroad skit dealt with 'unscrambling the railroads.' The actors represented former Director General McAdoo, Director General Hines and an investor.

McAdoo—The late Mr. Morgan said that you cannot unscramble scrambled eggs. He was wrong. By the exercise of a little magic, to which we modestly lay claim, we shall illustrate how the railroads of the United States may be scrambled and then in the twinkling of an eye, as it were, and so to speak, unscrambled again. Can anyone lend me a silk hat? I shall return it promptly and entirely undamaged.

(Man steps forward with silk hat. He is Mr. Investor, a well-known citizen.)

McAdoo—I shall return it with its pristine beauty untarnished.

Investor—Please be careful. That hat represents the sale of a liberty bond.

McAdoo—Tut, tut—have no fear, —we shall not hurt it in the slightest. I shall break this egg into the hat—so—(breaks and drops egg and shell into the hat.)

Investor—Oh, my hat!

McAdoo—Tut, tut, sir. Have no fears. Trust me. Kindly turn your back. What you don't see won't annoy you. Now we take another egg and break it—so. Now we take some flour—add some coal—pour in some of this agreeable variety of ketchup —add a little sand—and finish with a dash of vinegar. Please don't groan Mr. Investor. It is all right. All these ingredients are symbolitic, gentlemen. Now we have the roads scrambled. This completes my part of the trick. I shall now pass the buck—I mean the hat—to my friend. Mr. Hines, who will, in his magic way, with a few passes, produce the beautiful rabbit known as government operation and control, and return the hat undamaged to my good friend, Mr. Investor. (Investor groans.)

Hines (looks at hat and glares at McAdoo)—I am deeply indebted to Mr. McAdoo for his trust and confidence. I wish he had finished the trick. He hates the limelight and likes to retire while the retiring is good. But to the trick gentlemen. Let me first cover the hat for esthetic and olfactory reasons. It is a little messy. (Covers hat with handkerchief, siezes wand.)

OBITUARY

Rachel Samantha Shatto, daughter of John and Margaret Leonard Shatto, was born August 10, 1834, in Deerfield township, Portage county, Ohio. She lived there about five years, then moved with her parents to Pennsylvania, Mercer county, and lived there one year. She then moved to Trumble county, Ohio, and lived there two years. Then to Stark county, Ohio and lived there six years and from there she with her parents moved to DeKalb county, Indiana, in 1850, and made their home near Cedar Lake. On Oct. 5, 1851, she was married to David A. McBride, with whom she lived until the breaking out of the civil war when the husband was called to fight for his country, from which he never returned alive. She also did what she could for her country in the way of furnishing the sanitary department at Waterloo, a great amount of articles such as bandages, pillows, etc., for the sick and deserving soldiers. To these two there were born two children, Emma L. and Mary L., the latter having died at the age of eight years. She was married the second time to Frederick Harmes on Dec. 25, 1864, with whom she lived until his death which occurred Oct. 21, 1886. To this union was born one child, Eva M., with whom she was living at the time of her death. She leaves to mourn her departure two children, namely Mrs. Emma L. Brugh, of Traverse City, Mich., and Mrs. Eva M. Triplett of Auburn, Ind. A step-son, Joel E. Harmes, of Prairie City, Ia., also a step-grandson, whom she raised from infancy and who was loved by her as her own son; also eleven grandchildren and fifteen great-grandchildren; one brother, Henry Shatto, of Mentone, Ind, and three sisters—Mrs. Loretta Sloan of Iola, Kan., Mrs. Harriet Baxter of Plymouth, Ind., and Mrs. Lavina Cole of near Warsaw, Ind.; besides a host of neighbors and friends who join in sympathy with the family.

The subject of this sketch was baptized when a young girl by Father Hadsell and united with the Church of Christ, and has been a faithful Christian all these years. Nothing kept her from church or Sunday school except some reason she could give her Saviour. On Oct. 21, 1908, she broke up housekeeping on account of the infirmities of old age and went to live with her granddaughter, Mrs. Purd High, of near Hudson, Ind., with whom she lived about eighteen months. On Dec. 29, 1910, she went to live with her daughter, where she died Nov. 15, 1912, at the age of 78 years, 3 months and 5 days Her heart was always with the church at Cedar Lake and her old home near Cedar Lake, where she had lived for over thirty years. She has been a faithful worshipper at the Stroh school house and although at first the faces there were all strange she soon made many warm friends. Her death was due to an accident from falling down cellar, in which she was very painfully injured. All was done that human hands could do but to no avail. She was ready and willing and wanted to go home, and expressed herself many times by saying that if it was God's will she was ready. She was very patient during her intense suffering. She has been a resident of DeKalb county for over sixty years, and though her life work is done, her influence will still go on and we know that she is now where there is no more sorrow or pain or homesickness or trouble of any kind. God grant that we may live as near to our Saviour as she did to hers. A short service was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eva Triplett, Sunday morning at 9 a. m. Then her friends followed her body to her old home church at Cedar Lake, where funeral services were conducted by Rev. Z. W. Shepard of Ashley, assisted by Rev. Nickerson of Auburn and Rev. Thomas, pastor at Cedar lake. She was buried at Cedar Lake cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

We, the undersigned, wish to express our thanks to the kind neighbors who assisted us in the sickness, death and burial of our dear mother and grandmother, also for the beautiful flowers and for the sympathy of her many friends.

Mrs. Emma Brugh.
Mrs. Eva Triplett.

Evansville Hospital Ind. Jan. 12th 1862

Kind Friend - I reisceved yours of the 1st & read it with much pleasure. Altho you are a stranger to me, yet it repays me for all my labor to receive the thanks of friends of our sick & deceased Soldiers. Thanks to God that some are Soldiers of the Crop as well as Soldiers of the land. My letter must be as brief as possible as my spare moments are few & I have two other letters to answer this evening./ I do not remember the date of month when your brother came to the Marine Hospital but 'twas between the 8th & 12th of Dec. he was there 18 or 20 days before he died. He was exceedingly patient & uncomplaining. he complained of his back paining him more than any thing else. I thought him better until the morning before he died he then seemed to be flighty & would talk about going to Waterloo to the Reg.mt I told him the Reg.mt was at Henderson & he said it was not & we could not make him believe it for he said he had been to Waterloo & back that morning & he saw all his friends there & the Reg.mt was there too. & he would talk when we were not by his bed as tho he was talking to his father & mother & would rise up in his bed frequently & start to crofs the room if we did not hinder him. & say he wanted to go to his father for he had come after him but we could always get him to lie down & rest I spoke to the surgeon about his being so wild & he thought perhaps his disease was broken. he would frequently speak Rachels name but I did not know who he meant until Mr. Lock told me. I asked him what he wanted of her & he said he saw you there. He continued to be in this state until he died unlefs when we sat down I talked with him a while. he would then become rational, but we did not any of us consider him dangerous until afternoon I went out to get some clothes & when I came back the Dr. met me at the door & said "I guess he will go". I asked him who & he said Shatto. I could not believe it until my husband told me of the pafsage of blood which was about 3 pints. We gave up all hopes then but sent for the Surgeon. he pronounced him lost he requested me to make some wine panada which if operated without the lof s of more blood he thought was the only hope. We did everything to keep him. I made mustard plaster for his ankles & bathed him with turpentine. I tried everything but he had another pafsage at dark just the same. We knew he was bleeding to death. I then tole him he was going to die. Says he I am...well I am willing. I am no better to die than anyone else. I am perfectly willing. I have tried to be a good boy. This is his own language word for word. He then said he wanted to see Rachel & I asked him what I should write to his parents he said "Tell them I would love to see them but cannot". little Bentz he wanted to see. When he grew so bad a great number gathered around his bed and he looked up up up says he "I wish yould go away & not get up here so near me." I asked him if he wanted we should all go away & he said "No not now I want you to stay here but what makes them folks come & look at me so?" I told him he was dying & they wanted to see him once more. He suffered no pain after he commenced bleeding. He lingered along until next morning which was Sunday morning & died without one struggle. The Dr. says "The Lord giveth & the Lord taketh away" He was a good and noble boy but has gone to a better world where I hope we will all meet him. I get along well. My husband is now at Calhoun but I expect him on every Boat. I must close by thanking you for your kind letter & hope you will write again direct as you did before. I received one from your father last week also no more but remain your friend Mrs. Eliza S. Burch

I am well except a hard cold which I took a week ago last Saturday when it snowed all day and we had to sleep on the ground. but we have been comfortable at Burnside Barracks where we have good houses with floors and stoves and comfortable places to sleep we expect to winter here although there is some talk of sending us down to Madison on the Ohio river but that is all guess work. I think.

Yesterday was Sunday and it was the first day we spent in the place and I will try to tell you how it was spent at 6 oclock we was awakened by canon and then had 15 minutes to dress and wash and get ready for roll call and after that we had breakfast an than drill an hour and then the rest of the day was spent in all manner of imployment but the majority of the men enagaged in playing cards. They were drafted men one of them was shot with two balls in the breast and died the next morning the other was alive the last I heard of them there was two recruiting officers got into a fight the other Friday and one of them Struck the other with a knife in four places and let his guts out the last time he Struck him. the drafted men that did not volunteer is still in Camp Sullivan and I would rather be in a penitentary than there we have better fare and more of it and are comfortably situated. Colorful envelope front, "Union" with a maiden, flag and cannon and picture (Geo. Washington?) ribbon below "Liberty's Defenders" Postmarked Henderson, Ky. Jan. 29, 1863

This was found with the poem about slavery, signed by David A. McBride. The envelope is dated 11 days after his death. Was it found and mailed by someone else after his death? Envelope is addressed to Mrs. Rachael Mickbride, Waterlo, Dekalbe Co. Indiana. (note misspellings)

His name has gone throughout the world/ Free labor soil and men/ But slaves had better far be hurled/ Into the Lions den. / Fare you well Ohio I'm not safe in thee / I'll travel on to Canada where colored man is free/ I'm now embarked for yonder shore/ Where men are men by law/ The vessel soon will bear me ore/ To shake the lions paw/ I no more fear the auctioneer/ Nor dread my masters frown/ I no more tremble when I hear the baying negro hound/ Old master dont think hard of me / I'm just in sight of Canada where colored men are free/ I'm landed safe upon that shore/ Both sole and body free/ My blood and sweat and tears no more/ Shall drench old tennasee/

Look bhold the scalding tears/ Is streaming from my eyes/ To think my wife my own dear wife/ A slave must live and die/ Oh Susannah O don't you cry for me/ Forever at a throne of grace I will remember thee

Dear Bro. Goodwin: It becomes my painful duty to record the death of our belived brother, DAVID A. McBRIDE, who died Jan. 19th, 1863, on the steamer Die Vernon, on the Mississippi river, aged 30 years, 5 months and 27 days. He obeyed the gospel in the fall of 1849, united with the Church at Revena, Portage Co. Ohio; removed to DeKalb co., Ind., the same fall, where he has held his membership ever since. He was also chosen by the brethren as Deacon of the Church, in the place where he lived, and was faithful to his trust. He was drafted the 6th of Oct. last, went to Indianapolis, and volunteered to serve 12 months in the 54th regiment Ind. Vols. May the God of all grace have mercy on his dear companion and two dear children that he leaves to journ his loss, and on his aged father and mother, who are left to mourn the loss of a dear son. But they need not mourn as those that have no hope, but with the assurance that he shall rise in the last day to walk the golden streets of the New Jerusalem, to sing the song that angels cannot sing--redeemed by the blood of Christ.

MRS. LAVINE RITTER

"Mrs. Lavine Ritter, who died at her home on South Wayne street Wednesday morning, May 26, 1926, was born in Steuben township, Indiana, May 28, 1865. At the time of her death she had reached the age of 60 years, 11 months and 28 days.

She was the daughter of Jonas and Magdalina Mountz, both of whom have preceeded her in death.

She was united in marriage to Levi Ritter, September 11, 1881. To this union were born four children -- Zena Maud, who died in infancy; Mrs. Genieve Warring, of Jackson township; Bart S., and Harry L. Ritter, of Angola, who with her devoted husband survive.

In early life the deceased united with the United Brethren church at Mt. Zion. In 1920 she transferred her membership to the Methodist Episcopal church of Angloa, and remained a faithful and true member until her death. She was member of the Ever Ready class of the Sunday school and of the Martha and Dorcas Ladies' Aid societies and also a member of the Ladies' Auxilary of the American Legion.

Mrs. Ritter was devoted to her home, loyal to her husband and true in her friendships and highly respected by all who knew her. She loved the fellowship of God's people and when her health permitted was a faithful attendant to all the services of the church. As the end came her hope brighter and at last she quietly passed away from her earthly home with unwavering faith in God to that immortal home above.

"Leave all to God. Thy vision cannot scan His ways of righteousness. His depths of grace, but thou shalt know when thou shalt see His face. How full and holy His perfect plan."

She leaves to mourn, besides the loved ones mentioned above, two brothers, Jacob Mountz, of Angola, and T.J. Mountz of Hamler, Ohio; four sisters, Mrs. Jennie Ransburg, of Metz, Mrs. Hattie Oberlin, of Ashley, Mrs. Lizzie Brugh, of Licters Ford, Ind., and Mrs. Etta Mortorff, of Pleasant Lake; four grandchildren, together with many other relatives and friends.

It is natural that we fall asleep
Like tired children when the day is done,
That I would question why the living weep,
When Death has kissed the laughing lips of one.
We do not sigh where golden skies have doomed
The purple shadows and the grey of night;
Because we know the morning lies beyond
And we must wait a little while for the light.
So when grown weary withthe care and strife,
Our loved ones find in sleep the peace they craved
We should not weep but learn to count this life
A prelude to the one beyond the grave.
And thus be happy for them, not distressed,
But lift our hearts to God and smile.
And we anon, like tired ones will rest

MARY A. RICHNER, 13 July 1878 - 23 Feb 1901

BRUG14

Mary A. Richner, daughter of R. S. (Reuben Scott) and Dora (Lacey) Richner, was born in Jackson Twp. (Steuben Co., Ind.) July 13, 1878; and died after a short illness at the home of her parents in Flint, Feb. 23, 1901, aged 22 years, 7 months and 10 days. Her condition was considered dangerous only a few days before she died, and her death, coming so suddenly, has cast a gloom over the entire community. She was one of the successful teachers of the township and was teaching when she was taken sick but she continued to teach until she was unable to do so. Being a musician of more than ordinary merit, she has always taken an active part in the musical entertainments of the vicinity; and being a music teacher as well as a school teacher.

Her presence in the community will be sadly missed. Although the loss of her presence will be keenly felt by the community, it is in the home circle where it will be felt most. She improved every opportunity of doing acts of kindness for those she loved, and now that she is gone remembrance of these will linger long in the hearts of her loved ones. She leaves father, mother, brother Bennie, and sister Ina, the wife of Wm. Brugh, and a large circle of friends to mourn her departure. Funeral was conducted from the Methodist church in Flint.

Elder Scott of Coldwater, (Mich.) preached the sermon from the text, "She hath done what she could." The extraordinarily large crowd attending bespeaks the esteem in which the deceased was held. She was laid to rest in the Flint cemetery, while the earth lay mantled in robes of the beautiful.??? * * *

Hi Carolyn..So good to hear from you again and thanks for the information. I had the information about the Peter Bruch petitioning for a guardian. I am quite sure this is the Peter Bruch who was born in 1800 (it would be my mother's gggrandfather). This is the place where I have hit a snag...trying to find out just who his parents were. I finally decided to work forward from this Peter and put together the family from 1800 forward. When, and if, I ever get this much together then I will start working backward from 1800 with a little more gusto.

I had written back to the Larry Brough in Florida, explaining that Peter Bruch (born 1800) was married to Mary Ann Dell, rather than the Peter Bruch who was born in 1780. I haven't heard anything back from him as of this date. I probably have him confused with this genealogy research now, too.

I have been in contact with a few people on this Peter Bruch, born 1780, who immigrated to Canada and they have given me quite a bit of information about the Marr family. They are descendants from the Marr family. It seems that the sisters of this Peter, Barbara and Mary, were both married to Marr brothers. However, they had no information on Peter other than that he married a woman by the name of Sarah Titus in Canada and had no children. So, needless to say, I didn't get any information to connect him with the Peter, born in 1800.

Will end this letter now. Thanks again for the information. Keep in touch whenever you can. Maybe we will get this Bruch family information all together some day.

Joanne

Hi Carolyn...Do you have the names of the children of the Michael1 and Michael 2. I would like to have them, if you do. Also, b/dates and d/dates if you have these. I would like to compare the names with what I have and check them out.

I don't know of any of the ailments in the Bruch family except the diabetes. One aunt did have diabetes. However, cancer does run in this side of the Bruch family. I had 2 aunts, 2 uncles die from cancer. My mother also had it and my brother. However, my mother did not die from it and my brother is still living. My daughter just went through surgery for removal of her one breast due to cancer.She is 48 years old. Doing real well and handling the situation very well.

I am hoping that I receive some good info from the letters I wrote this AM. Maybe we will get this family tree with "full" branches yet.

Keep in touch.

Joanne

Hi Carolyn..Thanks for the info via E-mail yesterday. I have just scanned it quickly but will check it against what I have later today. Something that I find reallly strange is how the surname changes on some of them.

In doing my research, I have become "hung" up on the Peter Bruch who was born 25 Mar 1780. Someone who had done the original research on the family stated that he was the father of the Peter Bruch, Sr. who is my mother's gggrandfather. I see you have that he lived in Canada, too. The report that I was given that he moved to Canada with his brother Jacob and sisters Mary and Barbara. However, I have never been able to find the sisters in any of my research. The Barbara was, according to what I was told, married to a John Marr. The Peter Bruch, Sr., (b. 9/27/1800) had petitioned the Orphans Court at the age of 14 for a guardian. The courts appointed a Henry Ritter. This information was given to me by another person and he took this info from a court record. He and I kinda came to the conclusion that Peter (b. 1780) may have moved to Canada and left an unwed mother behind. Perhaps a daughter of this Henry Ritter who became the guardian to the Peter born in 1800. This was purely speculation on our part. Someday I hope to unravel this mystery.

Thanks again for the info. I'm hoping that we can gather more material from the letters I have written to Ms. Clinger and Mr. Brough.

Keep in touch.

LISTS OF GERMANS FROM THE PALATINATE WHO CAME TO ENGLAND IN 1709.

The following lists are copied from the original documents preserved in the British Museum Library, London, England, and should be of the greatest genealogical interest to those families in the States of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and elsewhere, which claim descent from the so-called Palatine settlers. These lists have never before been printed to the knowledge of the Editor, and it should be noted that the word "son" or "sons" and "dau." or "daus." followed by figures denote that the heads of the family had as many sons or daughters, as there are figures, and that these sons and daughters were of the respective ages denoted by the figures. The word "wife" indicates that the head of the family was married and that the wife was living. The abbreviations "Ref.," "Luth.," "Bap." and "Cath.," mean that the family belonged to the Reformed, Lutheran, Baptist or Catholic Churches.

This work identifies those persons who emigrated from the Palatine region of Germany to England in the year 1709 (most of whom continued on to America). For each of the nearly 2,000 heads of household who are named, the following information is provided: occupation, age, marital status, ages of sons and daughters, and church affiliation.

I'm sorry, I really don't have any information to speak of about the elder Michael Bruch (and not nearly enough on the younger Michael, either). There is a Bruch Family History of Northampton County, Pennsylvania and Wells and Grant Counties, Indiana by Jeffrey Bassett in the ~~Allen~~ Ft. Wayne Library, but it hasn't much info. on Michael. Your email is the first time I have seen a last name for Maria Elizabeth.

In Pennsylvania Births Lehigh County 1734-1800 by John T. Humphrey I ~~have~~ find Petrina ~~being baptized~~ baptismal record in South Whitehall Twp, Lehigh Co., Jordan Reformed Congregation and another daughter, Maria Barbara, ~~born 1782~~ baptized 2/8/1782 in Zion Reformed Church, Allentown, Lehigh Co.

Your message was truncated at the paragraph about Peter. I remember seeing something earlier about a Peter Bruch or Brook that moved to Canada. Is this the same one?

The younger Michael and ~~sons~~ family ~~all~~ moved to Columbiana Co, then Seneca Co in Ohio. From there, most of them, incl. Michael, went to Fulton Co, Indiana, but sons

George & William settled in Steuben Co., where I now live. George died fairly young, and William & his family moved to Fulton Co., ~~so our branch~~ ~~didn't get much branch family history~~. George's son, William, moved to Traverse City, Michigan, so there wasn't any visiting back & forth with the Fulton Co. relatives.

Hi Carolyn,

Somewhere I saw your post regarding the Bruch family of I believe Northumberland co., Pa. I too am descended from the Bruch family in that area. My 3 grgrandfather was Peter Bruch Sr. born 27 Sept. 1800 died 20 July 1882. married Mary Dell born 11 April 1800 died 23 April 1885 buried in the Turbotville cemetary. Mary was the dau of Ephraim Dell and wife Catherine. Peter Bruch Sr. was by occupation a carpenter.

I believe Peter's father was Michael Bruch of Northampton co., Pa. I am sure his family came to Northumberland Co. from Northampton Co., Pa. I also believe Michael Bruch's father was Matthias Bruch born Feb. 1709 died May 1797. Married Anna Barbara. I have most of their children.

Are you of this family? Let me know.

Hope to hear from You,
Pat Uffenorde (Issaquah, Wa.)

Hi Carolyn--Sorry about that message I had sent you. I had made an error in your E-mail address and it came back to me. I thought the whole message was there so I forwarded it on to you. My mistake.

Anyhow, the Peter I was talking about I do have as being born in 1780 and being christened on 3/25/1780 in Jordan Reformed Church in Lehigh, PA. This was also the birth date that I had for me so I was sorta pondering the idea that maybe he didn't live beyond his birth date. So I am not sure about him. Some sources have said that this Peter may have moved to Canada with two sisters, namely Mary and Barbara, which I have not been about to document as of this date. The name of Mumbauer I believe I found in the LDS research web site. As I stated before, I am not sure as to the accuracy of any of the information. I have had contacts with many people and some of the information is so conflicting. Also, the same sources have told me that the elder Michael moved to Ohio so this conflicts with what you have.

I did have some contact with a J.N. Bassett. I am wondering if this is the Jeffrey Bassett you mentioned. I will have to check through his material and see what I can find.

My mother's gggrandfather was Peter Bruch who was born 9/27/1800 in Northampton Co., PA and died 7/20/1882. Her ggrandfather was Peter Bruch who was born 9/27/1826 in Easton, Bethel Twp., Northampton Co., PA and died October 15, 1911 in Milton, PA.

I would appreciate any info you have on the Bruch family. It is good to check out all sources when doing this research.

I have not yet found a connection between Matthias and Hermanus but perhaps there is one somewhere. Another topic to research.

Please keep in touch and maybe we can tie up some loose ends on this Bruch family.

Sincerely,

Joanne rae@salisbury.net

Years later a newspaper article on Elizabeth mentioned that her husband was from Northampton Co., PA.

What my cousins and I would like to find is information either linking Barbara and Mary to the family or anything that would definitely disprove the relationship. We have the circumstantial evidence cited above, plus Jacob BROOKS named two of his daughters Barbara and Mary Jane which at least suggests that there might have been a Barbara and a Mary among his close relatives. Any help or clues would be greatly appreciated.

Hello, In reply to the research in Easton,

The Marx Room is a good source for data - I would definately recommend it. It contains information on Monroe, Lehigh, Buck and other coounties. There are plenty of motels in Easton and in Palmer township which is next door to the west on Rt 22. Widows Brown is closed but if you go up to Belfast, there is Hartman's II which is a good place.

Also, another place to possible research is the Northampton County Archives which is adjacent to the Courthouse - I would recommend viewing what you can in the Marx room first, then the courthouse and then ask the clerks what the Archives might have pertaining to what you are researching.

Good Luck - Mark

Hi, Carolyn.. I have very few clues beyond what I posted for the roll call - a cousin, Stephen Wood, thinks that Michael Brug may have had at least two more daughters (there are more children in the 1790 census than can be accounted for by the baptisms he's found so far) than the records show. Does George mention in what year the family first moved to Ohio? He would have been around 15 or 16 in the year 1800 when we think that Barbara followed her husband to Canada with their infant son. She was probably married at least a year earlier. To this point, we haven't been able to find any real connection other than the names of the brothers who also went to Canada, Peter and Jacob, the latter at least being a son of Michael. I'm still trying to obtain more information from Canada, but the inter-library loans from there are dismally slow (6 months and counting). If I run across anything else, I'll send it along. Thanks for the response.

Hi Carolyn,

Yes, we are out of the same Bruch line. Do you have any info on John matthias Bruch (bauch)born 14 feb. 1709 in Germany died 30 may 1797? I have 6 of his children and 2 of their spouses. Info taken from the Baptismal rec. of Lutheran church- Northampton Co., Pa. vol.18 Pa. german Society as the source.

Then I have his son Michael bruch born 1745 confirmed 1757 married Maria Elizabeth. I have their 7 children inc. a George Wendel born 13 Sept.1784 or 1785. I am out of the son Peter bruch .You are I gather out of his bros. george. Michael is my 5 gr grandfather.

If you do not already have this information I can send it to you if you like. Just let me know.

TTYL,
Pat Uffenorde (we moved here to Wa. from Italy because my husband got a job with Boeing. We love it here!

PENNSYLVANIA GRAVE STONES

Northampton County

For People Born Before 1800

Why these pages?

John T. Humphrey

Larjon & Company, Inc.
Washington, D. C.

He died on 31 July 1816 and he was buried by Rev. Pomp on August 2, 1816. His remains were buried the second time on October 4, 1855.

Given the problems caused by dates of burial found in Easton Cemetery Company records, information from those records was included here, only when a corresponding grave stone was located in Easton Cemetery or some evidence of a prior death and burial was located. As the first graves in Easton Cemtery were dug in 1849 any family historian using the Easton Cemetery Company records can almost assume an ancestor found in those records who died before 1849 was initially buried in another location and the remains were buried a second time in Easton Cemetery.

Several additional elements of critical concern to family historians using this text must be considered:

First, information in this publication was limited to individuals, born before 1800, who died and were buried in Northampton County. The boundaries of this county have changed several times since it was established in 1752, but the cemetery and burial records used for this compilation are those records and grave stones as found in Northampton County as they exist in the year 2000. Second, this book is not offered under the pretense of being a "complete" record of burials and grave stones in Northampton County for residents born before 1800. While a diligent effort was made to find information on every possible grave stone or burial record undoubtedly some were missed. Third, the claim this compendium is error free cannot be made either. Many grave stones have deteriorated meaning inscriptions in many instances are open to intrepretation. In other cases tombstones are no longer extant. In the case of the Dryland Cemetery, where as noted ALL the old grave stones were removed, the only extant information on that cemetery are the transcriptions of grave stones that were made earlier in the twentieth-century. And the same is true of other now missing grave stones, but there are no guarantees the manuscripts used for this compendium are error free. Lastly researchers working on early Northampton County families need to realize many early Northampton County settlers were not buried in a cemetery but rather on the family farm and while we may have evidence of burial in a private setting, the grave stones no longer exist.

Dear Carolyn,

I wanted to write a note to thank you so very much for the information on George Brugh and especially for the photo of Michel's gravestone.

I did not have any information on George except that he married a Clemmons girl (his brother Francis, married one too) and that he purchased property in Sandusky County, Ohio in 1835. I think the purchase may have been purchased from Simon.

I have finished (it will never be done) a family chart and had only a few copies made. It got quite large and eventually the computer did not want to take more information. The chart contains 1025 names - 672 bloodline Brugh's and the rest are spouses.The chart measured 18 inches by 41 feet.

All of that is at best half of what a complete chart would produce. At any rate, that phase is done until a future Brugh takes over.

I am going to start a book of sorts now. Somewhat biographical," it will be mostly Simon's line but now that I know about the Indiana Brugh's,will include as many as I can. Right now, I am in the origianization stage.

I am sorry that you do not want your children and grandchildren listed. I respect your wishes but they don't know what they are missing. I have uncovered several differences of opinions throughout the family, it happens.

When I get a draft of a page that I am making up for the book, I will send it to you and if you want to contribute in that fashion, I am sure that I can fit it in.

Thanks again for the great information.

A cousin (but don't ask how many times removed)

Larry
